A. F. OF L. VOTES CONDEMNATION OF RACKETEERS

Will Let Each Union Handle Problem.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., Nov. 26.—The American Federation of Labor today adopted a report deploring racketeering in union ranks, but set up no machinery to end it.

The resolutions committee brushed aside the demand of David Dubinsky, head of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, that the federation executive council be given summary power to dismiss officials found guilty of moral turpitude or swindling their members.

Instead the committee urged: [1] that all national and international affiliated unions be advised to adopt rules or constitutional amendments, if needed, to guarantee adequate discipline for their own erring officers; and [2] that the federation's executive council, in the event the affiliated union fails to perform this duty, "be authorized to apply all its influence to secure such action as will correct this situation."

Reviews Limitations.

The committee outlined the reasons why it could go no further than the use of moral force. It said the federation is composed of self-governing affiliates, and that they have the right to elect their own officers and control their conduct. It held that the discipline of officers was the obligation of these subsidiaries.

William L. McFetridge, president of the Building Service Employés' International—formerly controled by the notorious George Scalise—would have liked a stronger stand to protect other unions from the experiences of his own, but said he was satisfied nothing more could have been done by the federation.

The resolutions committee stuck in a sentence stating that its recommendations "must not be construed as preventing any person from rehabilitating himself." No explanation was given, but this presumably would mean that the past life of a character like Willie Bioff shouldn't be brought up to plague him.

Jail Term Completed.

Bioff, a convicted pander, recently completed a jail term in Chicago and went back to the west coast as representative of George E. Browne, head of the Theatrical Stage Hands and Moving Picture Operators International. Browne is a member of the federation's executive council and is slated for reëlection.

The convention delegates, who argued many other points during the day, raised no controversy over this report. Its adoption came after William Green, president of the federation, challenged any one to point out an instance of gangsterism in the A. F. of L.

"National unions are autonomous," he added, "and we never will assume dictatorial powers over them. Many of the charges that are made against them are untrue and unjustifiable, but we appeal to them to keep the labor movement clean and deal vigorously with racketeering as soon as it appears."

Assail Reds and Old NLRB.

Earlier in the day, communists and the National Labor Relations board, as recently constituted, were targets of a double barreled attack on the convention floor.

The convention approved a resolution asking that the name of the communist party be kept off the American ballot.

In discussing the National Labor Relations board the committee declared the former membership was biased and prejudiced against the federation and expressed pleasure at the appointments of Dr. William Leiserson and Dr. Harry A. Millis to the body.

SHALL U. S. SHARE RULE OF ICELAND? ENGLAND SILENT

LONDON, Nov. 26 (AP).—The government was asked in the house of commons today whether it would consider sharing the occupation of Iceland with the United States or turning the job over to the United States altogether to reduce expenditure and free British troops for other jobs. War Secretary Anthony Eden avoided giving a reply. Iceland, linked to Denmark by allegiance to the same royal house, was occupied by British forces soon after Germany occupied Denmark. [The occupying force now is almost entirely Canadian.]

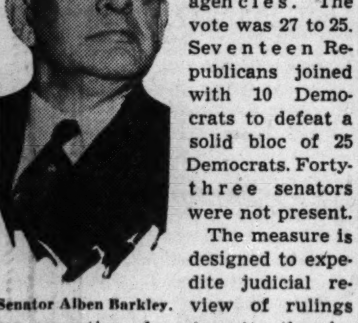
BILL PROVIDES COURT REVIEW OF ALL ORDERS

Expect Roosevelt to Veto Measure.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Senator Alben Barkley.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—With nearly half the membership absent, the senate today passed the Walter-Logan bill to curb the powers of government agencies. The vote was 27 to 25. Seventeen Republicans joined with 10 Democrats to defeat a solid bloc of 25 Democrats. Forty-three senators were not present.

The measure is designed to expedite judicial review of rulings by executive departments, thereby stemming the growth of New Deal totalitarianism. It faces a veto by President Roosevent when it reaches the White House after the house accepts senate amendments to the legislation. The house passed the measure last spring.

Whether a two-thirds majority of the two houses can be mustered to override a Presidential veto remained in doubt.

Illinois Senators Divide.

Illinois' two senators were divided in the voting. C. Wayland Brooks, Republican, casting his first senate ballot, was for the measure. His Democratic colleague, Scott Lucas, cast a dissenting vote.

The senate had expected to debate the bill for many days. Democratic Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky established a new record for fumbling leadership by suddenly suggesting a vote under the impression that he had the necessary votes to defeat passage.

Sponsors of the measure immediately accepted the challenge. Cries of "Vote! Vote!" filled the chamber when Barkley announced that opponents were prepared for a ballot. Senator Alva B. Adams [D., Col.], one of the measure's critics, said he was amazed at the demand for an immediate vote. The senate had had no opportunity to understand the measure, he said.

"I am convinced," replied Barkley, "that the more you discuss this bill the less you understand about it."

Confusion Marks Voting.

The voting immediately proceeded amidst confusion. One of the measure's leading proponents, Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.], was absent preparing a lengthy speech of explanation on the bill and his vote was not recorded.

The bill now goes to a conference with the house. That body will accept senate amendments, Chairman Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.] of the house judiciary committee predicted. The bill then goes to the White house. The President is expected to register his opposition to the legislation on the ground that it will hamper the efficient functioning of government agencies.

Discussion of the bill virtually was limited to Senator Barkley, who told of opposition to its provisions by James M. Landis, former chairman of the Security and Exchange commission and now dean of the Harvard law school.

Report Tells of Study.

The senate judiciary committee report on the bill stated that it was doubtful if any legislation proposed in the last century had been given more careful and extended study.

"The object has been to leave the administrative agencies as free as possible to function consistent with the supremacy of the law and to provide only such judicial review as is necessary to insure both the supremacy of the law and substantial justice in controversies between the United States and individuals," the report stated.

The United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia is given jurisdiction upon petitions filed by any person "substantially interested in the effects of any administrative rule" to determine whether a government agency regulation is in conflict with the constitution.

After the vote Barkley announced that the senate calendar was now cleared of all important legislation.

Railroad Raps Edict to Rehire Tipsy Engineer

In February, 1939, the Pennsylvania railroad discharged a locomotive engineer for drunkenness. Members of his own crew reported that he was so intoxicated he was unfit to run his engine. He had been dismissed twice before for violating railroad regulations and had been reinstated by the Pennsylvania both times.

Yesterday the railroad complained against a ruling by the National Railroad Adjustment board ordering the Pennsylvania to reinstate the engineer again and to give him back pay for 21 months, an amount exceeding $5,000. Pennsylvania officials asserted the board based its criticism of the railroad's trial of the engineer on an incidental point that had nothing to do with the merits of the case.

Date of Order Made Point.

The point criticized was that the railroad dated its dismissal order Feb. 2, 1939—five days after the drunkenness episode—but did not issue the order until Feb. 21. The national board chose to assume, the road said in an official statement issued yesterday, that the road had made up its mind to discharge the engineer before it completed its investigations in the matter.

The board consists of five railroad representatives and five representatives of the engine and train service brotherhoods.

The board was deadlocked after the recent hearing in Chicago, the railroad representatives ruling against the engineer. A referee, whose name has not been disclosed, was called in and decided for the engineer.

The ruling has placed the railroad in a dilemma. Part of the Pennsylvania right of way over which the engineer is entitled to run [an engineer must meet state and divisional qualifications thruout his route] lies in a state with a law making it a penal offense for a railroad to knowingly retain an engineer after he has been intoxicated while in charge of a locomotive. There is a $200 penalty for each day's violation of the law.

Testimony of Crew Cited.

The Pennsylvania's official statement said the adjustment board decided the case on a technicality [the dating of the dismissal order] despite testimony of the train crew and a doctor that the engineer was intoxicated and despite the man's unsatisfactory record and his own prior remark that any failure to obey the rules would be enough cause for his dismissal.

"By ordering that the dismissed engine man be restored to his position," the railroad, in its statement, said, "the board exposes the traveling public to hazards and dangers universally admitted to follow from permitting operation of locomotives by enginemen known to have been guilty of drunken driving.

"Drunken driving, altho universally condemned on highways and airways, is apparently to be condoned on railways."

NORWAY MOUNTAINS SLIDE AT SAME TIME; SABOTAGE SUGGESTED

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 26.—Hills and mountains of western Norway began to slide at the same hour last night and there were indications that the landslides might prove to be one of the greatest acts of sabotage in recent years.

The Oslo-Bergen railway was disrupted in 10 places. The Riks highway, along Hardanger Fjord and Eidsfjord, also was badly damaged. It was suggested that recent rains and a slight snowfall melted the ground sufficiently to make the mountains slide if jarred by explosions of small charges of dynamite.

An indication that the landslides were a deliberate attempt by patriotic Norwegians to disrupt communications was seen in the fact that several persons were arrested by Norwegian police and German troops. German troops in the region, where a state of siege was proclaimed, were put on a war footing and reënforcements were dispatched from Oslo. All undamaged roads are being patroled by Nazi troops and police are stopping and searching automobiles and persons.

Leaking Ship Flashes S O S; Gale Raging

Thomaston, Me., Nov. 26 (AP).—Three vessels reported today they were in the vicinity of the Greek steamer Eugena Cambanis, in distress 750 miles southwest of Cape Race, Newfoundland, in a gale.

The Norwegian ship Toledo said in a message picked up by Mackay Radio that it was proceeding to the assistance of the Cambanis, which at 2:32 p. m. sent an S O S saying it was shipping water and that its engines would "stop very soon." A fierce north Atlantic gale was raging.

The other two ships were the Wisla, a Polish craft, and the Urla, of British registry.

Speed Cut to 2 Knots.

The Wisla, only 20 miles away, reported the weather was so bad that steering difficulties would prevent her from going to the Cambanis' assistance unless the gale moderated.

The Urla radioed she was going to the assistance of the Cambanis and said:

"Now working by radio with Greek steamer Eugena Cambanis. Going to assistance of Greek. Urla making two knots speed in bad storm. The Greek is still afloat and leaking badly."

Boilers 'Uncontrolable.'

The Cambanis message indicated her engines were about to be dismantled by water which was filling the ship. The call said:

"Fore boilers and stoke holes . . . are uncontrolable. Trouble other parts of ship. Full of water. Engine will stop very soon. Gale storm."

The position given by the ship was latitude 45.45 north, longitude 50.20 west.

Lloyd's register listed a Eugena Cambanis of 3,517 tons and built in 1898.

Vessel Reported Afire.

Boston, Nov. 26 (AP).—The coast guard and Tropical radio stations picked up fragmentary distress calls today from the Greek steamer Eugena Cambanis, indicating the vessel was afire in a gale in Newfoundland waters.

Accuse Youths of Threats on Mrs. McLean

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 26 [Special].—Federal Bureau of Investigation agents in Atlanta tonight announced they are holding two suspects in connection with a purported plot to extort $200,000 from Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, Washington society leader and owner of the famous Hope diamond.

Mrs. Evalyn McLean wearing Hope diamond.

The authorities declined to discuss details of a threatening letter to Mrs. McLean, but admitted it contained a demand for $200,000.

Two youths, who gave their names as Donald Angel, 19 years old, and Everett Wilson, alias Everett Haworth, 21, are being held in the Gainesville, Ga., jail, while handwriting experts for the F. B. I. in Washington check samples of their writing. They denied any part in the plot against Mrs. McLean.

Seized by Highway Patrol.

F. B. I. agents revealed the youths were detained Saturday night in Lavonia, Ga., by Sergt. A. L. Bagley of the state highway patrol, who called two F. B. I. agents from the Atlanta field office. The F. B. I. had informed the highway patrol that Angel and Wilson were traveling with a used car convoy from Ohio to a town in northern Georgia and could be traced thru a Kansas license plate on one of the cars.

The two were taken to state patrol barracks in Toccoa for questioning, photographing, and finger printing, and were transferred Sunday morning to the Hall county jail in Gainesville. Two F. B. I. agents were said to have questioned the youths for four hours Sunday.

Today Wilson and Angel stuck to their stories of innocence and blamed their detention on a pair of Kansas license plates on Wilson's car.

Deny Knowing of Note.

The youths insisted they knew nothing about the note, which federal agents said directed Mrs. McLean or her agent to hand over the money to a man who would be sitting in an automobile bearing Kansas license plates near Jackson, O.

"My car was the only one around Jackson with Kansas plates, so they think it's us," Wilson said.

Several years ago Mrs. McLean figured in the sensational kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby. She paid the late Gaston B. Means more than $100,000 after he led her to believe he could return the child to its parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh. Means was sentenced for theft of the money. He died later in prison.

U. S. LACKS AIR ENGINES; GETS BRITISH 'LOAN'

Shortage Admitted by Stimson.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—With the British pressing demands for more planes and other war supplies, the plight of American production facilities was emphasized today as President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson ruled against expansion of commercial aviation.

At his press conference this afternoon Mr. Roosevelt reiterated an earlier statement by Stimson that commercial aviation must not be allowed to expand beyond its 1940 operating basis.

The commercial aviation program must not be allowed to detract from the military program, which must come first, the President said. He added significantly that he did not want to invoke a priority ruling, which would make preference of government orders mandatory.

Admits Engine Shortage.

Stimson admitted at his press conference that there is a serious shortage of engines, which has kept big bombers, such as the "flying fortresses," grounded. Two weeks ago the army air corps and other defense officials denied to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE that there was any critical shortage of motors or that all was not going well in the airplane engine industry.

These denials were made despite a picture showing a line of flying fortresses at Seattle, Wash., completion of which was delayed by lack of engines.

Just last week the war department announced that 46 big bombers would be released to the British, with 26 to be taken off the assembly lines where they are under construction for the army air corps.

Lack of Coöperation Charged.

Stimson complained that the air lines were not coöperating in the program of limitation, and said that they are planning a 100 per cent expansion of their large transport planes by 1942 from factories now lagging on defense orders. The priorities board of the National Defense Advisory commission already has the situation under study, Stimson said.

"With the army and the navy far below their requirements in combat planes and with the British need for American built planes growing more serious with every month," Stimson said, "the army and the navy believe that it is incompatible with national defense to have a part of the nation's productive capacity taken up with an attempted expansion of civilian business.

"At the present time bombers for the army are grounded for lack of engines, and to equip those bombers we have been obliged to borrow back engines ordered by the British in their dire need. At that very time equivalent engines were steadily going into planes made to expand the service furnished by the commercial air lines.

"Which is more vital to the nation right now—increased naval and military strength in the air or increased business for the commercial air lines? That is the real issue before us."

Get Engineless Planes.

The war secretary, who has been a consistent sponsor of more aid for Britain, said the army is now accepting deliveries of flying fortresses, the largest bombing planes, from the Boeing Aircraft corporation without engines.

"We had to get back engines from England in order to get some of our big four engined bombers off the ground," Stimson continued. Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, said last week that one of the conditions of the transfer of bombers to Britain was the delivery of sufficient motors from the English to equip 41 flying fortresses.

Stimson specifically mentioned the Douglas Aircraft company in criticizing the commercial aviation program. He claimed that Douglas was delivering 12 commercial transport planes per month, but was far behind in delivery of 186 dive bombers ordered in the spring of 1939. He then asserted that several manufacturers had declined to coöperate.

CHURCHILL BARS MOVE FOR TRUCE OVER CHRISTMAS

Government's War Effort Criticized in Commons.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 26.—A suggestion that the government seek a Christmas armistice was voiced in the house of commons today in a debate on King George VI.'s speech. Criticism of the government's war effort also was heard.

Randolph Churchill.

Thomas Naylor, Laborite, asked Prime Minister Winston Churchill whether he would invoke the good offices of the vatican or some other neutral state to further a proposal that the belligerent nations agree to a cessation of hostilities for 48 hours from noon of the day before Christmas.

"No, sir," Churchill replied.

Churchill Makes His "No" Plain.

"In the event of such a proposal being received from some neutral state, will Mr. Churchill give assurance that it will receive consideration?" Naylor persisted.

"I should say it would be rejected by the government," was Churchill's answer.

The prime minister made his comment just before the house heard the maiden speech of Randolph Churchill, his son, an army officer, who recently was elected as a Conservative. Randolph Churchill warned against taking the war offensive without thoro preparation, and supported the prime minister's opposition to the making of a statement of war aims.

The war effort was criticized by R. J. Davies, Laborite, who said:

"The present coalition is no more successful than its predecessor in conducting the war. It has failed in act more than its predecessor."

Hints Much Dissatisfaction.

"If free speech were allowed the government would be astonished at the criticism there would be. Nothing shows the futility of war more than the communiques both sides are issuing every day. No intelligent man in Europe believes a sentence of this propaganda stuff. If the present terror at night continues, one man will win the war and it will be Stalin [Dictator Josef Stalin of Russia], and he will win without firing a shot."

Maj. Clement R. Attlee, deputy leader of the house and a member of Davies' party, replied: "If Davies wants freedom for the people of this country and Europe, he will have to make up his mind to pay a price for it."

CREED TO SPREAD OVER ALL WORLD, NAZIS ARE TOLD

Berlin, Rome Justice Chiefs Confer.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—Nazi Germany's commissar for justice, Hans Frank, and Fascist Italy's minister of justice, Count Dino Grandi, presented a picture of perfect agreement and mutual admiration when they addressed the foreign press in Berlin this afternoon. Frank, who knows Germany's penal law and justice and governs former Poland, and Italy's former ambassador to England, Grandi, assured listeners that their political creed would spread beyond the actual lebensraum [living space] of their countries.

Hans Frank [top] and Dino Grandi.

Until a few months ago both Italy and Germany gave the assurance that Naziism and Fascism were not for export.

See "Benefit" For Others.

Both agreed today that their political creed would spell happiness for other countries. Grandi added that the creed of the new revolution was not only for Europe but for the whole world. They also agreed that the French revolution, which had been fought for the rights of the individual, was being replaced by their revolution, by which the rights of the community supersede those of the individual.

Frank coined the phrase that the new community of Europe was to be composed of "free nations." Naturally, too, these "free nations" are expected to adopt the new political creed. Frank stated that under his rule "the Polish general government would become an integral part of the new order."

England Pictured as a Jailer.

He added that European nations had been "the slaves of England, which stood like a jailer at the entrances gates of Europe."

Grandi came to Germany to attend the meeting of the Nazi Academy of Right, a body founded by Frank to prepare the new Nazi legislation. He said he had been deeply impressed by the German Association of Legal Experts, in which Frank has united Germany's hundreds of thousands of lawyers, judges, and all those dealing with legal code.

MARSEILLES RAID BY BRITISH STIRS FIRE IN FRANCE

Press and Public Angry, Deny Chance of Error.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Nov. 26. — The bombardment of Marseilles by English flyers Saturday night appears to be full of possible developments. An angry outburst appears belatedly today in the French press. This is significant because it comes three days after the raid.

French authorities today said there was no doubt that the planes were British and it is stressed that 20 bombs were dropped by several planes, indicating there is no question of the flyers' having lost their direction.

The press tonight declared that with modern instruments it is practically impossible to mistake Marseilles for Genoa, Italy.

Public Becoming Indignant.

The conclusion of the foreign ministry therefore—now under the direction of Vice Premier Pierre Laval—seems to be that the attack was deliberate and aimed at political objectives. What the response will be is uncertain. Popular opinion is rising indignantly and associates the Marseilles attack to the Mers-El-Kebir, Dakar, and Libreville attacks by the British against their former French allies.

Funerals for the victims of the English bombardment, four women, including one 97 years old, will be held tomorrow.

Meanwhile, the Petain government was without a response to its sharp demand for reparations and apologies from London, which the Spanish ambassador, Jose Felix Lequerica, transmitted to Sir Samuel Hoare, British ambassador to Spain, in Madrid. Some delay may elapse before an answer comes, as usually pleas for time to investigate are made.

Deny Nazis Use Marseilles.

But from what appears here the incident is not closed. French government circles deny the Germans are using the port of Marseilles in the struggle against England. Satisfactory apologies are expected here. As reprisals for the Mers-El-Kebir attack, the French bombarded Gibraltar severely. Serious views are taken of the fact that the English, after bombing French colonies, now are bombing France.

2 DAMAGED WARSHIPS CAN BE REPAIRED IN 3-4 WEEKS, ITALY SAYS

ROME, Nov. 26 (AP)—The newspaper Il Giornale d'Italia said today that two of three Italian warships damaged by torpedoes in a British air raid on the Taranto naval base on Nov. 11 would be repaired within three or four weeks.

Virginio Gayda, the editor, said British reports of photographs showing damage to the ships confirmed that only one was put out of action for a long time, as Premier Mussolini declared in his speech on Nov. 18.

Without giving details, Gayda asserted that Italy had considerably increased her naval force since the beginning of the war.

GREEK BAYONETS SCATTER 'CHOICE ROMAN SOLDIERS'

New Italian Troops Thrust Back in Albania.

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 26 (AP).—Bayonet thrusting Greeks were declared today to have scattered fresh Italian troops—"a choice regiment of Romans," the Greeks called them—thrown into action in a desperate attempt to bolster the center of the sagging Albanian battle line. The Greeks said they were victorious in a four hour hand to hand battle.

There was no stopping their forces here or anywhere else along the rambling, mountainous front, the Greeks reported.

Push Beyond Stronghold.

In the north, they said, Greek fighters pushed steadily beyond Pogradetz, Italian stronghold 30 miles inside Albania, and in the south they engaged tattered Italians battling fiercely to hold Argyrokastron, the second and last major Fascist "invasion" base, and keep open their path to the Adriatic sea.

The Greek high command's communique said that in the Koritza area six abandoned Italian planes, "among other material," had fallen to the Greeks.

A government spokesman declared that the fleeing troops were abandoning nearly all their vehicles. He added that on the bank of a lake near Koritza the Italians had buried "important quantities" of munitions and other materials which had been dug up by the Greeks.

Confirms Landing of Troops.

He confirmed reports that Greek forces had been landed on the Albanian coast opposite Corfu and denied Italian claims that they were annihilated or captured.

[Authoritative military circles in London reported some Greek units had got beyond the Greek town of Philiataes, near the Albanian border on the coast, and others, landed from ships, had severed Italian communications from the rear. The Greeks themselves have reported the capture of Konispolis, Albanian town just north of Philiataes.]

Advices reaching Salonika from various parts of the front indicated all Italian units were seeking to turn toward the Adriatic in their retreat. [Here 31 words were censored.]

Two Roads to Adriatic.

The Italians were reported to have only two main roads to the Adriatic, one leading north from Argyrokastron and the other running west from the Jugo-Slav border.

Both these routes and feeder roads were said to be crowded with troops and motor equipment, under continual bombing and machine gunning from British and Greek planes.

The RAF command reported British planes yesterday attacked and scattered Italian motor, pack mule, and infantry columns in the Elbasani district, barely 20 miles from Tirana, Albanian capital, and bombed military stores at Argyrokastron.

An entire infantry column was declared to have been "thrown into confusion," and the British communique said many casualties were believed to have been inflicted. Many mules were killed, it said, and the rest stampeded.

Italy Reports Successes.

ROME, Nov. 26 (AP).—The Italian high command today reported successes today against Greek landing forces on the Epirus coast.

Greek troops "which disembarked on the Epirus coast were in part destroyed and in part captured with their arms," the high command's communique said.

Epirus lies in both southern Albania and Greece. The communique did not specify where the landing was made.

The high command said Italian forces "carried out numerous attacks on the entire [Greek] zone of operations in close coöperation with land forces."

Fascist flyers "repeatedly" bombed the forts of the island of Corfu, the Italian command said, causing "violent fires and explosions." Two British planes were reported shot down by Italian chasers, when they attacked Durazzo, Albanian port.

The Italians said several buildings—only one of military importance—were damaged in raids by British or Greek planes on the islands of Leros and Stampalia in the Dodecanese and five raiders were shot down in flames.

INDO-CHINA HOLDS AIDS AS TRAITORS, JAPANESE REPORT

Claim Arrests Follow Staff Shakeup.

SHANGHAI, China, Nov. 26 (AP).—A Domei [Japanese news agency] dispatch from Hanoi, French Indo-China, today said Rene Cazeaux, chief of the Indo-Chinese financial administration, had been "arrested on suspicion of treason."

Bernard Fontan, assistant financial administrator, also was arrested on the same charge, the dispatch said.

The reported arrests followed a shakeup in the ranks of colonial officials by Gov. Gen. Jean Decoux, acting on orders from the Vichy government. Reasons for the changes were not given, but it was believed they probably were connected with the recent growth of the "free French" forces of Gen. Charles de Gaulle at Saigon.

Ousted Aids Ordered to France.

Rene Veber, governor of Cochin-China; Henri Wintrebert, inspector general, and Andrew Touzet, resident superior of Laos province, were dismissed and ordered to return to France.

[In Vichy, a colonial ministry spokesman said Decoux relieved "a certain number of civil servants" of their posts solely because they had reached the retirement age and some others were involved in "routine transfers." He formally denied Japanese reports that the officials were suspected of De Gaullist sympathies and that arrests had been made.]

Japanese military authorities today reported a slashing Japanese offensive northwest of Hankow, more than 600 miles in the interior of China, had 30,000 Chinese troops on the run along both banks of the Han river.

Report No Peace Contemplated.

HONGKONG, Nov. 26 (AP).—Russia has sounded out the Chunking Chinese government recently on whether peace with Japan is contemplated and has been given positive assurances to the contrary, it was learned reliably tonight.

Chinese sources said they believed Greek successes against Italy must have had a restraining effect upon any Japanese ambitions which would provoke war with Britain.

They said Japan's intention to formally recognize the Nanking régime of Wang Ching-wei soon would have no effect upon Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's prosecution of the war. Gen. Nobuyuki Abe, Japanese ambassador to Nanking, arrived in Nanking today to prepare for the recognition Nov. 30.

Japanese Accuse Americans.

New York, Nov. 26 (AP).—The Tokio radio today broadcast the following Domei [Japanese news agency] dispatch:

"It is reported from Hanoi [French Indo-China] that Japanese authorities considered it a proven fact that United States citizens assisted the Chiang Kai-shek government from French Indo-China under the pretext of safeguarding American interests.

"United States citizens in Indo-China will be closely watched, therefore, by Japanese authorities there. The possibility existed that the anti-Japanese and anti-French attitude of these United States citizens might lead to very drastic measures in order to prevent further activity of this nature."

KING GEORGE BREAKS TRADITION, BECOMES MEMBER OF A UNION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Traditions were broken today when King George VI. became a member of the British Trades Union congress. His enrollment in organized labor followed an open air meeting in the inner quadrangle of Buckingham palace, attended by both the king and Queen Elizabeth.

After presenting the king with a special gold badge, George Gibson, trades union congress chairman, informed the king that it would be an "open sesame" should he ever wish to visit T. U. C. headquarters.

"Would it really get me in?" the king asked, while the queen said, "Where do you wear it?"

The occasion for the meeting was an inspection by the king and queen of 48 mobile canteens which the trades union had provided for the fighting forces.

Food Minister Refuses to Set Turkey Prices

LONDON, Nov. 26 (AP).—Food Minister Lord Woolton today said: "It's not my business to control luxuries" and declined to take a regulatory interest in the prices of turkey and caviar.

ENGLAND OFFERS TO GUARD BULGAR SOIL AND LIBERTY

Woos Sofia; Wants Her to Stay Out of War.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Intensive diplomatic activity by the British foreign office to forestall Adolf Hitler's efforts to create a solid anti-British bloc on the European continent was disclosed again today.

Richard A. Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, told the house of commons the British government has offered Bulgaria a guarantee of her territorial integrity and independence as a price for real neutrality in the war. Butler's statement followed an announcement of a similar proposal made to Russia, a reply to which is still awaited.

"Lord Halifax [British foreign secretary]," Butler said, "welcomes the opportunity of stating that, provided Bulgaria does not join or assist, either actively or passively, the enemies of Britain or attacks her allies, it is the intention of the government to do the utmost to insure that in an eventual peace settlement to which Britain will be a party the integrity and independence of Bulgaria will be fully respected."

Bulgaria Takes New Heart.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 26 (AP).—Bulgaria, having won the first round of her struggle to remain outside the axis orbit, took new heart tonight from the diplomatic activity of a visiting soviet foreign office official and from Britain's promise to respect her integrity if she continues nonassistance of Britain's enemies.

Indicative of the new optimism was a remark by War Minister Gen. Theodossy Daskaloff that Bulgaria has seldom been "in such a favorable position and with so many friends as now."

"He said the country now had "no reason for alarm" and that he was going to order termination of the nightly blackouts tomorrow.

Nazis to Stay Out—Rome.

ROME, Nov. 26 (AP).—Well informed sources in Rome said today Germany was leaving the fight against Greece entirely up to Premier Mussolini's Italian legions, with no intention of intervening there to help her southern axis partner.

The same sources also scouted rumors here that the Nazis were preparing to take military action against Turkey.

Germany is only attempting thru diplomatic activity to keep Turkey from entering the war on the side of her neighbor, Greece, an informant said.

As evidence, he said, there is no German military movement in the Balkans and only a few Nazi troops are in Rumania and none in Bulgaria.

FINNS INCENSED AT 'WILD WEST' ROAD ROBBERIES

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 26.—Military force is demanded by the Finnish newspapers to stop the "wildwest romantics" now blooming in Finland's "Alaska." The demand was voiced by the Ilta Sanomat after disclosure by the district attorney of Lapland that since the beginning of the year no less than 796 robberies have taken place on the Rovaniemi-Liinahamari stretch of the Rovaniemi-Petsamo arctic highway.

Armed robbers are stopping trucks and forcing the drivers to hand over part of their loads, especially coffee which is now scarce in Finland. In many cases the district attorney reported the truck drivers have become accomplices of the criminals.

Because the Petsamo-Rovaniemi highway is 330 miles long, effective police surveillance is difficult and it might be necessary to use the army to halt the "crime wave."

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 26 (AP).—Songstress Julie Gibson won a divorce today from Band Leader Jimmie Grier.

She told the judge: "I worked with the band and we were in the public eye a lot and when he would have a temper spell he would have it in front of the people, the band and everybody—and I didn't feel very happy about it."

They were married in April, 1939, in Tucson, Ariz.

DUTCH STUDENTS STRIKE; GERMANS SHUT UNIVERSITY

AMSTERDAM [via Berlin], Nov. 26 (AP).—The technical university of Delft was closed for an indefinite period by German authorities today as a sequel to a student strike yesterday when a Jewish professor was dismissed.

The professor was removed under the German law for occupied Holland stipulating that Jews must be excluded from official and semiofficial undertakings, including schools, courts, and the postal and telegraph services.

Student demonstrations have also occurred at the universities of Leyden and Utrecht, but only investigative action has been taken at those institutions.

British Oil Official in Japan Given Suspended Sentence

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Nov. 26 (AP).—L. T. Woolley, an executive of the Rising Sun Oil company, received a seven month suspended sentence today on conviction of espionage. He was among British subjects arrested in a round up of alleged spies last summer.

BRITISH ATTACKS IN EAST AFRICA REPULSED—ROME

ROME, Nov. 26 (AP).—The Italian high command today said that in East Africa an attack by British mechanized units "in the Sabderat zone and the Ghirghir valley near Serobatib was quickly repulsed by our troops. Some enemy motor vehicles remained in our hands."

Bomb Transport Yard.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 26 (AP).—The British royal air force today said that in Italian East Africa, attacks were made on a large motor transport yard near Assab.

"A large fire was started, emitting clouds of black smoke visible 50 miles away," the communique said.

"Two enemy raids were made on Malta, one Nov. 24 and the other yesterday. In the first raid, one Italian plane was damaged by antiaircraft fire. The second enemy plane made off before being intercepted."

Germany Demands Report on All Polish Property

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—All Polish property in Germany, including personal effects if their value surpasses $120, must be reported to Nazi authorities. Persons holding property of Poles in trust must also report it and those who owe money to Poles must inform financial officers about it regardless of the creditor's whereabouts. Persons failing to report Polish property before Dec. 1 are subject to punishment.

BRISTOL STRAFED ANEW BY NAZI NIGHT BOMBERS

Admit Streets Piled High with Bricks and Debris.

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, Nov. 27, Wednesday (AP)—A number of British planes dropped a few bombs in the suburbs of Berlin last night, but failed to reach the center of the capital, German officials reported today. "Effective defense measures," it was said, "prevented the enemy from penetrating the interior of the city."

LONDON, Nov. 27 Wednesday (AP).—German bombers ranged far and wide over Britain last night, striking particularly at a west England city which had been assaulted heavily Sunday night and again yesterday, but up to midnight only negligible damage had been reported.

Over the town in the west [which was obliquely but quite clearly identified as Bristol, the port thru which American supplies have been pouring into England] the raiders were met with the shock of a fierce barrage as they sought to place incendiary and explosive bombs. The raiders arrived at the rate of one a minute early in the attack.

A dispatch from Bristol said the censorship was lifted there tonight to permit the disclosure to the outside world of the damage wrought in Sunday night's raids.

Shattered Stores and Houses.

"Streets are piled high and blocked by masses of bricks and stone; there are appalling views of shattered stores and apartment houses," the dispatch said. "Some structures several stories high are only shells. There is a denuded twisted steel building, its girders tortured as tho by fire of tremendous heat."

The Germans, it was said, apparently concentrated on certain areas and blasted them to rubble.

The censorship also for the first time permitted publication of the fact that axis planes recently have raided Birmingham and Southampton. It was announced that Birmingham's famous art gallery and Empire music hall were damaged. An arcade in the city was wrecked and the few shops left in it cannot open because debris blocks the way.

The London area last night got the welcome "raiders passed" signal before midnight. Hostile planes were over the northeast, southwest, northwest and the east Midlands, but in no great numbers. It was suggested that many northern France airdromes were waterlogged.

During the daylight hours London had but one alarm—and that a brief one in the afternoon.

Bombers Attack Convoy.

A squadron of nine German planes made a three minute bomb attack in the afternoon on a convoy in the English channel before being driven off by the ships' antiaircraft guns. Observers on the coast said none of the ships was hit.

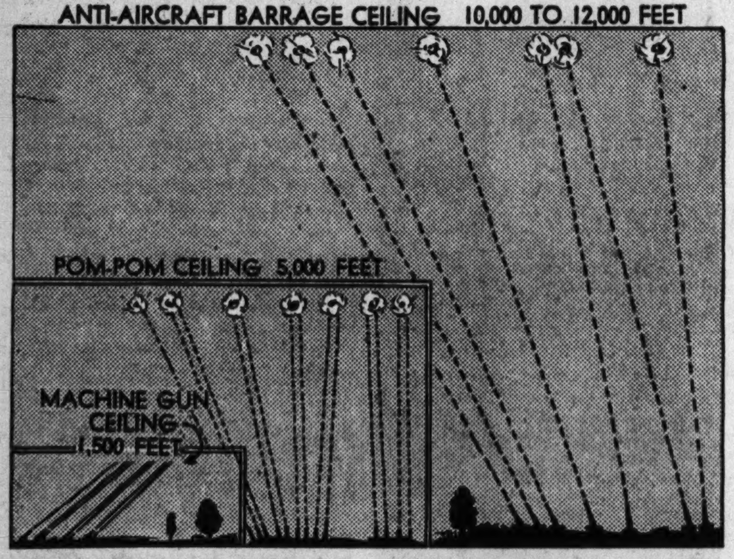
For two hours German long range guns on the French coast shelled the Dover area intermittently. British batteries replied shell for shell.

British bombers dared the bad flying weather Monday night on a limited scale, attacking dockyards at Kiel, Wilhelmshaven, Hamburg, and Willemsoord, the De Mok seaplane base, and several enemy airdromes.

Claim Hits on Convoy.

BERLIN, Nov. 26 (AP).—D. N. B., the official German news agency, said Nazi fighting planes and dive bombers made a "successful" attack today on a convoy of 30 ships in the English channel from heights of 30 to 60 feet, but did not say whether any ships were sunk.

Effective Heights of Antiaircraft Guns



ANTI-AIRCRAFT BARRAGE CEILING 10,000 TO 12,000 FEET
POM-POM CEILING 5,000 FEET
MACHINE GUN CEILING 1,500 FEET

Antiaircraft barrages in general are intended to keep raiding airplanes high. Above the limit of the guns' range defending fighter aircraft wait to deal with the foe. Ranges of three types of guns are indicated in this chart, antiaircraft guns proper, pom-poms or multiple barreled guns, and machine guns. There are guns with a higher range than 12,000 feet.

NEW SHIPS NOT EQUAL TO LOSSES, BRITAIN ADMITS

More Must Be Built in U. S., Minister Says.

LONDON, Nov. 26 (AP).—Ronald H. Cross, minister of shipping, said in a broadcast tonight that "the rate at which we are building ships now does not make up for our losses."

Ronald Cross.

Cross said that, while Britain's shipyards were working at capacity on merchant vessels, part of the nation's facilities must be devoted to naval construction and repairs.

"We are therefore anxious," he said, "to get more ships built overseas and we are looking primarily to the shipyards of the United States, since by themselves the resources of the empire are not enough."

"We must have ships," Cross declared. "Our life here and the issues which hang on our having enough ships are so tremendous that we cannot make too sure of our shipping position in the months and years which may pass before we have made victory secure. We must have a safety margin."

High as in World War.

The minister reported that ship losses since the war started had averaged as much as those of the last war. They totaled 20,000 tons weekly until June, and afterward 60,000 tons, as a result of Germany's control of the coasts of France, the lowlands and Norway.

While the number of merchantmen flying the British flag is the same as at the war's outbreak, thanks to the acquisition of 8,000,000 tons of allied vessels, Cross said, "our power to import goods is much reduced" because "we can no longer import iron ore from Sweden or steel from Norway, Belgium and France or food from Holland."

Seventeen British, allied, and neutral merchant ships totaling 59,534 tons were lost thru "enemy action" during the week ended Nov. 17, the admiralty reported. The figure was claimed to be about two-thirds of the weekly average since the Nazis loosed their counterblockade in May. During the week ending Nov. 17 the Nazis had claimed to have sunk 131,340 tons.

Naval officials said mine sweeping had been "intensely complicated" by air attacks, and that after a harbor entrance or channel had been swept clear of mines, it could not be considered safe for more than 24 hours.

41,400 Tons for One U-Boat.

BERLIN, Nov. 26 (AP).—The high command communique said today a submarine commanded by Lieutenant Commander Schepke had sunk 41,400 tons of "enemy merchant shipping space." It did not disclose what period of time was covered.

NAZIS SEE LOTHIAN BID FOR AID BASED ON WISH TO GET AT U. S. MONEY

[Copyright: 1940: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—The "cry for help" which Lord Lothian, British ambassador to the United States, is sending forth from Washington, D. C., is the subject of critical speculation in Berlin. Both press and official quarters comment on Lothian's pessimistic utterances, but do not conceal their suspicion of his motives which, as one official comment puts it, are "in any case based on a desire to get at America's money bags."

The opinion is freely expressed that Lothian is painting the British picture in more somber colors than is actually warranted by the financial situation of England in order to arouse American public opinion to loosen restrictions of the Johnson act, which prevents great Britain, as a war debt defaulter, from receiving American credits.

Altho the Germans regard Britain's situation as hopeless it seems peculiar to them that Lothian should say so while British politicians at home are still proclaiming the "inexhaustibleness of England's financial resources." The official Deutsche Diplomatische Korrespondenz considers two possible reasons for the ambassador's statements: "Either it is true that England is facing the exhaustion of funds she can utilize in foreign nations or Lord Lothian stated an untruth."

ALMAZAN YIELDS ALL CLAIMS TO RULE OF MEXICO

Declares Act Prompted by Wallace Visit.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 26 (AP).—Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan tonight apparently forestalled the possibility of a revolution in Mexico when he formally renounced all claims to the office of president to which, he said, "the people were good enough to elect me last July 7."

President Roosevelt's decision to send President Elect Henry A. Wallace to the inauguration of President Elect Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho on Dec. 1 prompted his renunciation, Almazan said.

Almazan, independent presidential candidate who consistently had refused to concede his defeat, arrived by plane after three months in the United States and issued a prepared statement from his home in suburban Coyoacan.

The statement was in the form of a reply to two of his supporters who had written him arguing that an attempt to seize power would be an "insane adventure" because the United States apparently recognized Camacho.

Feared Intervention.

Almazan stated that he feared if he had sought to defend his "triumph," the United States would have intervened in the interests of continental solidarity.

He said he had decided on the renunciation of his claims "as the only means of securing the peace to which my supporters are entitled."

Almazan was welcomed at the airport by 300 of his followers. He was accompanied by six friends who had flown with him from Texas. His car was escorted to his home by some 50 Mexico City police and secret officers of the ministry of interior.

It was announced the officers were "to give the general every guarantee of safety," and that a 24 hour guard would be maintained around his home.

Wallace at Monterrey.

MONTERREY, Mexico, Nov. 26 (AP).—Across the badlands of northern Mexico, Vice President Elect Henry A. Wallace motored tonight on his first visit to Mexico. The former secretary of agriculture is to represent the United States at the inauguration of Mexico's next president, Gen. Camacho.

Gen. Marte Gomez of the state of Tamaulipas and Mexican Ambassador Castillo Najera met Wallace and his party on the international bridge from Laredo, Tex., and presented flowers to Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. J. D. Le Cron, wife of Wallace's secretary.

Wallace, a student of the Spanish language, said he hoped his visit would lead to a better understanding between the peoples of the two nations. He was cheered by Mexicans at the international boundary monument as Mexican army planes covered with American flags flew overhead.

When the party's automobile caravan reached Monterrey crowds were packed solidly for two miles. Many persons waved American flags. City leaders gave a banquet for Wallace tonight. Tomorrow he plans to reach El Mante.

ASSERTS BELGIAN CONGO IS AT WAR WITH MUSSOLINI

CAPETOWN, Union of South Africa, Nov. 26 (AP).—The Belgian Congo considers itself at war with Italy, the governor general announced tonight in an official communique.

The Congo, he said, was determined to continue the closest collaboration with Britain and her allies. Italy, he added, had committed hostile acts against Belgium, including the use of Belgian airdromes for Italian planes engaged in bombing England.

Many Italians in the Congo were reported arrested last night.

GEORGE OPPOSES MOVE TO PERMIT LOAN TO BRITISH

Delay Advocated by New Foreign Chairman.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 [Special].—Speaking in his new capacity as chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.] expressed the view today that it would be "impractical and somewhat premature for congress to act immediately upon legislation permitting war loans to Great Britain."

Shortly before he had made his opinion known to reporters the senator had called upon President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull. After the White House conference he said he was in general agreement with the administration's foreign policies.

George was named to the committee chairmanship yesterday to succeed the late Key Pittman of Nevada.

Live Topic in Capital.

Financial aid to Britain has been a live topic in Washington since Lord Lothian, the British ambassador, announced upon his return from Britain last week that his country was beginning to come to the end of her financial resources.

Senator William H. King [D., Utah] has introduced legislation modifying the Johnson act, which forbids loans to nations in default to the United States on their world war debts.

George said the foreign relations committee would consider King's resolution tomorrow along with a proposal by Senator Gerald Nye [R., N. D.] for an investigation of British financial holdings in the United States. He indicated, however, that he did not believe final action would be possible on either measure at this session of congress.

"It will be very difficult," he asserted, "to keep a quorum of the committee and the senate in the closing days of this session to consider any controversial matter."

Funds for Another Year.

In line with Senator Nye's requested investigation, some government officials estimated that Britain was financially able to pay her own way for at least another year. Others thought her assets might last two years or longer.

The President and Lord Lothian yesterday denied any specific requests were made in Lothian's long conference at the White House.

Lothian also denied a dispatch from London saying that he brought with him on his return from London a memorandum requesting 100 destroyers, 3 battleships, and 6 cruisers of the United States navy, besides increased numbers of merchant vessels. The British recently acquired 50 destroyers in exchange for island bases for the United States on British possessions in the Atlantic and Caribbean.

Opposes Islands Trade.

Despite denials of specific requests for aid to Britain, Lothian all but asked directly for such credits upon his return from London Saturday. He placed Britain's needs from the United States as planes, munitions, ships, and finances.

He did not receive well suggestions that British island possessions in the West Indies be exchanged for settlement of war debts, both old and new. People of the territories would object to becoming subjects of barter, according to Lothian.

The question of United States aid to another war beleaguered country also came up at the state department today when Chinese Ambassador Hu Shih told reporters after he had talked with Secretary Hull that his nation was looking to the United States for further assistance. He did not say whether China sought additional loans or what form of assistance was needed.

Senate Confirms Millis and Dempsey Nominations

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—The senate today gave its approval to two Presidential nominations—Harry A. Millis to be chairman of the labor board and retiring Representative John J. Dempsey [D., N. M.] to be a member of the maritime commission. Millis is successor to J. Warren Madden.

TWA HEAD CALLS CURB ON AIR LINES A TRAGIC WASTE

Frye Opposes Limit on Expansion.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 26 [Special].—Jack Frye, president of Transcontinental & Western Air, Inc., said tonight that the air transport industry would be seriously crippled by halting its expansion, as Secretary of War Stimson has suggested on the ground it interfered with war plane production.

"It would be a tragic economic waste," Frye said, "if, in our zeal for quick results, we destroyed our air transport industry which has taken many long years to develop, and at the same time achieved little or nothing in improving our military position."

Only 322 Transports Used.

Pointing out that there are only 322 airline transport planes in operation in the United States, he said it is obvious that the number of planes required for normal replacement and expansion "would be only a drop in the bucket compared with our military requirements."

"Airline equipment is not built in quantities requiring mass production facilities," Frye explained. "It is custom built and the tools, jigs, dies, and other facilities, even including arrangement of factory space, could not be used in building military aircraft.

"Such facilities as could be converted would require many months, extending into next summer, before they could be used for military aircraft production.

Of Little Military Value.

"Even if construction of all transport planes was discontinued and the facilities converted to military production, the contribution to our military program would be relatively microscopic."

Observing that the aircraft manufacturing industry has had to devote most of its efforts to designing and building facilities to produce planes, Frye said he expected production to start next spring and summer on a scale "that will amaze the world and maintain our reputation as a leader in mass production."

JOHN LOCKYER IS DIVORCED ON CRUELTY CHARGE

Mrs. Constance Caldwell Lockyer, sister of H. Wallace Caldwell, a county commissioner, was granted a divorce yesterday from John Lockyer, a building contractor, before Judge Rudolph Desort. She charged cruelty. Commissioner Caldwell testified in her behalf. Mrs. Lockyer, who lives at the Oak Park Arms hotel in Oak Park, received an out of court settlement and custody of her three children, John Jr., 14 years old; Joan, 9, and Richard, 5. The Lockyers were married Sept. 20, 1923, and separated Oct. 14 last.

DOUGLAS DENIES AIR LINE ORDERS DELAY DEFENSE

Plane Makers Dispute Stimson's Charge.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 26 [Special].—Los Angeles aircraft manufacturers who build most of the country's transport planes today contradicted a war department contention that commercial aviation production has impeded the government's war plane program.

Donald W. Douglas.

Outstanding among them was Donald W. Douglas, president of the Douglas Aircraft company which holds about $30,000,000 worth of commercial contracts.

"Military airplane contracts for the United States government and for the British have not been delayed by the commercial projects previously started, nor will we permit them to interfere with our national defense," he flatly declared.

Criticized by Stimson.

Criticism of commercial aviation in general and the Douglas company in particular was voiced by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson at his press conference today. He observed that altho Douglas is delivering 12 commercial transport planes a month, it is far behind in delivery of 186 bombers ordered in the spring of 1939.

The secretary also complained that the various air lines are not coöperating in the program of limitation, asserting that they are planning a 100 per cent expansion of their large transport planes by 1942 from factories now lagging on defense orders.

Douglas said his company had checked and discussed with the national defense advisory commission deliveries of commercial airplanes previously ordered by airlines of the United States.

"On September 14, 1940," he said, "this company was advised by the defense commission that 'every effort will be made to give prompt relief on all written requests [for commercial airplane engines] where the requirements of our national defense are not impaired.' This referred to new orders and not airplanes in the making.

Approved by Commission.

"The commercial airplanes mentioned by the secretary were discussed and approved by the advisory commission to the council of national defense. This company does not seek to expand commercial airline service and we do not feel that the small quantity mentioned by the secretary in any way interferes with our military projects.

"We have so advised the advisory defense commission and the government. At no time did either the war department or the defense commission ask us to discontinue construction and delivery of commercial ships. If and when they do, we will promptly comply."

Blame Army for Delay.

Altho company officials would not give details, it was authoritatively learned that the delay in fulfillment of Douglas commitments for 186 army dive bombers was attributed by factory engineers to "change orders" issued by the service itself.

This bugaboo, stressed months ago by local plane makers as the No. 1 obstacle in the way of a speedup of aircraft production, consists of last minute alterations in original specifications. Sometimes of major importance, sometimes as petty as the addition of a few more rivets, these change orders hamper the smooth flow of production machines, manufacturers charge. The Douglas dive bomber, it was learned, has been particularly subject to such treatment.

What Airlines Would Lose.

Here is what cancellation or indefinite postponement of commercial orders would mean for carriers operating betwene the Atlantic and Pacific coasts:

American Airlines would be denied 15 four engined DC-4 transports scheduled for delivery late in 1941 and early i- 1942, as well as 15 smaller DC-3s.

United Air Lines would not get 20 DC-4s and 10 DC-3s previously contracted.

TWA would find its 15 DC-3s stymied.

Western Air Express would not receive two D3ts, twin engined sleepers, which it has purchased.

In all, these represent 77 ships worth about $16,000,000.

VULTEE STRIKE SETTLED; WORK RESUMES TODAY

New Contract Provides for Arbitration.

Downey, Cal., Nov. 26 (AP).—A 12 day strike at the Vultee Aircraft corporation plant, which tied up work on military contracts totaling $84,000,000, ended today with ratification by striking C. I. O. workers of a new contract which will increase wages of 5,200 employés by $1,400,000 annually.

Employés will begin returning to work at 7 a. m. tomorrow, under the watchful eyes of federal bureau of investigation agents determined to see that no spies enter in the guise of workers.

Under terms of a new 16 months' contract labor matters will be presented weekly to the management by a five man union grievance committee. Any disagreement which cannot be settled in this manner will go to an arbitration board composed of two union members, two company representatives, and a fifth neutral member.

Bans Strikes and Lockouts.

The agreement provides that the union "will not cause or engage in or permit its members to take part in any sitdown, stayin, slowdown, or sympathy strike in the plant . . . or any curtailment of the work or restriction of production or interference with production of the company."

The company guarantees not to "cause or sanction a lockout."

The new contract provides a minimum wage of 62½ cents an hour for all present employés, an equal sum for workers hired in the future with a year's mechanical experience, and a minimum of 55 cents an hour for future unskilled employés. This later amount will scale up to 62½ cents at the end of 90 days.

20 Planes on the Line.

With the return of the men to work, assembly lines will begin moving again with 20 planes left partly finished when the walkout started. Basic trainers for the United States army were being completed at a rate of three a day. Their cost is a military secret, so the total loss during the 12 day stoppage cannot be determined.

The 5,200 employés would have received during the 12 days approximately $564,000 in wages. Of the number, 3,500 are union members. The others were forced out when the company closed the plant shortly after picket lines formed.

The negotiations were marked by the recall of Maj. Sidney Simpson, a war department representative, after the union charged in a statement last Friday night that he had delayed a settlement—an assertion which Simpson denied.

PRESIDENT HOLDS PARLEY ON ARMS PLANT WALKOUTS

House Committee Talks of Outlawing Strikes.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—The problem of strikes in vital defense industries was studied by the President and his advisers today and by congressional committees.

Members of the senate and the house advocated vigorous action, but the impression prevailed that officials considered existing administrative machinery adequate to deal with the matter. President Roosevelt indicated that no new legislation will be sought now.

The President told his press conference afterward that the main thing is to keep factories with government contracts open and undamaged.

Conferring with the President were Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, Attorney General Robert Jackson, and Sidney Hillman, labor member of the defense commission.

Plans Parley With Dies.

Mr. Roosevelt's announcement that he hopes to confer Friday with state and justice department officials and Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities, led to speculation that the entire question of hindrances to defense production, including sabotage and subversive activities as well as strikes, had been under discussion.

At the capitol members of the house judiciary committee gathered at the call of Chairman Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.] to consider possible legislation that might be enacted to curb strikes in defense plants.

Sumners declined to discuss curbs that might be proposed, but he held an informal, preliminary meeting late yesterday with some committee members and other congressmen who hold that current strikes may "sabotage" the defense program.

It was learned that these men discussed these proposals:

1. A simple ban against strikes in defense plants.
2. Compulsory arbitration of differences between employer and employé, with an attendant "cooling off" period for both sides.
3. Increased penalties for all forms of sabotage.
4. Prohibitions against the closed shop if it became an issue in a plant producing defense materials.

Sumners Favors "Action."

The speakers discussed various strikes, mostly in California, and all demanded that congress or the administration take immediate steps to stop them.

Sumners, one of those who made a house speech yesterday, said strike leaders are doing "a dastardly thing." He proposed that they be administered "a double dose" of the "only kind of violence they understand."

Representative Jerry Voorhis [D., Cal.] cautioned against too sweeping legislation which probably would apply not only to strike leaders but also—and perhaps unjustly—to the millions in the rank and file of labor.

Representative Clare Hoffman [R., Mich.] announced that he will introduce in the house Thursday a resolution requiring the secretary of war to furnish information on national defense projects on which nonunion labor is barred.

Senators Discuss Strikes.

The senate labor committee also discussed the strike situation and possible remedial legislation informally.

Senator Styles Bridges [R., N. H.] of the committee said afterward that unless the labor unions themselves "clean house of extreme radicals refusing to arbitrate their differences," congress might enact a law making arbitration compulsory.

The senate unanimously passed a bill imposing drastic penalties for "willful injury or destruction" of defense materials. The measure now goes to the President, having been passed previously by the house.

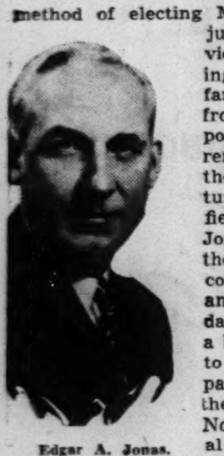
RENEW EFFORT TO CHANGE CITY BENCH ELECTION

Jonas Proposes Removal of Party Circle.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A movement for a change in the method of electing Municipal court judges with a view to separating the bench as far as possible from partisan politics is to be renewed before the next legislature at Springfield. Edgar A. Jonas, a judge of the Municipal court for 13 years, announced yesterday he is drafting a bill which aims to eliminate the party circle from the court ticket in November general elections and thus wipe out "straight party votes, one great bulwark of political machines."



Edgar A. Jonas.

A committee of the Chicago Bar association, of which Francis X. Busch is chairman, likewise is to meet today to determine whether it will follow up the bill it sponsored in the general assembly of 1939. This bill, which was defeated, provided for a nonpartisan system of electing judges. The bar association committee also is expected to discuss the Jonas measure, which Mr. Busch, a former corporation counsel of Chicago, calls a step in the right direction.

Provisions of Bill.

Mr. Jonas' bill provides that municipal bench candidates are to be nominated in party primaries as now. The 12 candidates on each party ticket receiving the highest plurality vote at the primaries are to be considered nominated. Twelve judges are elected every two years.

In the fall election, however, the bill calls for a change in method. The party label is to be removed from the separate judicial ballot. There is to be no party circle and no way to vote a "straight" ticket. Instead, the 24 candidates are to be placed in one column on the judicial ballot, which is a separate ballot, and their names are to be rotated in the various Chicago precincts. Thus the voters will have to mark their crosses in front of the names of 12 candidates, and the chances are improved that greater discrimination in voting will be the result.

In the recent election, the voting was close between low man on the Democratic winning ticket, Judge Le Roy Hackett, and top man on the losing Republican ticket, Edward B. Casey. Casey was only 8,586 votes behind Hackett. It is figured by Republicans that the five leading, but losing, Republican candidates were defeated by reason of mass machine voting of "straight" ballots in four Democratic stronghold wards on the west side—the 22d, 23d, 24th, and 32d.

Faults of System.

"Mass voting," said Mr. Jonas, "will be obviated if the party label is removed and candidates do not remain on the same place on the ballot.

"The fallacy of the present system is shown in the fact that on Nov. 5 a few wards which the dominant party controls thru patronage brought about the defeat of at least five Republican candidates, all of whom were indorsed by the bar association and many other civic organizations.

"In my opinion, unless something drastic is done to change the method of electing judges, the Municipal court will continue to deteriorate and by its own weaknesses will legislate itself out of business. This would be a great injustice to the public."

WELCOMES MOBILIZATION DAY.

Hartington, Neb., Nov. 26 [Special]. — Erwin B. Ebson won't be sorry when the National Guard's local antitank unit is mobilized on Dec. 23. Charged with buying liquor for three minors, he was sentenced to 60 days in jail, but will be released on mobilization day, to go to Fort Robinson, Ark.

TELLS OBJECTIONS TO FORT FORREST AS CAMP'S NAME

Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, commander of the 33d division of Illinois, yesterday informed Tennessee officials that renaming Camp Peay, Tenn., after Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, confederate cavalry leader in the civil war, would be distasteful to large numbers of Illinois citizens. The 33d division will train at Camp Peay, near Tullahoma, Tenn., for a year beginning in January.

Brig. Gen. T. A. Frazier, adjutant general of Tennessee, had suggested renaming the post Camp Forrest, or Fort Forrest, when the war department asked that possible new names be submitted. Forrest was ranked as an able commander. He was charged, however, with needless slaughter of Negro soldiers, and in civil life he was a slave trader.

Gen. Frazier assured Gen. Lawton in a telephone conversation yesterday that Forrest's name had been considered only tentatively and that probably it would be dropped from consideration as a result of the objections. He talked of the possibility of renaming the camp for some revolutionary war hero and invited Gen. Lawton to make suggestions, which the latter said he would do. Gen. Lawton said he, in turn, would consider suggestions from Illinois citizens.

ALUMINUM FIRM REJECTS UNION'S STRIKE DEMAND

Refuses to Fire Worker; Calls Issue False.

New Kensington, Pa., Nov. 26 (AP).—The Aluminum Company of America tonight flatly rejected demands of its striking C. I. O. workers to discharge or transfer a $27 a week sheet mill helper the union charges threatened one of its officers and caused their walkout last Friday.

Superintendent R. M. Ferry of the big plant here which was busy on more than $1,000,000 in national defense orders, asserted the issue involving the worker was an "afterthought which the union has brought forth" and that it was "the collection of union dues which caused the men to quit work."

Ferry said the company had nothing to do with dues collection, that the union had instituted the strike without following the grievance procedure of their contract and had not given time for the company to investigate the case of the helper.

Calls Penalty Unjustified.

"The company since has investigated this case and has found no justification for penalizing this employé as demanded by the union," added Ferry. "In view of the facts I have today advised the union I can see no reason why we should discriminate against him by taking such action as demanded."

Union spokesmen charged the mill helper threatened a union officer trying to collect $12 in delinquent dues and that they felt such action, without reprimand by the company, endangered all committeemen in the plant.

Replying to Ferry, N. A. Zonarich, president of the C. I. O. Aluminum Workers of America, said:

"We are sincerely trying to settle this dispute but it appears we cannot gain any coöperation from the company.

Transfer Is Asked.

"Sunday we proposed that the company transfer the man in question out of the bargaining unit. The company spokesman agreed with us that this was a good suggestion. But apparently the company has failed to find a place for this individual outside of the bargaining unit.

"Unless this individual is transferred or disciplined by the company in the usual manner the membership feels that every union committeeman in the plant will be jeopardized with similar discrimination caused by irresponsible persons in the employ of the company."

A member of the union said "disciplinary action" often meant suspension of a worker by the company for a few days for infraction of rules. Thus some observers saw in the suggestion of such action in lieu of transfer or discharge as a further compromise offer by the union.

The 7,500 idle workers today began drawing a $500,000 pay roll for the two weeks prior to Nov. 16. The company estimated their average daily pay is around $44,000.

NEW U. S. BUDGET WILL BE REDUCED, SAYS ROOSEVELT

Public Works, Except for Defense, to Be Cut.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—President Roosevelt asserted today that the next budget will have nondefense public expenditures cut to the bone in order to provide for rearmament. At the same time he outlined a plan for stepping up public works projects upon the completion of the defense program.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference that he is laying down a strict rule that national defense projects come first in the budget. This does not mean elimination of the WPA and similar relief agencies, however, but merely concentration on defense works by those agencies, he said.

Explains WPA Numbers.

Remarking that there were some persons who could not see why the WPA rolls had not gone down despite the fact that many workers had been absorbed in defense industries, Mr. Roosevelt said that there was always a long waiting list.

For example, he said, if there were 1,900,000 persons now on WPA, there was a waiting list of perhaps 750,000 more.

Many now on relief and on the WPA waiting list are expected to be absorbed by the defense program, which calls for enormous expenditures by the federal government. The extraordinary defense program already surpasses 15 billion dollars.

The administration has indicated it will request a boost in the national debt limit at the next session to permit defense financing thru increased borrowing, with a public debt of possibly 65 billions by June 30, 1942, compared with slightly more than 44 billions now.

Tax Boost in Prospect.

The chairman of the house ways and means committee, Representative Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], also urged sufficient additional taxes by the next congress to balance regular operating costs of the government, calling for a prospective increase of up to 2 billion dollars in taxes.

The President said the administration will study public spending projects and place them on the shelf for use when the defense program falls off.

$100 HOOSIER HORSE SUIT WILL BE TRIED FOR THE EIGHTH TIME

Valparaiso, Ind., Nov. 26 [Special].—A seven year lawsuit over a horse wound up with a seventh mistrial today. Attorneys for Mrs. Cora Peterson, administratrix of the estate of Ben Anderson, seeking $100 from Ben and Vernon Kuehl for a horse purchased in 1933, charged that two jurors sitting in the case had served at a previous trial in which the Kuehls won. Judge H. W. Sackett ordered the jury discharged. The Kuehls refuse to pay because they claim the horse was defective. The horse meanwhile has died and left a colt which is now full grown. Costs of the case now amount to $700. There will be an eighth trial.

HOW DEEP SOUTH KEEPS G.O.P. VOTE FROM THE POLLS

Methods of South Carolina and Others Shown.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—South Carolina, in which Willkie received 4,478 votes, and Mississippi, where he got 7,364, have attained almost 100 per cent perfection in the suppression of the Republican party, which in the deep south is composed chiefly of Negroes and poor whites.

Actually these figures are misleading, indicating that there are that many registered Republicans in those states. The fact is that less than 2,000 Republicans have been permitted to vote in South Carolina, less than 5,000 in Mississippi. In 1936 Landon received 1,646 in South Carolina, 4,443 in Mississippi. Willkie got more votes because anti-third term Democrats voted for him.

A Senator Is Shocked.

Former Senator Cole Blease of South Carolina deplored the laxity of the authorities in his state in permitting any Republican votes to be recorded. When President Coolidge received 1,123 votes in South Carolina in the 1924 election, Blease, then in the senate, said:

"I think Mr. Coolidge received 1,100 votes in my state. I do not know where he got them. I was astonished to know they were cast and shocked to know they were counted."

Under the South Carolina law a citizen to qualify to vote must be possessed of $300 worth of property on which he has paid taxes in the preceding year or he must be able to read and write any section of the constitution. Few Negroes and poor whites are able to meet the property qualification. And the literary test is even more insurmountable for a Negro or for a poor white who happens to be a Republican.

Reading and Writing.

It is up to the Democratic registrars to decide whether the applicant for registration is able to "read and write" any section of the constitution. The registrar himself may be unable to read and write any section of the constitution, but he is an unerring judge of the capability of others. There are few recorded instances of a Negro or a white Republican having been able to read and write the constitution to the satisfaction of the registrars. White Democrats qualify easily. If the applicant is turned down he can appeal to the courts, but that process is prohibitively expensive.

Then there is the poll tax as a prerequisite to the voting privilege. South Carolina is one of eight states in the union, all in the south, which require the voter to present a certificate of payment of poll taxes of $1 to $2 a year per capita before being allowed to deposit a ballot. In South Carolina the poll tax must be paid six months before the election.

Many years ago the intrusion of colored Republicans into the Democratic primaries of South Carolina was a problem until some one had an inspiration. It was that a Negro applying for Democratic party enrollment must, under the party rule, bring an affidavit of 10 white men that he voted for Wade Hampton for governor in 1876 and had voted the Democratic ticket continuously since.

Mississippi Regulations.

In Mississippi the voter must be on the registration books and must produce evidence of payment of the $2 annual poll tax.

To get on the registration book in Mississippi the citizen must satisfy the registrars that he is able to read any section of the constitution or be able to understand any section when read to him or to give a reasonable interpretation thereof. Virtually none but white Democrats are able to pass these tests. The Democratic party bars Negroes from its primaries. No Republican primary is held.

Louisiana law prescribes that the voter must present evidence of a payment of a $1 annual poll tax for two years before the election, provided the payment is made by the preceding Dec. 31. Few Negroes and poor whites are able to pay $2 for the privilege of voting and still fewer take the precaution of paying 10 months ahead of the election.

Only registered voters are permitted to participate in primaries and the party rule bars Negroes from Democratic primaries.

Owners Sue for Ejection of Dog

[Acme Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Roi Osborne and their St. Bernard, Denver, which was ejected from Pullman car. They are suing the Pullman company.

AN 83 LB. PUPPY PUTS THE BITE ON PULLMAN CO.

Ejected, Says Owner, in $10,000 Suit.

New York, Nov. 26 [Special].—When Mr. and Mrs. Roi Osborne of New York became lonely for their dog, Denver, in the middle of the night of June 7, 1938, nothing would do but that they take Denver right in with them. The fact that the Osbornes were in a Pullman car and Denver was in the baggage car, and that Denver is a St. Bernard, "as big as a horse," did not deter the Osbornes.

This was the vein of evidence submitted today in White Plains Supreme court during trial of the Osbornes' $10,000 suit against the Pullman company. Basis of the damage action is the Osbornes' claim that they "suffered great mortification and mental distress" when Denver was ejected from the Pullman.

Subterfuge Charged.

Taking a dog as "big as a horse" from one end of a moving train to another by "subterfuge" qualifies as quite a job, it was indicated in testimony introduced before Judge Graham Witschief and the jury. But that, it appeared, was what the Osbornes accomplished. The circumstances surrounding the discovery of Denver later comfortably ensconsed in the Pullman car led to the $10,000 suit.

Osborne, a fiction writer and brother of Will Osborne, orchestra leader, testified that he and his wife and Denver boarded an Atlanta-bound train in New York. All went well until Washington was reached, at which time the Osbornes obtained a drawing room. They thought Denver, languishing up forward in the baggage car, should share their comfort.

Denver, Osborne explained, was allergic to train whistles, which were especially loud in the baggage car.

Ordered to Get Out.

Denver, aided by the Osbornes, and apparently surrounded by a veritable cloud of subterfuge, was spirited to the drawing room and soon discovered by a Pullman employé. To make matters worse, according to Osborne, he shouted "Get that damned dog out of here."

Denver was relegated to the baggage car, Osborne testified.

Osborne denied Denver was "as big as a horse." On the night of the Pullman incident, he said, Denver was a mere puppy of 83 pounds—and now weighs only 132.

CANADIAN EMPLOYERS FORBIDDEN TO TAKE ON PERSONS IN WAR WORK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 26.—The Canadian Pulp and Paper association today made public regulations for the employment of labor as recently fixed in an order in council.

The regulations forbid the soliciting of labor by advertisment, letter, circular, notice, placard, or other writing without inserting this clause: "Applications will not be considered from persons in the employment of any firm, corporation, or other employer engaged in the production of munitions, war equipment, or supplies for the armed forces unless such employé is not actually employed in his usual trade or occupation."

Violations of the regulations are punishable by a fine not exceeding $500.

COUNCIL VOTES, 42 TO 2, TO KILL JUKE BOX BAN

The city council yesterday repealed the ordinance banning the operation of juke boxes in Chicago. The vote was 42 to 2. The action was taken immediately after Mayor Kelly issued a strong statement saying that he had "never been in favor of enforcing this ordinance, which is undemocratic."

The two who voted against repeal of the ordinance were Aldermen John S. Boyle [16th] and Richard M. Walsh [36th]. Boyle said the juke box business needed regulation.

Ald. Frank Hilburn [47th] voted for repeal with the reservation that the council give immediate consideration to some sort of regulation of juke box operation, particularly in residential districts where the noise of recorded music might disturb sleeping persons at a late hour.

Ald. Earl B. Dickerson [2d] also voted for repeal with the reservation that the council consider methods of licensing the boxes for revenue. The city should obtain $250,000 yearly from a licensing arrangement, he said.

Civil Service Blanketing Bill Signed by President

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—President Roosevelt today signed the Ramspeck bill authorizing him to cover into the civil service approximately 200,000 employés in federal emergency agencies after they have taken noncompetitive examinations.

COUNCIL O. K.'S PLAN FOR NEW AIR TERMINAL

The city council yesterday unanimously authorized Mayor Kelly to negotiate with the government and the major air lines for the construction of a new terminal building at the Chicago airport. The building will cost $1,813,000. Of this, a million dollars would come as a federal loan, $400,000 would be advanced by the air lines, and $413,000 would be supplied thru a city sponsored WPA project. Higher airport fees eventually would pay for the building. Mayor Kelly said he was still thinking of a lake front airport, but that the estimated cost of 25 million dollars is a barrier at this time.

FIRST FARMERS PAID FOR ARMS FACTORY TRACTS

Checks totaling more than $75,000 were paid three Will county farmers yesterday for the first tracts of land purchased as a site for the proposed $25,000,000 munitions plant near Wilmington.

The checks were given to Harry S. Humphrey, Oscar Deutshman, and Richard G. Richards, who owned 41 acres in the 65 square mile area between Wilmington and Elwood. Clarence W. Beatty, assistant United States district attorney here, handed over the checks.

Many of the farmers in the area have prepared to move out immediately. Approximately $5,000,000 will be paid for land needed.

BANDIT ROBS FINANCE OFFICE.

A young bandit, about 21 years old, appeared yesterday in the second floor office of the Domestic Finance corporation, 6 East Randolph street, and robbed the manager, Gilbert Kallgren, of $350.

How Winter OIL-PLATING maintains needed lubricant in advance for Safe Quick Starts

Any good timely oil ad tells you the one same truth . . . your Winter oil ought to flow fast. For it must come groping up from the bottom of your engine, to all inner surfaces—a total area bigger than a windshield, but tough for the oil to reach. The sooner the oil could get there, the more safely you'd start up.

That's what's at stake. And that's why many stop depending on fast flow alone, as they learn that their engines can be OIL-PLATED to lubricate "faster than instantly" at every Winter start. Simply changing to Conoco Germ Processed oil brings your engine OIL-PLATING, which cannot be late getting started, because it's always PLATED UP where needed, before you even step out of the house.

OIL-PLATING, you see, isn't all draining down during long cold standstills. The extra man-made substance in Germ Processed oil—patented—bonds OIL-PLATING to engine parts lastingly. It stays there. And lubricant couldn't be prompter than that in smoothing the way for precious parts, instead of letting them grind. PLAN HATCH ACT GRAND JURY QUIZ FOR ALL PARTIES

Justice Dept. Looks for Excess Expenditures.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—The justice department today announced a grand jury investigation of expenditures of all national political parties in the 1940 presidential campaign.

Attorney General Robert Jackson said party officials would be ordered to bring their records before a special grand jury in Washington Dec. 3.

The jury will hear testimony in support of charges that sums in excess of those prescribed by the Hatch act were spent.

Maurice M. Milligan will direct the inquiry with what the department termed "utmost latitude."

Will Investigate Expenditures.

Evidence concerning election expenditures from all parts of the country will be presented to the jury. Investigation of other types of election complaints, such as fraud and coercion, already is being presented to federal grand juries in Chicago, Philadelphia, Newark, N. J., and Wilmington, Del.

The Hatch act put a limit of $3,000,000 on expenditures by a political committee and a maximum of $5,000 on contributions by individuals.

Up to Nov. 4, the Democratic National committee reported to congress that it had received contributions totaling $1,917,213 and had spent $1,848,727. The Republican National committee reported receipts of $2,993,991 and expenditures of $2,313,400.

Believes Limits Exceeded.

Chairman Guy Gillette [D., Ia.] of the senate campaign expeditures committee has expressed the opinion that both major parties spent far in excess of the $3,000,000 limit.

Edward J. Flynn, chairman of the Democratic national committee, said some time ago that he believed that supporters of the two major candidates had spent more than the statutory limit for a national committee, but that the Democratic committee itself had stayed within the limit. Republicans denied that their expenditures might have exceeded $3,000,000.

Jackson said that the justice department was determined to learn whether the Hatch act had been violated or had been evaded thru the use of legal loopholes.

SET ASIDE $87,500 ACCIDENT AWARD TO GEN. KEEHN

The Appellate court yesterday set aside a judgment of $87,500 awarded to Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, chairman of the Illinois Commerce commission, for injuries suffered in an automobile accident five years ago. The case was remanded for new trial.

The appeals court reversed the finding on the ground that Judge Michael Feinberg, who presided at the trial, had given improper instructions to the jury.

Gen. Keehn lost his right arm as a result of the accident. It occurred on July 13, 1935, near Spearfish, S. D. when a car in which he and his daughter were riding collided with a truck. The car was owned by Walter H. Annenberg, son of Moses L. Annenberg, and was driven by George Braubach, a chauffeur. The suit was against Walter Annenberg and the chauffeur.

City Will Be Asked to Add 250 to Police Traffic Detail

Officials of the Chicago Motor club are expected to appear today before the city council finance committee and urge the addition of 250 men to the city's police traffic division in 1941. J. J. Cavanagh, vice president and general manager of the club, will speak for the organization.

Divorces Barrymore

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Elaine Barrie Barrymore as she appeared in Los Angeles court yesterday to obtain divorce from John Barrymore.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 26 (AP).—Dark eyed Elaine Barrie, 24 years old, obtained a divorce today from John Barrymore, 57, on grounds of cruelty.

Still wearing her wedding band and her 8½ carat diamond engagement ring, Miss Barrie said the "Great Profile" caused her a "great deal of anguish, sleeplessness and loss of weight."

Barrymore did not appear at the hearing which was held before Superior Judge Harry Archbald.

The actor and Miss Barrie eloped to Yuma, Ariz., in 1936 and were married. They became estranged last Sept. 1. It was Barrymore's fourth marriage and Miss Barrie's first.

Barrymore's first wife was Katherine Cori Harris; his second was Blanche May Oelrichs [Michael Strange], and his third was the actress, Dolores Costello. He had a daughter by each of his first two wives and a daughter and son by his third.

Council Votes to Advance $900,000 More to CRA

The city council voted yesterday to advance $900,000 to the Chicago Relief administration to be reimbursed from the sale of 1941 relief tax anticipation warrants. Earlier in the year the council loaned the CRA $1,910,000 under the same agreement. Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th] told the council the total advance brings the amount of money used by CRA this year to 90 per cent of its 1940 tax levy.

2 OPERA STARS APPEAR TONIGHT ON W-G-N SHOW

Two stars of the Chicago opera—James Melton, tenor, and Dusolina Giannini, soprano—will be guests on the W-G-N Pageant of Melody from 8:30 to 9 o'clock tonight. Henry Weber, general director of the opera and musical director of W-G-N, will conduct the W-G-N Concert orchestra.

Melton, who has appeared three times on the Chicago Tribune Theater of the Air, presenting operettas on Saturday nights, will discuss advantages of presenting opera in English, an objective of the new Chicago Opera company. He and Miss Giannini will sing several operatic arias tonight. Members of the West End Catholic Woman's club and their families and friends will fill the W-G-N main studio as guests tonight.

On last Wednesday's Pageant of Melody, John Charles Thomas, baritone, sang and made an appeal for opera in English. Thomas discussed the English version of "Falstaff." The opera house was jammed two days later when he appeared in this opera.

Students Brave Storm.

Six hundred students and teachers from Maine Township High school drove more than 20 miles yesterday thru sleet and snow to the W-G-N studios to join in the presentation of the Citizens of Tomorrow broadcast which The Chicago Tribune presents each Tuesday in salute to the accomplishments and the promise of the youth of the nation.

Philip Maxwell, master of ceremonies for the program, complimented the students for their spirit in filling the big W-G-N studio despite the storm.

Maine was the first high school outside the limits of Chicago to be featured on the program.

School Activities Described.

Supt. Thomas R. Foulkes told of the many activities of the high school, which is situated between Park Ridge and Des Plaines.

Six Maine students participated in the Tribune News Quiz. Awards of $5 in cash were made to the winners, Joan Willer, Jack Mathis, and Gordon Baumeister. Consolation awards of $1, given for the first time, were made to the other three contestants. Dorothy Gregory, who played the rôle of Jerry, and Eddie Firestone, cast as Jimmy, let listeners in on several scoops from this week's issue of their imaginary high school newspaper.

Carl Schurz High school students will be saluted on the program next Tuesday.

In half an hour's listening, you will know why Toscanini, Barbirolli, and Stock consider the Scott the wonder instrument of radio... why Deems Taylor, Ormandy, Rodzinski, Horowitz, Iturbi, Heifetz, Menuhin choose it from the entire world of radio for their very own.

Then too the Scott provides record reproduction (with automatic changer) that you will consider "living performances." The Scott gives you world-wide short wave reception, for which it is famous in 154 countries. Frequency Modulation of matchless tone is another optional feature. I AM! HE IS! WHO IS WHAT? WHY, IT IS MR. PHILLIPS!

Prosecutor Wrestles with Lessons of Neology.

Assistant State's Attorney John J. Phillips came to grips last night with the teachings of Hugh Greer Carruthers, head of the Neological [new logic] Foundation, 32 West Randolph street, and alumnus of the lamasery of Kum Bum.

Catherine Jones.

There has been a slight lull in the foundation courses of late, as Headmaster Carruthers has been charged with rape in the Criminal court. Carruthers, who gives his age as 74, has admitted to a limited number of followers that he is one of seven Caucasians to emerge after priesthood from the Tibetan lamasery of Kum Bum at the Great Blue lake.

He Gets Some Lessons.

Prosecutor Phillips called at the foundation in search of the organization books. While there he freely accepted the lessons thrust at him by Mrs. Catherine Jones, 444 Roslyn place, who says she is a consultant.

Taking the lessons to his office for perusal, Phillips learned by pausing on page 9, section 10:

"I and The Father are One; I am in Him [or it] and He [or it] is in me.

"What is this 'I' which is 'One with the Father?'

"Ask yourself the question, 'Who am I?' and you will have the truth.

"Your only report to that question of Self is I am I."

A Slight Grimace of Pain.

With only a slight grimace of pain, the prosecutor pursued the truth into page 11, section 10, and there was cautioned:

"Learn to enter the Silence. You can go into the Silence at night before you sleep, or in the morning, on wakening, and at night. But, for practice, it were better to exercise at night, for a time, until you become proficient."

Then page 4, section 4, sets forth the following tid-bit:

"You have no right to believe anything told you in this series of lessons which make up this course of Instruction of Personal Development. Merely because the author tells you that all the statements herein are true is no reason why you should believe them true."

Goes Home Muttering.

A summing up on page 9, section 12, brought about the conclusion that "in order to practice for perfection, it might be well to do so in the same manner as you have practiced for ability to express your spiritual Oneness, mentally, in other directions."

At this point the prosecutor gave over his studies and went muttering to his home. Before the investigation bogged down in Neology, Phillips said he was investigating reports that between $60,000 and $80,000 had been invested in the Carruthers' enterprises.

Phillips and Assistant State's Attorney Nathan Kinnally called at the foundation offices yesterday in search of the books. Attorneys Cameron Latter and Leonard Grossman agreed to call at the state's atorney's office at 5 p. m. today.

Meanwhile Carruthers was arraigned in Criminal court on charges of rape of a girl 12 years old and crime against children. Chief Justice James F. Fardy assigned the case to Judge Joseph A. Graber and it was continued until Dec. 12.

Divorces Simpson

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. James Simpson Jr., granted divorce yesterday in Waukegan.

Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady in Waukegan yesterday granted an uncontested divorce to Mrs. Ella DeT. Simpson, wife of James Simpson Jr., Chicago attorney, former 10th district congressman, and son of the late utility official. Mrs. Simpson charged cruelty and desertion in a bill filed only a few hours before the divorce was granted.

Mrs. Simpson testified that her husband ordered her out of their home on Wadsworth road, two and one-half miles east of Milburn, Lake county, in the fashionable Mill Creek Hunt club district, a year ago. She also testified that on two occasions in the summer of 1939 Simpson threw dishes and bread at her in their home.

Mrs. Simpson, who was represented by Attorney Alexander F. Beaubien of Waukegan, was awarded the custody of three daughters, Sheila, 7 years old; Diana, 6, and Sandra, 3. An out of court property settlement, details of which were not made public, was approved. Simpson was represented by Werner W. Schroeder, Republican national committeeman.

SEIZE 15 IN RING OF $4,000,000 CARD SWINDLERS

New York, Nov. 26 [Special].—Fifteen alleged members of the elaborate swindling syndicate accused of taking more than $4,000,000 from wealthy business men in crooked card games have been arrested, Assistant District Attorney John J. Rooney of Brooklyn revealed today.

This alleged swindling ring, said to have worked with the efficiency of a modern sales organization, made a big business of card sharping under direction of a trio alleged to have included the fight manager, Hymie Caplin. It was believed one of his accomplices was a woman.

Three sisters are among the 40 persons who, the state asserts, held positions on the swindle syndicate's staff. Two of these women were arrested on grand larceny charges when Caplin was taken into custody last week. A third sister is being sought.

LACK OF LICENSE CLOSES BAR AT COLISIMO'S CAFE

Colosimo's restaurant, 2126-28 Wabash avenue, for many years a gay night club, was dry last night for the first time since prohibition repeal. Police shut down the bar. The restaurant proper was not molested.

License trouble caused the police action. Mike Potson, veteran host of the restaurant, was unable to show a liquor license, altho he produced a certified check of $400 for one. It is understood he was denied the liquor license on the ground that he still owes $500 for back amusement licenses.

Detectives Tom Torpy and William Walsh of the Central station were detailed last night to see that the bar remained closed. Colosimo's restaurant was founded by Big Jim Colosimo, who was murdered there on March 11, 1920.

H. C. Coffman Appointed to Recreation Commission

Mayor Kelly yesterday appointed H. C. Coffman, president of George Williams college, to the Chicago recreation commission. The city council concurred in the appointment.

NITTI PLAYS TAG WITH SHERIFF IN SUIT OVER UNION

Eludes Process Server's Grasp Repeatedly.

Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti, gang leader reported to be suffering from stomach ulcers and awaiting completion of a jury which will try him as an accused union snatcher, played tag yesterday with Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien. The sheriff was trying again to find Nitti to make him a defendant in the bartenders' union receivership suit.

Nitti is on trial in Criminal court before Judge John F. Bolton along with Murray Humphreys and Fred Evans of his personal staff, and Louis Romano and Thomas Panton, ex-officials of the union Nitti is accused of seizing. But under the rules his presence is not actually required in Judge Bolton's courtroom, at least until the 12 jurors are selected. Yesterday only eight had been accepted.

George B. McLane, veteran business agent of the union who called for help last summer and obtained Nitti's indictment, also named Nitti as a defendant in a civil suit. As a result of his criminal complaint, McLane was furnished with a police bodyguard. As a result of his civil complaint, Judge Robert Jerome Dunne appointed a receiver for the union.

"Sheriff O'Brien never was able to find Nitti to serve the summons on him," explained Attorney A. C. Lewis, representing McLane.

"When Nitti surrendered last month on the indictment, the sheriff's process servers reported missing the gang chief again. Nitti surrendered to the sheriff in the Criminal Court building, but the deputy sheriff who had the civil court summons was downtown at the time.

"Then Nitti returned to the courtroom of Chief Justice Fardy to be arraigned, but he left by a side door.

"And then yesterday [Monday] Nitti appeared again in the courtroom of Judge Bolton. But once more the sheriff's deputy who has the invitation for Nitti to appear before Judge Dunne didn't deliver it.

"It begins to appear that Nitti does not want to be a party to our lawsuit. We are trying to get Judge Dunne to dismiss it now, because we have reached an agreement and we are convinced Nitti will let the union alone in the future. But he ought to speak for himself in court."

If the jury is completed in Judge Bolton's court today, Nitti may appear and be notified officially about the hearing tomorrow in Judge Dunne's court.

A DICE SHOOTER TOSSES OUT TWO LOSING NUMBERS

A thief used a brick to smash a window of a fur store at 174 North Michigan avenue on Nov. 17 and stole a $275 fur coat. Police traced the towel in which the brick was wrapped to a hotel at 567 Madison street and learned that John Gerrard, 57 years old, had departed suddenly without leaving a forwarding address. Yesterday Detectives Arnold Bloom and Leo Wolff caught Gerrard stuffing a suit of clothes into his overcoat in a loop store and arrested him. Gerrard denied taking the fur coat until he was subjected to a lie detector test. Then, the detectives said, he confessed. Detectives said he sold the coat for $54—and lost the $54 in half an hour shooting dice.

PROBE HOODLUM SALES RACKET IN TAVERN WATER

Plot to Control the Use of 'Mixers' Charged.

Water, normally considered an innocent commodity, has attracted the attention of the hoodlum syndicate and, according to reports last night, is under investigation by the state's attorney's office.

The water in question is bottled soda, sparkling water, and spring water used for mixing drinks, as "chasers" by convivial persons, and by bartenders who have been urged to join in a round. It represents a business of more than a million dollars annually in Chicago and as a result has caught the eye of the money-hungry mob.

The water racket has been brought to attention of authorities as an outgrowth of the inquiry into alleged hoodlum control in the bartenders' union. The names of Ralph Capone, brother of the retired Al, and a second brother, John [Bottles] Capone, are mentioned as leading figures in the hoodlum bid for tavern bottled water business.

Interested in Beverage Company.

John is interested in the Havana Beverage company at 3410 Lake street, according to reports, and Ralph is said to play a prominent part in a concern known as W. W., Inc., which distributes soda waters.

It is said that muscle methods, ordinary to hoodlum salesmanship in other fields, have not been used in the sale of bar water. Tavern owners say representatives of Capone controled companies tell them their particular brand of water is being pushed by the syndicate, but their salesmanship so far has not included direct action against obstinate tavern owners.

The water is said to enjoy exclusive sale in taverns controled by the syndicate and establishments where owners have become indebted to hoodlums.

Viewed as Step in Drive.

State's Attorney Courtney's office regards the water business move as another step in the drive of Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti to establish a liquor empire in Chicagoland. This alleged plan was brought out in testimony of George McLane, business agent for the bartenders' union, in proceedings before Master in Chancery Isidore Brown.

It was said the syndicate planned to seize the bartenders' union, herd tavern owners into a second organization, and thru both groups force the public to drink hoodlum liquor and use subsidiary hoodlum tavern products.

Tavern owners say that nothing connected with the tavern business is too small to attract the syndicate, and hoodlum representatives have appeared peddling everything from liquor to popcorn and towel service.

672,000 Bottles Sold Monthly.

Bar water is sold in bottles of split size or a little larger, ranging in wholesale price from 4 to 8 cents a bottle, and bringing 10 to 15 cents a bottle over the bar. It also is peddled in half gallon bottles, which sell wholesale at an average price of 42 cents a bottle.

Tavern owners estimated a Chicago tavern uses an average of four cases a month. On a basis of 7,000 Chicago taverns, the total would approximate 672,000 bottles a month.

One tavern owner said last night that despite the absence of muscle methods in salesmanship, he considered it "a good idea to have a bottle of the hoodlum water on hand in case some of the boys drop in."

Seeking Estate

MRS. MAGDALEN LANSKOP.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

MISS FRANCES GRUNDMAN.

Testimony that the late Dr. Emanuel Friend considered his wife "mentally ill" featured the suit yesterday in Superior court where Mrs. Magdalen Friend Lanskop is seeking to have Dr. Friend's will set aside in order that she may receive half of the $2,000,000 Friend fortune.

The witness, Miss Frances Grundman of Upland, Cal., a nurse, said she attended Mrs. Friend from 1930 to 1935 and had seen her occasionally from 1935 to 1939. On Dec. 30, 1930, Dr. Friend told Miss Grundman that he considered his wife mentally ill, she testified. Miss Grundman also said she considered Mrs. Friend mentally ill at the time she sued for divorce in 1933, and thereafter until 1935. From subsequent observations, Miss Grundman said she believed Mrs. Friend had recovered her sanity.

Mrs. Lanskop is asking that the divorce decree, won by Dr. Friend after he filed a crossbill, be set aside on the ground that she was mentally unsound when it was granted. This would have the effect of making her Dr. Friend's widow, nullifying her subsequent marriage to George Lanskop, who was her gardener, and entitling her to a widow's share of the Friend fortune.

CHARGE LAWYER IS 'NO. 2 MAN' OF MRS. JOSLYN

Ex-Husband Objects to $24,000 Divorce Fee.

The Joslyn divorce case, which presumably ended Oct. 1 when Mrs. Charlotte C. Joslyn won a divorce, bobbed up with an unexpected aftermath yesterday when her lawyer, Thomas Hart Fisher, was named in court as "the No. 2 man in her life."

Fisher, husband of Ruth Page, the dancer, and son of the late Walter L. Fisher, traction expert and secretary of the interior under President Taft, denied and denounced the accusation.

Alimony Increase Denied.

The attorney represented Mrs. Joslyn in her divorce suit against George R. Joslyn, wealthy manufacturer. Mutual charges of misconduct were dropped by the couple, with Mrs. Joslyn finally being given the decree and $500 monthly alimony.

Yesterday Fisher appeared before Judge John C. Lewe and asked that the alimony be raised to $1,500. This was denied. He then asked for $24,000 for fees and expenses. Here Alvin Hubbard, attorney for Joslyn, stepped in.

Hubbard read a prepared statement in which he charged that Fisher and Mrs. Joslyn had "formed an unlawful relation, not that of attorney and client," and "that such illegal relation is of such moral turpitude as to disentitle Fisher from any fees."

Brands Charges as False.

Fisher protested the charge as being "false as false can be," asked that Hubbard be censured, and threatened to carry his protests to the higher courts and the bar association.

Hubbard persisted in his accusations, however, asserting that Fisher "was a frequent visitor to Mrs. Joslyn's bedroom and I can prove it." In an aside remark, he called Fisher "the number 2 man in this woman's life." At another time he declared, "we do not want to pay counsel for the time he spent taking Mrs. Joslyn on her outings."

Judge Lewe ordered Master John J. Kelly to hold hearings on the fee question, struck out the paragraph in Hubbard's statement to which Fisher had objected, and said Kelly may use his own discretion in admitting Hubbard's charges against Fisher.

ARRAIGN PASTOR IN ALLEGED LIBEL OF CAPT. GILBERT

The Rev. Elmer L. Williams, editor of the monthly publication "Lightnin'," was arraigned yesterday before Chief Justice James F. Fardy in Criminal court on an indictment charging criminal libel. The case was assigned to Judge Walter J. La Buy and Dec. 6 was set for entry of motions. No plea was entered on Williams' behalf because of preliminary motions his attorney indicated will be made.

The alleged libel was directed against Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office, and M. W. Zuckerman and Barney Novak, furriers at 17 North State street.

Williams' attorney indicated he will ask the appointment of a special prosecutor on the ground that the interest of the state's attorney's office in the case would prejudice the prosecution.

AS THE WAR GOES INTO THE WINTER.

Lord Lothian, the British ambassador, has been criticized in some quarters of London because, on returning to Washington from consultation with his government, he said that Britain was beginning to come to the end of its financial resources. Next year, he said, would be a difficult one and the British would need all kinds of war materials, planes, munitions, and ships, and "perhaps finance."

The home criticism was that the ambassador had taken a gloomy view which would discourage the victims of Hitler in Europe, if not the British themselves, and that what he said did not represent the true situation. The financial experts estimate that the British are very far from the end of their resources. Their available investments convertible into dollar credits are still very great.

In Washington the ambassador's remarks were interpreted to mean that some time in January the new congress will be asked to take up the repeal of the Johnson act forbidding loans to debtors in default. It is assumed that even if Great Britain is not in need of money now, a long war will bring that need. By the time it presents itself, if it does, the situation in the United States will have changed.

Some war industries now are going strong and others are getting a start. In a year or more the sale of war materials to the British will be on a much larger scale and a great industry will be dependent on these orders. Possibly the American demand for armament will come along to require full capacity for its own purposes, but there will be a great British business which the American enterprises will not want to lose. The request for a loan, naturally, would expect the indorsement and the political influence of Americans interested in the trade. That happened in the other war and probably will happen again.

Lord Lothian's position is a delicate one. He, like every other advocate of the British cause, must balance himself between saying too much of the British determination and ability to win and too little of the aid they will need for their victory. Too little confidence would be discouraging, too much might seem to make help not quite so important. Mr. Churchill's tone has been to say that the danger was great, that sacrifices would be many, that the period of agony long, but that success would crown the efforts of Hitler's enemies.

Forecasts of the hardships and miseries the war will cause this winter probably are not exaggerated. They will not be confined to any one country. They will be experienced on the continent as well as on the British Isles. They may be less in Germany than in the countries Germany dominates, but the Germans will not be spared. What has been nerve-racking in autumn weather will become more so in the bitter cold. Precautions are being taken against disease, but the conditions are such as breed plagues. If there is malnutrition, that will be a companion to disease.

In every country, including Germany, there must be people who are wondering if the continuance of life upon such terms is inevitable until there has been some final smashing blow. There are persons who think that any effort to reach a peace of compromise is a sin against humanity. There are others who less passionately examine the situation and turn away from it hopelessly because they see nothing tolerable or dependable which could come out of a negotiated peace. They cannot see a world which would be worthy of the name civilization or serviceable to it unless the forces which control continental Europe are shaken off and destroyed.

People who turn away hopelessly from the problem as it exists are matched by people who cannot view the solution by force with any greater degree of hope. If a present day peace cannot be obtained by any possible compromises it must also be said that there is no more prospect of reaching a favorable decision by arms. There is the terrifying dilemma. It is what will make this winter so hopeless.

SUBWAY.

Chicago's transportation problem has been the subject of news and editorial comment for generations. Back files of the newspapers in recent years are filled with headlines such as "Transit Merger Decision Near," "Expect Transit Settlement in Next 48 Hours," "More U. S. Funds to Dig Subway," etc. And yet no final agreement upon a unified system has been reached to date.

So far as the subway is concerned, it has never been made clear just what the advantages are to be of the 7.7 miles of tunnel now under construction. Speed, comfort, and frequency of service are the principal things lacking in all the different lines of the present system. This improvement could be effected by the use of new and more modern equipment. A system of tracks underground will not necessarily bring it about.

Recently an additional federal grant of $5,130,000 to extend the Dearborn street subway under Congress street to the Chicago river was approved in Washington. The extension will cost $[illegible],000,000, of which $870,000 will be paid by the city. In connection with this grant the city is required to extend the Congress street subway and create a Lake street subway extension as soon as funds are available.

The Congress street addition would extend under the Chicago river and connect with the Metropolitan elevated lines at Racine avenue. Likewise the Lake street extension would run from the present Dearborn street tunnel in Lake street to a connection with the Lake street "L" east of Racine avenue. These two connections should make it possible for west side trains now using the loop to enter the loop underground and go thru the Dearborn street subway and eliminate the two sides of the elevated loop in Wabash avenue and in Lake street.

If these two objectives can be accomplished thru practical train operation property values in the neighborhood will be increased, the retail shopping district and other business establishments will expand toward the east and north, and at least part of the noisy elevated loop nuisance will be eliminated.

WAITING FOR THE SECOND TABLE.

Cleveland got the federal airplane engine laboratory that Chicago wanted. The Association of Commerce did its best to bring the laboratory to this city, but political as well as business influence was needed and no one in Washington ever heard of Chicago's nine rubber stamp congressmen.

Columbus, Ga., which hasn't previously bulked large on the national industrial scene, is enjoying the greatest boom in its 113 years of existence. It has gained 5,000 citizens since the army started building barracks at nearby Fort Benning.

Agents of the quartermaster corps are buying 2,200 acres of land near Lake City, Mo., for a gigantic small arms plant, to be built by the Remington Arms company. It will cost $73,565,261.

All this information appeared in a single edition of THE TRIBUNE. There was no notice of any similar projects being alloted to Chicago, and it wasn't just a bad day for Chicago, either. There haven't been any such projects. Chicago, as usual when federal money is passed out, is invited to wait for the second table, even if it did do a substantial part of buying the turkey, thru its tax payments.

Congressman Elect Charles S. Dewey is already in Washington, trying to get Chicago some of the armament business for which its huge industrial plant and large labor supply fit it. The other Chicago congressmen haven't been any use to the city in the past, but it is not too late for them to mend their ways. They should get behind Mr. Dewey.

Notre Dame has returned the football used in the Army game to the cadets as a trophy. Capt. Milt Piepul wrote on it "Morally it's yours" and all the Notre Dame players autographed the ball and they asked the Army captain to send it to Heffner, a cadet back who played splendidly against them and who is in a hospital. Notre Dame won the game, but was thought to have been rather more pushed around to a narrower squeak than a victor should be.

The moving pictures proved that Cornell defeated Dartmouth by a touchdown scored on a fifth down. The photo finish showed that Dartmouth had won, 3-0, and had not lost, 7-3. Cornell returned the victory to Hanover. In the pictures of the Ohio State-Purdue game it was found that the field goal which won for Ohio had been kicked by a player who was disqualified. The new spirit of the game will yet prompt Ohio to ask Purdue to accept apologies and a tie score. No complications followed the Michigan-Ohio game. Pictures are not needed after 40-0. No one in Columbus wants to look at them.

The Michigan-Northwestern pictures are said to show that the score when Northwestern made its final surge down to the Michigan goal should have been 15-13 instead of 20-13. A play which should have scored two points scored seven. With the one score a field goal would have been sufficient, but Northwestern doesn't ask for anything on the pictures. It is satisfied with 20-0 against Notre Dame. In the Harvard-Penn game Harvard tied the score with a field goal in the closing minutes. If the head linesman had properly reported an off side Harvard could have accepted the penalty, refused the three tying points, and have tried for seven points with a first down on the two yard line.

The moral victory used to be something the old grads consoled themselves with on Monday at lunch after they had paid their bets. The photo finish and the new conscience is putting it on the score board.

DESIGNS ON MADAGASCAR.

A Parisian newspaper which is supposed to reflect the views of Vice Premier Laval thinks that the United States wants to take Madagascar from the French. The island would then become a base for operations against the Japanese, so this newspaper alleges.

A lot of funny things are happening these days in Washington and elsewhere and it is probably imprudent to declare that anything is out of the question, however fantastic it appears to be. Still, a lot more evidence will be required than is now available before we can believe there is any foundation for this yarn. A nation which is getting out of the Philippines would not be likely at the same time to take on Madagascar, which is less of an asset and as great a liability. We think that M. Laval can dismiss that one from his mind and do his worrying about matters which more immediately menace France's future.

GOOD-BY, ROGER! SORRY!

[Detroit News.]

In baseball circles little knots of bewildered men are asking, "What did Roger Peckinpaugh do that they name him manager of the Cleveland Indians?" They say he is as nice a guy as you would want to meet, kind to his people and a credit to the game. But that doesn't count, it seems.

Once before Roger served a five year term with Cleveland which ended in 1933 when he was restored to society, a free man. We thought he was going straight, and perhaps he was. But they won't let him alone. Comes a little trouble in Cleveland and he becomes a suspect. His past will not down. They run him in and make him sign a paper. It turns out to be a contract.

Here is Thanksgiving coming on, the season of cheer and light and laughter, but not for Roger. He is back on the Cleveland rock pile. Our hearts go out to him in this, his hour of darkness, and to his loved ones who had begun to lift their heads thinking that their Roger had lived down his past. From most valuable player in the league in 1925 to manager of the Indians in '41—what a success story in reverse for a fellow who never did anybody any harm!

WHAT'S BECOME OF MR. SHAW?

The reappearance of Shaw's "Pygmalion" on the Chicago stage reminds us that the garrulous old Voltaire of England has not raised his voice in any characteristic vein since the war blight fell upon Europe. If he spoke freely, it would be in some unorthodox manner; therefore, it may be assumed that he has at last chosen to be more or less silent, or else has been slightly gagged by censorship and legislation for defense of the realm. And then, we must remember, his age is a ripe fourscore years and four.

"Pygmalion," popular because of its comedy scenes and its love story, is based upon a scholarly subject which was once Shaw's hobby: phonetics. He is probably the only dramatist in the history of the theater who could find a play in this field of study. He based the character of Henry Higgins, who went about London recording regional accents in a shorthand of his invention, upon an Oxford professor named Sweet, who flourished about 40 years ago.

Shaw says in his preface to "Pygmalion":

"The English have no respect for their language and will not teach their children to speak it. They spell it so abominably that no man can teach himself what it sounds like. It is impossible for an Englishman to open his mouth without making some other Englishman hate or despise him."

He ends this essay with the statement that "there is too little of the noble English of Forbes-Robertson" spoken on the stage. . . . And yet this same Forbes-Robertson made a funeral pyre of the stage setting for Shaw's "Antony and Cleopatra" as a gesture of protest against his political opinions in the world war!

ODE TO MARS.

Sadly we ask of you, mighty Mars,
Cruel Moloch among the stars,
Filling the heavens with din and dread,
Staining the light of the moon with red,
Why are your bolts of vengeance hurled
Down on our pitiful little world?

What have you won with your deadly darts?
Broken bodies and broken hearts,
Toppling steeples and crashing domes,
Crumbling castles and bomb-wrecked homes.
What will you profit, at last, what gain
From a world in ruins and people slain?

If you could ever only restore
A child or a leaf to life once more,
Or ever give back to men the faith
That now suffices them in death:
O, if you could see, or hear, or feel—
But your heart is flint and your body steel.

Yet surely somewhere among the stars,
Eclipsed by your evil shadow, Mars,
Somewhere is hidden the Star of Hope;
And, thru the darkness, again will grope,
Meekly led by its gentle gleam,
Wise Men dreaming the olden Dream.

Eolus.

The Family That Built McVicker's.

Regarding "The Lost Apostrophe of Madison Street" [Nov. 21]: Several contributors have supplied evidence to prove that McVicker's theater carried its apostrophe thru the many years of its dramatic fame. The loss seems to have occurred when vaudeville, and then the movies, took over this historic playhouse.

Two granddaughters of J. H. McVicker, who built this Chicago landmark, are now living in New York [325 East 41st street]. They are the Misses Affie and Horatia McVicker. They are the last members of the family. Their mother, Mrs. Horace McVicker, died on Nov. 18, aged 85. She had a long stage career under the name of Affie Weaver, and was Edwin Booth's leading woman in "Richard II." on the night when a demented patron of McVicker's fired a revolver at him.

AUTHOR OF "THANATOPSIS."

[William Cullen Bryant, 1794-1878.]

He, like Adonis, in the woods was found
By some Parnassian goddess wandering there;
His brain she ravished with a thrill profound
And woke the slumbering genius in his care.
She loved him for the candor in his heart,
His eagerness to honor nature's power,
His solemn young devotion to his art,
And for she met him on a happy hour.
One day she gave him; touched his lips with fire,
Then like th' imperial votaress passed on;
But ere she could beyond his sight retire,
He spoke the lines that mark poetic dawn.
Tho long he sought and labored past fourscore,
That first immortal strain returned no more.

Speaking of Campaign Biographies.

You mention William Dean Howells' campaign biography of Lincoln, written in 1860 [Nov. 15]. He must have enjoyed the exercise, for in 1876 he picked on Rutherford B. Hayes for another victim. See Paine's biography of Mark Twain, volume 2, page 582. Fred W. Blaisdell.

LIFE BENEATH THE WAVES.

MOST of us are perfectly content to live on the surface of the earth—with no desire to use the stratosphere or the ocean's depths as a permanent place of abode. Nevertheless, the spirit of conquest has resulted in spectacular developments in aviation, while submarines can maneuver substantial distances beneath the waves.

But what about respiration? The blood cannot keep vital organs on the go unless oxygen is available. When at rest, every adult requires about 10 ounces of this element per minute, or approximately 750 cubic feet in each 24 hours. These quantities will need to be increased if hard work is performed. This explains why sub crews are taught to perform their duties with the least possible effort.

No harm seems to follow rebreathing air for long periods of time, just so new oxygen is supplied and the normal percentage is maintained. The plan adopted by the navy is to carry enough in a submarine to last the personnel [40 to 50 men] about 72 hours. Efficiency is possible with the ratio around 20 per cent; but should it drop to 15, discomfort may be expected.

What are these signs? First of all, there is a feeling akin to alcoholic intoxication. Judgment is distorted and a sense of superiority comes on. If this persists for any length of time, involving the one in command, the situation becomes potentially hazardous. Later, loss of consciousness may appear suddenly, or reasoning power and muscle coördination be interfered with. In this connection, we must recall that such structures as the brain and spinal cord demand much more vital air. Since these are the key parts of the body, we will be in danger should they go out of commission.

What becomes of the carbon dioxide that is exhaled? Control devices are so arranged that this is not allowed to rise above three per cent, altho most individuals can withstand a level of five. An absorbing apparatus picks up the gas and withdraws it from the atmosphere. Then, too, heat must be guarded against. In small spaces, the caloric from human bodies may add greatly to distress. For this reason the air is circulated thru cooling coils to remove not only heat but excessive moisture.

We can understand what happens in a diving bell or during tunnel construction when we realize that we are composed of about 80 per cent water and 15 per cent semi-fluid matter [including fat], with only 5 per cent bone. The soft parts and the water will absorb the mixture of gases which make up air. But only oxygen is used, leaving the nitrogen as just so much useless material.

If the pressure is high, this latter substance is forced gradually into the cells. When the pumps are cut off gradually—in other words, when the patient is decompressed slowly—nitrogen is again taken up by the circulation and is passed off thru the lungs. But when the pressure is reduced rapidly, bubbles are formed in the tissues or in the blood stream. This malady, known as "caisson disease" or "the bends" gives rise to symptoms which may be serious—with temperature, pain, and inability to stand, etc.

Recent experiments show that helium plus oxygen has very decided advantages over ordinary "ozone" for deep sea diving. By means of this combination the diver experiences no mental dullness, whereas with air he may become so confused that work cannot proceed.

All this again emphasizes that when we attempt to live outside our natural environment we must duplicate mechanically the conditions to which we are accustomed. The success of aviation has been due in large part to protecting pilots with extra oxygen for breathing at high altitudes.

TYPES OF SUGAR.

L. S. writes: What is the difference between dextrose and ordinary sugar?

REPLY.

During digestion—in the presence of water—cane sugar splits into dextrose [glucose] and levulose. Each of the resulting compounds has the same number of atoms of carbon, hydrogen, and oxygen. These fractions are readily absorbed and converted into energy.

WHISKY IN DIABETES.

J. J. B. writes: Does the use of whisky by a diabetic increase the sugar in the blood?

REPLY.

It may prevent the oxidation [burning] of sugar and hence allow it to accumulate.

SAYS: FEED THE STARVING.

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 25.—A short time ago you printed a letter giving reasons for not feeding Europe's starving people and signed by several leading ministers of the gospel and laymen.

On Nov. 10 Dr. Ernest Fremont Tittle, pastor of the First Methodist church and a nationally known leader, preached a sermon, "Should Europe's Hungry Be Fed?" He took the other side of the question, and in concluding he said:

"To contend that the evil of Hitlerism can only be overcome with the evil of a food blockade is to fly in the face of history. Also, it is to fly in the face of God, who thru Jesus Christ has plainly said that evil cannot be overcome with more evil, but only with good. 'If thine enemy hunger, feed him.'

"And what may the God of Christian faith be supposed to recommend when the hungry in Belgium say, 'Feed us'; and the naked in Holland, with winter approaching, say, 'Clothe us'; and the sick in Norway say, 'Visit us'; and the desperate in Poland say, 'Come unto us'? To let these poor people suffer and die would be to deny the wisdom of God in favor of a human wisdom which, over and over again, has proved to be ruinous folly.

"If civilization is to be preserved, something decent and daring must now be done. Peoples that walk in darkness in a world at war, if they are not to go mad with terror and suffering, must begin to see light ahead. . . . This relief plan, if the American people should propose it and the British government accept it and the German government live up to it and 'the little countries' be blessed by it, might, under God, become the means of saving the world from another dark age and placing it in the way of healing and hope." BESS MACKAY.

IS SHE PREPARING THE WAY?

Henry, Ill., Nov. 23.—Already the ghost writers and experts are busy with pen and oratory to put the New Deal policies of government ownership and state Socialism into practice by preparing fertile soil.

The first lady of the land in her recent address in the Springfield state armory, said: "Do not be afraid to give up rights of a free people if giving up means we are to preserve our way of life, because as a free people we can always get them back again whenever we want them."

Is it possible that she is preparing the way? It has happened elsewhere. Will congress give up its constitutional rights and the executive be supreme? Must the liberty for which our forefathers died be cast aside without any qualms?

The emergency of preëlection days seems to have faded into the mist. Does it not seem that discretion would be the better part of patriotism?

DISTURBED.

DON'T FORGET CHILDREN HERE.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—I commend Mr. James E. Mears' suggestion to send a pound or so of tea or of sugar to our acquaintances in the British Isles who, we are told, will be suffering from a shortage of tea and sugar during the winter.

To this worthy suggestion I should like to add my own: That for every dollar we spend for tea and sugar for our friends across the sea, we give a dollar to feed the undernourished children of Chicago.

A. C.

FROM A LOYAL HOOSIER.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 24.—I am a Hoosier and Marjorie C. Burtscher's letter in your paper is not pleasing to me. She is envious of Indiana people because THE TRIBUNE at times gives space to their letters. Perhaps THE TRIBUNE knows Indiana people are loyal and thoro readers, whereas the majority of Chicagoans read only the headlines on the front page because they are too busy chasing the dollar and going to night clubs. Miss Burtscher also says Hoosiers come to Chicago to gain a livelihood. She is mistaken. There are nearly three million Hoosiers permanently anchored in Indiana. Many of these frequently visit Chicago, ofttimes to their sorrow. Some years ago an Indiana farmer took a carload of hogs to Chicago. After he had sold them he started to take in the city. On the second day his wife received a telegram which read: "Ma, I met two Chicago slickers and they got all my money; send me enough to get home." Another farmer who took some hogs to Chicago said when he got back: "I saved myself but I lost the hogs."

Forty-odd years ago I left my native heath, came to Chicago and ventured into business with money which I had saved in Indiana. I soon lost out. Chicago people were too keen and avaricious for a confiding and trusting Hoosier. But I have no ill feeling toward Chicago. It is still "Your Chicago and mine" because it is the home of THE TRIBUNE, which has the best editorial page of any newspaper in the middle west.

I don't believe the majority of Illinois people share Miss Burtscher's views about Indiana people. Recently Illinois elected a new governor who was born and reared in the glorious state of Indiana.

JOHN H. LANG.

ABUSING THE TREMOLO.

Manchester, Ia., Nov. 25.—Can you not persuade Edward Barry to inform Len Salvo that the tremolo in a pipe organ is designed for use only in the most restricted manner, never with full organ? Nothing is more excruciating to the musical ear than abuse of that delicate effect by making fortissimo passages sound like a roller skater with St. Vitus dance. Finished organists are never guilty of such barbarous practices. Others should be taught or suppressed. H. L. R.

JOB ON A DUMMY ELEVATOR.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—The county budget season is on again. As usual, the county treasurer's office is going to put a union man to operate a dummy elevator that runs from the basement to the second floor. This elevator has previously been operated by the public and employés, but this is a new way to create a new job at the taxpayers' expense. Your paper fought this move last year and did a good job. Hoping you will do the same this year. I thank you. J. T. Y.

A MOTORIST'S TROUBLES.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—Can't we get a "Stop and Go" light where Cermak road and Ogden avenue meet at Harding avenue? A pedestrian wastes about 15 minutes trying to cross there, especially now with Ogden avenue torn up, as those cars going down Ogden avenue claim the right of way and will not stop. Cars down Cermak road even have a hard time crossing. Now that Cermak road has been widened, the traffice is unusually heavy and I think lights are warranted here more than at Hamlin avenue where they have just been installed.

Also, I am having trouble with parking my car. Before Cermak road was widened the fire plug was located in the middle of an empty yard about two houses from us. After the street was widened the fire plug was put in front of our house. Last week a policeman came to my dad and said I wasn't allowed to park there. Where am I allowed to park if there is a fire plug in front of my house?

MISS LOUISE MACHAN.

A GOOD HOSPITAL REPORT.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—I am in ward 73, Cook county hospital. I have been here about seven weeks and report that the care and everything that goes with it has been good. We have some patients who are not satisfied, but most of them are. We had a wonderful Thanksgiving dinner in our ward, and 18 in the convalescent part of the ward sat at the table. They did justice to the dinner our chef and dietitian prepared for us. The rest of us who are bedridden received our portion and more than we could eat.

When supper came around we were served with oysters and a few more things, but we were not very hungry. We thank the personnel.

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. LIABILITY FOR LOAN.

Galena, Ill., Nov. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—If a married man borrows money, giving note, and his mother signs note with him, and his mother dies leaving no estate—

1. Can note be collected by sale of personal property and real estate? His wife has not signed note.

2. What is a married man allowed in case they close on him? H. R.

1. Yes, as far as the facts stated are concerned.

2. The personal property exemption is $200 worth and the real estate homestead exemption a $1,000 life interest.

WANTS TO STOP BUS LINES' FREE USE OF STREETS

Ald. Quinn Names Group to Draft Franchise.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Compensation from the Chicago Motor Coach company for the use of city streets will be required if the city council passes a proposed city franchise ordinance for the company, according to Ald. James R. Quinn, chairman of the council local transportation committee.

Ald. Quinn said yesterday that the city will seek payment by the coach company of a sum proportionate to compensation now paid the park district for motor coach use of park boulevards. This would bring the city at least $70,000 a year, Quinn estimated.

Approximately 75 per cent of the company's 150 miles of routes is on park boulevards. Its payments to the park district are on the basis of about 5 per cent of gross revenues, or $210,000 a year.

Special Committee Named.

Ald. Quinn announced the appointment of Ald. John J. Duffy [19th] as chairman of a subcommittee to draw up the separate franchise for the coach company. The transportation committee on Monday voted to name the subcommittee, after the bus company declared it would prefer not to sell its properties to the proposed new transit company which will operate the surface and elevated lines under a unified franchise.

Ald. Duffy announced the first subcommittee meeting will be held Friday.

"This business of the bus company's operating in Chicago without a franchise from the city must stop," Ald. Duffy asserted. "The subcommittee will continue to meet until definite recommendations for a franchise are completed."

Key points to be included in the franchise, according to Ald. Quinn, are:

1. Compensation, either thru a percentage of the company's gross revenues or by a charge of a flat sum per bus. On a percentage basis, the city would require about 5 per cent of revenues for mileage operated on city streets, Quinn said. An alternative would be a fee of $125 per bus. Either method would produce about $70,000 a year.

Short Term Franchise.

2. A short term franchise to run for only a few years or perhaps on a day-to-day basis. Ald. Quinn explained that the ultimate objective of the city is to have the coach company included in the unified transit system under one franchise. This objective is being set aside temporarily in order to speed up unification plans for the surface and elevated lines, he added. An attempt to bring the bus company into the unification at this time might start a lengthy controversy, Quinn said.

3. Requirement by the city that the coach company make a universal transfer agreement with the surface and elevated lines. The company already exchanges transfers with the elevated and has offered to do so with the surface lines.

4. Provision that the bus company can at any time sell its properties to the proposed unified transit company and thus become part of a single coordinated transportation system.

Franchise Sought in 1936.

William H. Sexton, special traction attorney for the city, said yesterday that under the "home rule" act of 1935 the city can force the bus company to obtain a franchise for the use of streets. The bus company in 1936 applied for a franchise and offered to pay 3 per cent of its revenues applicable to mileage operated on city streets. Action on this was delayed because the bus company offered to come under a unified traction franchise.

The Illinois Commerce commission yesterday continued to Dec. 10 a hearing on a pending petition asking a reduction of the bus company's 10 cent fare.

Sea Tragedy

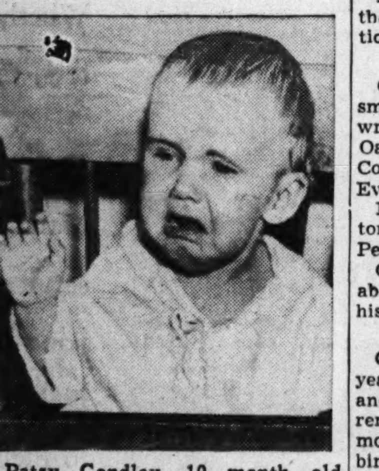
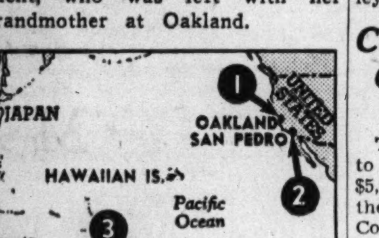
Wing On, yacht which was wrecked on Fiji Islands, as it left Oakland, Cal., on trip which resulted in death of at least two who were on craft.



Patsy Condley, 10 month old daughter of couple who sailed on yacht, who was left with her grandmother at Oakland.



The small yacht sailed from Oakland (1) with Mr. and Mrs. Delton Condley aboard. Another couple boarded the yacht at San Pedro (2). The wreckage, with a sole survivor and the bodies of a man and woman aboard, was found in the Fiji Islands. It was believed another man was buried at sea.

BATTERED YACHT REVEALS A TRAGIC SOUTH SEAS TALE

Woman Is Only Survivor; Fear 3 Others Starved.

SUVA, Fiji Islands, Nov. 26 (AP).—A mysterious tragedy of the sea was disclosed today when word was received that the wreckage of a small American yacht, with a lone woman survivor aboard, had been discovered on a reef off a remote part of Vanua Levu Island.

The bodies of a man and a woman were found aboard the yacht, the Wing On, and it was believed another man had been buried at sea. The woman found aboard the wreckage was believed to be Fern Thompson of Salt Lake City, Utah. Gravely ill when the wreckage was discovered Sunday, she was placed in the hospital here.

Starvation was believed to have caused the deaths of the others.

No information was available as to the origin of the yacht or its destination.

Yacht Sailed from Oakland.

Oakland, Cal., Nov. 26 (AP).—The small sailing yacht, Wing On, found wrecked in the South Seas, left Oakland last summer with Delton Condley, 26 years old, and his wife, Eve, 20, aboard.

Mrs. A. M. Condley, mother of Delton, said the couple went to San Pedro to pick up another couple.

Other sources said the other couple aboard was Robert Thompson, and his wife, Fern, of San Pedro.

Stork Halts Hawaiian Trip.

Condley and his bride left here a year ago for Hawaii in the small craft and three days later the coast guard removed Mrs. Condley, an expectant mother, from the yacht. She gave birth to a boy.

This year the couple started out again, leaving their baby with Condley's mother.

$50 A DAY YULE TREE PEDDLING LAW DELAYED

Objections raised by Ald. James J. McDermott [14th] yesterday temporarily sidetracked an ordinance designed to discourage out of town peddlers from selling Christmas trees in Chicago.

The ordinance, offered by Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th], would require the outsiders to pay a daily license fee of $50. Ross argued that the itinerant venders pay no license fees, but compete with small stores that do pay them.

Ald. McDermott warned that if the ordinance is passed "Christmas trees will go sky high, and thousands of children will not have them in their homes Christmas day." The ordinance was sent to the committee on licenses for further consideration.

CITY ACCEPTS CONGRESS ST. SUBWAY GRANT

The city council voted yesterday to accept a federal subway grant of $5,130,000 providing for extension of the Dearborn street subway under Congress street to the Chicago river. The ordinance requires the city to contribute $870,000 toward the extension, which is expected to cost $6,000,000.

The federal grant increases government allotments for the subway to $23,130,000. The city's share is $28,000,000 for the actual subway construction and $5,250,000 for building connections with the elevated structures, instaling station equipment, escalators, and ventilators.

The entire subway project is to be completed by June 30, 1941, under the terms of the new grant. It also requires the city to build subway connections with the Lake street and Metropolitan lines of the elevated as soon as funds are available.

Buses to Replace Trolleys on East Side of Airport

The city council yesterday granted permission to the Chicago Surface lines to operate motor buses instead of streets cars on Cicero avenue from Archer avenue to 64th street along the east side of Chicago airport. Ald. Michael P. Hogan [13th], who asked for the action, said the street car company has agreed to remove trolley poles near the airport if buses are substituted.

SNOW FLURRIES FORECAST TODAY IN STORM'S WAKE

Relief Looms After 5.4 Inch Fall.

Light snow flurries and temperatures in the low 30s with moderate north and northwest winds, was the forecast for today in Chicago. Light snows and general cloudiness were predicted thruout the north central states.

Yesterday Chicago and the surrounding states were blanketed by snow borne by strong northeast winds. The maximum velocity in Chicago was 30 miles per hour at 12:07 p. m. The snowfall in the city measured 5.4 inches and the amount on the ground at 6:30 p. m. was 4.2 inches.

Drops to 29 Degrees.

The low temperature reading yesterday was 29 degrees at 10 a. m. The highest was 34 at 9 a. m. and 9 p. m. It is expected that the mercury will drop to 28 degrees early today, but will rise during the afternoon.

Traffic was slowed down thruout the city and in the area from Nebraska to Ohio and from southern Illinois to the Canadian border. There were minor accidents with cars sliding on slippery streets and highways but all roads still were open.

The Chicago surface lines put 110 snow sweepers into operation and reported no delays. Only a few elevated trains were behind schedule and officials of the rapid transit company ran extra trains during rush hours. The Chicago Motor Coach company had 20 sand spreaders in action and all buses were operating. Park district employés began strewing salt and sand on the boulevards.

Air Lines Cancel Trips.

National train and bus schedules were unimpaired. More than 90 per cent of scheduled air line flights—both to and from Chicago—were canceled, however, because of poor flying conditions.

Heavy snow fell thruout Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Wisconsin, Kansas, and Nebraska. Sleet also iced the highways and damaged power lines. The Chicago Motor club warned automobile drivers against traveling thru the affected areas unless absolutely necessary.

SOUTHERN TEXAS AWAITS INCREASE IN FLOOD WATER

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 26 (AP).—Deep south Texas awaited tonight the blow of more flood waters piled on those which have ravaged it for two days, driving hundreds from their homes, isolating scores, and causing inestimable crop and live stock damage. Fair weather is forecast for tomorrow.

While the débris littered Panhandle cities of Amarillo, Borger, and Pampa thawed slowly, five major Texas rivers—the Brazos, the Colorado, the San Jacinto, the Sabine, and the Trinity—threatened to fan over still more lush countryside. Only the Guadalupe showed any signs of receding.

Arch Glover was reported drowned near Centerville while trying to save 60 head of cattle. He was believed to be the only flood victim in the state. An indication of the tremendous loss of cattle in Harris [Houston] county was given by three ranchmen who estimated their combined loss at 10,000 head.

PRIZE LIVE STOCK ARRIVING; SHOW OPENS SATURDAY

The influx of $5,000,000 worth of prize animals continued in Chicago yesterday for the International Live Stock show which opens in the International Amphitheatre Saturday. Hundreds of high bred horses, cattle, sheep and swine are on their way from all parts of the United States and Canada for exhibition in agriculture's greatest show. Most of the 13,500 farm animals which will compete for prizes have won honors at sectional, state, and county fairs.

PAPAGO INDIANS OF ARIZONA SET FOR FAMED FETE

St. Francis Xavier Day to Be Observed Dec. 3.

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 26 [Special]. — The Papago Indians of southern Arizona are getting ready to celebrate their greatest fiesta of the year, and white folk from all over America are getting ready to watch the celebration. The occasion is the day of St. Francis Xavier.

Dec. 3 is the day dedicated to the memory of this saint in the church calendar, but the Indians include the preceding day and the following one in their observance. The fiesta is held at the old Mission San Xavier del Bac, about eight miles south of Tucson.

In addition to the Papagos, nearly the entire population of the Yaqui village, on the outskirts of this city, usually attends. Yaqui ceremonial dancers and a band add to the color.

5,000 Indians Attend Fête.

Last year more than 5,000 Indians arrived at the mission for the three day fête. Some of them traveled in motor cars of ancient vintage, others were in wagons drawn by nondescript ponies, and still others walked many miles across the desert.

Following vesper services on the first day, the Yaqui bandsmen and dancers go into action with a series of symbolic gyrations. Firecrackers are exploded, skyrockets are fired, and wheels of colored fire are burned while a procession carries a lifesize statue of St. Francis around the mission grounds.

After that the crowd swarms to the feast house in the Indian village. There music in the Mexican tempo is heard as flying feet go thru their steps to the monotonous tom-tom of the drums. This lasts all night.

Feast House Ever Active.

Activity in the feast house never ceases. Only one meal is served in the course of the fiesta—but it is a continuous meal.

Most of the second day is given over to religious observance. The final day is taken up with tribal meetings, but the festive angle is not overlooked, and the feast house is usually crowded.

San Xavier del Bac is the northernmost of a chain of missions established in Sonora, Mexico, and southern Arizona during the Spanish régime. Long periods of neglect, vandalism, and desert storms left their mark on the structure, but the Indians prevented it from becoming an absolute ruin. Work begun by the church authorities in 1906 has restored the mission to its former magnificence.

FETE OF NATIVITY DRAWS 60,000 TO DRAB MINE TOWN

Madrid, N. M., Prepares for Christmas Pageant.

Madrid, N. M., Nov. 26 [Special].—One of the most unusual Christmas observances to be found anywhere is about to transform this drab community into a glitter of lights and color.

Madrid is a little coal mining town, about 20 miles south of Santa Fe. For 48 weeks a year it is as grimy and spiritless as any other mining town. But for the other four weeks it spruces up, and springs to life, as its contribution to the Christmas spirit.

The spectacle includes realistic Biblical scenes and figures against a background of pine and cedar clad hills, avenues of festooned arches, and miles of living evergreens and gigantic candles. The scene is so brilliantly floodlighted that more than 40,000 electric lamps, consuming half a million kilowatts, are required.

Depict Story of Nativity.

Dioramas and oil paintings—one of them 33 feet high—depict the story of the Nativity. The walled city of Bethlehem is shown, along with the stable, and the countryside between Nazareth and Bethlehem. Shepherds are portrayed watching their flocks, and angels proclaiming the birth of Christ.

After that come the Three Wise Men in search of the Christ child; Mary and Joseph fleeing Bethlehem, and Madelon, the shepherdess whom an angel provided with roses as a gift for the child. Another scene shows Jesus, at the age of 12, visiting the sages. On the highest peak adjacent to Madrid there is a huge oil painting depicting Christ at maturity.

By way of accentuating the atmosphere, amplifying systems pour forth the strains of "Noël," "Silent Night, Holy Night," and other familiar carols.

Pageantry Attracts 60,000.

The celebration is not commercialized. There is neither an admission charge nor any advertising in connection with it. The 400 employés of the coal company finance it with contributions, and do all the work. The company donates the electricity; the United States forest service provides the trees.

This pageantry has attracted more than 60,000 visitors annually for the last 12 years.

A new Toyland is being built for the children. It is more than 300 feet long, and its dominating figure, "Jack and the Beanstalk," is 65 feet high. Other glorified subjects are being so mechanized that the cow will jump over the moon, Humpty Dumpty will roll his eyes, the Dutch windmill will turn, and miniature merry go rounds, ferris wheels, and steam trains will be in operation.

The celebration will begin Dec. 10 and last until Jan. 3.

NEW CANADIAN TRADE ENVOY ON DUTY IN CHICAGO

M. B. Palmer last week assumed the office of Canadian government trade commissioner in Chicago, with offices in Tribune Tower. He succeeds G. R. Heasman, who has returned to Canada. His appointment was made by the commercial intelligence service of the dominion department of trade and commerce.

Mr. Palmer will seek to promote travel between his country and the United States and also to increase Canadian export trade to the midwestern states.

"Due to Canada's great war effort and her need for United States exchange with which to buy war materials," he said yesterday, "this trade is especially desirable now."

He has been in Port of Spain, Trinidad, in a similar capacity for several years and previously was stationed in Mexico. Just prior to coming to Chicago he completed a tour of the dominion, visiting manufacturers and exporters and obtaining information on sources of supply for products saleable in this territory.

Steamships Reduce Rates from New York to South

New York, Nov. 26 [Special].—New low levels in steamship fares from New York to Miami, Charleston, and Jacksonville have gone into effect on the Clyde Mallory Lines. Nine, 10, and 13 days in duration, these winter trips include holidays at St. Augustine, Miami Beach, Miami, Havana, and Sea Island Beach.

The canyon is situated near Amarillo.

Celebrate Christmas on 4 Days in North Carolina

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 26 [Special].—Christmas will be observed on four different days in North Carolina. Most towns and cities will stick to the traditional Dec. 25, but Rodanthe will do its celebrating on Jan. 5, Wilmington on Jan. 6, and St. Helena on Jan. 7. The Jan. 5 date is traced back to the old Twelfth Night celebrations; no one seems able to explain the other two dates.

19 Weekly 'Land Cruises' to Mexico Are Scheduled

Nineteen "land cruises" from Chicago to Mexico were announced yesterday by Raymond-Whitcomb, Inc. Departures are to be made weekly, starting Jan. 19. Nine of the tours will be for 25 days each; the other 10 will last 18 days each. The trips will be made in special cars.

PRESIDENT LINES RENAMES SHIPS AS FLEET GROWS

New York, Nov. 26 (AP).—The American President Lines, which is adding seven new passenger-cargo liners to its round the world service, is renaming its six older vessels and giving their names to the new ships.

First of the old fleet to have her name changed is the former President Hayes, which left last Saturday as the President Tyler for California and the orient.

The older President boats and the names they will assume are: Adams, Grant; Monroe, Buchanan; Van Buren, Fillmore; Polk, Taylor, and Garfield, Madison.

The first of the new ships, all built at Newport News, Va., was the President Jackson, which left here Nov. 2 on her initial voyage.

CHICAGO

STATE STREET AT ADAMS
CLARK CORNER WASHINGTON

November 22, 1940

Mr. D. F. McMahon,
Manager, Retail Advertising,
Chicago Tribune,
Chicago, Illinois.

Dear Mr. McMahon:

It is an old saying that if you want big game you must use a high power rifle - not spray buckshot. That in a phrase sums up the Baskin advertising policy which since 1934 has resulted in a 50% increase in sales volume.

With our two stores featuring Hart Schaffner & Marx clothing, we tried for a number of years to use all Chicago newspapers. When we finally concluded that we were spraying buckshot, we began to concentrate our efforts in the medium we felt was giving us maximum coverage because of its outstanding circulation.

By 1937 we were placing 49% of all our newspaper advertising in the Tribune. In 1938 we increased our percentage in the Tribune to 62%. Ever since then we have placed more advertising in the Tribune than in all other Chicago newspapers combined.

During the first ten months of this year the Tribune has received 69% of our linage, and 76% of our expenditure for newspaper advertising.

The effectiveness of concentration in the Tribune is further illustrated by the experience of our hat department. During the last few years our hat advertising has been run almost exclusively in the Tribune, and the Baskin hat department is one of the outstanding successes in America.

By concentrating in the Tribune we have greatly increased the efficiency of our advertising and reduced the cost of doing business. This, in turn, enables us to give still better values and service to our customers.

Yours very truly,

President.

FF*ML

FRED FISCHL
President
Baskin Clothing Co.

BASKIN greatly increased the efficiency of its advertising by concentrating 76% of its newspaper budget in the Tribune

SET forth in the letter above is another case history which proves that you employ your advertising funds to best advantage when you concentrate them in your best market.

The experience reported here by Baskin . . . the sales records of men's specialty shops, women's specialty shops, department stores and Chicago retailers as a group . . . demonstrate that Tribune readers make up the biggest and best Chicago market for practically everything sold at retail.

The reason is plain. With over 1,000,000 net paid, every day of the week, the Tribune now delivers from 625,000 to 670,000 more total daily circulation than other Chicago daily newspapers. On Sunday, it delivers from 240,000 to 790,000 more than other Chicago Sunday newspapers.

In metropolitan Chicago, Tribune circulation is full-market circulation which penetrates into every neighborhood and suburb, delivering 475,000 more daily circulation than is delivered in metropolitan Chicago by other daily newspapers and more than any other two daily newspapers combined.

And on Sunday, Tribune coverage of metropolitan Chicago is from 370,000 to 460,000 copies greater than that delivered by other Chicago Sunday newspapers.

When you use the Tribune, your advertising benefits by the high reader interest which has built for the Tribune the only circulation which today is equivalent to majority coverage of all metropolitan Chicago families.

When you can have more, why take less? There is no need to be satisfied with half measures when the experience of retail and general advertisers alike proves that you sell more at lower cost per unit sold when you build your sales drive around the Tribune.

Ask a Tribune representative to help you plan a program to get your full share of the sales which Chicago's higher industrial activity is generating.

Retail advertisers place in the Tribune 51% of their newspaper budgets for men's clothing advertising—more than in all other Chicago newspapers combined.

From Boston to Los Angeles, critics today are hailing OLIVER WISWELL as the greatest American historical novel since Northwest Passage. Below are first reviews, just received by wire ... typical of the enthusiasm sweeping the country!

"Kenneth Roberts has created his outstanding masterpiece, a brilliant, daring, magnificent story of America's heroic age."—Paul Jordan Smith, Los Angeles Times.

"It's a bold, pugnacious book, and one, I think, of tremendous importance."—Fred T. Marsh, Herald Tribune Books.

"Adjectives pale before this superb narrative. Only a great American and a great historian could have written it." —Alice Dixon Bond, Boston Herald-Traveler

"Kenneth Roberts has never got so many exciting and enlightening events into any other novel. OLIVER WISWELL is warm flesh and blood on the skeleton of cool fact."—Carl Van Doren, Atlantic Monthly.

"One of the best yarns Novelist Roberts has spun . . . Oliver Wiswell is also important history." —TIME Magazine.

OLIVER WISWELL

The new novel by

KENNETH ROBERTS

THE author of NORTHWEST PASSAGE has written his best book—a magnificent story of the American Revolution. It is bold, dispassionate history, filled with vast canvases and vivid descriptions—a book not for 1940 alone, but for all the years to come. 836 pages. $3.00. DOUBLEDAY, DORAN

Revolutionary War Novel by Roberts Is Epic

"Oliver Wiswell," by Kenneth Roberts; 836 pages. [Doubleday-Doran, $3.] Published last Friday.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

American historical novels, which have been the year's most popular brand of fiction, are all overshadowed by Kenneth Roberts' vast epic of the American revolutionary war. Mr. Roberts has not only written a long and vivid saga of warfare and political intrigue, but he has chosen material so iconoclastic that many readers will be held—even against their volition—spellbound [like the bewitched wedding guest stopped by the Ancient Mariner's gripping tale] by the events recorded as much as by the author's skilled recording.

Oliver Wiswell is a student at Yale in the year 1775 as the book opens. As it closes in 1883 he is a royal commissioner of the new Canadian colony of New Brunswick, settled by the American Tories who fled their country and their "rebel" countrymen. During those eight years Oliver, who tells the story, has served what he believes the best interests of his country in trying to keep it under England's rule and out of the hands of the "rebels," who, as Oliver sees them, are the country's rabble, vindictive and murderous toward their fellow countrymen who were even suspected of Tory leanings.

As Oliver tells of his father's and his own mistreatment, of the horrors of a war which he sees more as a civil war between different thinking Americans than one between the colonists and England, as he records his vain efforts in England to persuade the king and his counselors to use the vital knowledge which his years as a spy in France had given him, as he fights valiantly and bravely as often against British stupidity and distrust of the Tories as he does against the "rebels," a new interpretation of the American revolution emerges.

The reader is told that except for blunders, carelessness, bull-headed egotism, suspicion of everything "American" by the British in England and in the colonies, the colonials would not have won the revolution. Not even in his disillusionment with the British, however, does Oliver change his mind about his victorious fellow countrymen.

Oliver Wiswell's tale defies all of our cherished patriotic traditions, but Kenneth Roberts makes his hero so earnest and so passionately devoted to a cause which was to him the only right one that readers find Oliver Wiswell one of literature's sincere patriots and his iconoclastic story an honest record of the case of the opposition in one of the most dramatic periods of our history.

Does Mystery

Mary Roberts Rinehart, whose new mystery, "The Great Mistake," is reviewed today by Miss Butcher.

Simple, Tender Tale

"Embezzled Heaven," by Franz Werfel. [Viking, $2.50.] Published Monday. December choice of the Book of the Month club.

This touchingly tender story of a simple Austrian servant whose "deep thirst for eternity and salvation" had a final beautiful slaking after a lifetime of ironic denial comes fittingly for a Christmas season when most of the world is little concerned with either eternity—or its temporal sample of peace and simple happiness—or the spiritual salvation of any souls, even their own.

Knowing that it was written by a man who was not only an exile, but who had suffered the horrors of a concentration camp, and that its writing somehow renewed his own faith that "thirst proves the certain existence of water" makes the book an even deeper memory.

"Embezzled Heaven" tells of Teta, an old servant of 70, as she lives her last ecstatic hours, who for more than 30 years had denied herself everything to put her nephew thru training for the priesthood.

During those years she had never seen him, but she had treasured his long, beautifully written letters. When one letter comes describing the fine improvements of a bathroom in his house as a priest in the ancient town where Teta had been born, and inviting her to live with him there, Teta sets off to reap the earthly harvest of her investment in eternity.

The nephew, however, has been the cleverest of charlatans, and when Teta finally tracks him down he is a creature so low that he even blames Teta for being the cause [thru her generosity] of his sin.

But the moment when poor Teta seems to herself to have lost all hope of heaven, its doors open to her, in a supremely happy but thoroly credible ending to her simple story.

The first hundred pages, which describe Teta's life as servant, might have been condensed into a few pages. Then the whole book would have been as vivid as the three hundred which describe Teta's tragic disillusionment in Prague and her final happiness in Rome.

Mystery with Finesse

"The Great Mistake," by Mary Roberts Rinehart. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.]

Mary Roberts Rinehart writes as good a novel as she concocts a mystery, which is to say that she creates such real people and backgrounds that the killings in which they or their friends indulge are merely the clews to the treasure hunt for the reader, not the grand prize. In this tale there is for murder fans mystifying murder, plenty of it, with three corpses and some close shaves and a disappearance and apparent lunacy loose in a quiet suburb. But for those who like to meet and come to know people in books, there is just as lavish fare.

That quiet suburb in the hills, recently discovered by the very rich who have built fabulous houses in them and seldom either see or are seen by the townspeople, is the scene of "The Great Mistake." Its heroine is Pat Abbott of the town, who becomes social secretary to the Hill's most fabulous character, the billionaire Widow Wainwright.

Forgotten pasts become present bombshells. There is good story telling here, the kind that keeps you tense to—even after—the last page, and, despite the corpses and the terror, humor and romance.

A Prize Mystery

"I Wanted to Murder," by Clarissa Fairchild Cushman. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.] Published last Friday. Winner of Mary Roberts Rinehart mystery prize.

In this excellently plotted and convincingly told tale of murder and "justice prevailing" some very nice people are involved. The nicest one of them all, the one who tells the story, actually has the killing pinned on to her at the coroner's inquest, because she has tried to protect her friends and relatives, and because, impelled by righteous indignation against a philanderer, she has started writing a murder mystery with him as murderee. Mrs. Cushman will become, with this book, one of the country's popular mystery writers.

"Folkways" Reissued.

A new edition of a work that has been perennially popular for 34 years is a study of the sociological importance of customs, manners, usages, and morals of peoples, called "Folkways," by William Graham Sumner [Ginn, $4].

Here's Group of Volumes for Sea Collection

"Sailor of Fortune: The Life and Adventures of Joshua Barney," by Hulbert Footner. [Harpers, $3.50.]
"Yankee Skipper," by Joseph A. Gainard. [Stokes, $3.]
"In the Wake of the Raiders and the Merchant Navy Fights," by A. D. Divine. [Dutton, $2.50.]
"Hurricane's Wake: Around the World on a Ketch," by Ray Kauffman. [Macmillan, $3.]

BY AL CHASE.

Commodore Joshua Barney, U. S. N., hero of many exciting exploits in both the revolutionary war and the war of 1812, is a "great and neglected hero," according to Hulbert Footner. In his "Sailor of Fortune" the author attempts to remedy this situation by writing a rousing biography of this gallant naval officer. He calls attention to the fact that the indomitable Joshua's ocean achievements were exceeded only by John Paul Jones. The book is as full of salty adventure as most sea thrillers. It also is a colorful picture of America's then infant navy.

Joseph Gainard is best known as skipper of the now famous City of Flint, American freighter captured by the German pocket battleship Deutschland and taken to Murmansk. He spins a good yarn about this international incident. But most of "Yankee Skipper" is about other more exciting incidents, including the rescue of some 250 passengers from the British liner Athenia, sunk last September, supposedly by a German submarine or mine. Gainard's autobiography of a modern skipper ranges over a quarter of a century and covers many exciting adventures in the world war.

A. D. Divine, who is known to some readers as "David Rame," author of "Wine of Good Hope," has written a timely book on the failure of Germany's pocket battleships to achieve the naval success expected of them. "In the Wake of the Raiders" covers the story of the destruction of the Graf Spee at Montevideo. The last half of the book—"The Merchant Navy Fights"—tells of the plucky combats by four British tramp steamers against U-boats in the early days of the present war.

Two young Iowans a few years ago had a 45 foot ketch made for them at sleepy little Pascagoula, on the Mississippi gulf coast. They christened her Hurricane and spent three years sailing 'round the world. Ray Kauffman's well written, humorous, and entertaining log of that voyage makes good reading for the vicarious navigator. It is well illustrated and has attractive end paper maps.

Con Game and Hoaxes; Books Rip Off Masks

"The Big Con," by David W. Maurer. [Bobbs-Merrill, $2.50.]
"Hoaxes," by Curtis D. MacDougall. [Macmillan, $3.50.]

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

The author of "The Big Con," an amazing record of confidence games and the men who create them, is a professor of English at the University of Louisville. During research into the slang used in various rackets, he talked with a number of the country's most widely known con men. This book is the result.

It describes in full detail how the major con games are unfolded from the moment when the "mark" is approached until he had been cheated and "blown off." It tells how the important games first started, lists the greatest confidence artists, past and present, and tells of some of their large "scores." There are stories of victims so credulous that they return to be cheated again and again, and stories of the con men themselves—how they talk, think, live, and die. A list of the con man's lingo is included.

Prof. Maurer says the old saw still holds good: "You can't cheat an honest man—or almost never." His is a mighty readable book.

"Hoaxes" is a scholarly study of the hoax from centuries gone by to the present day. It is not only a fine collection of shams, practical jokes, impostures, and tricks of all kinds, but the author attempts to show why people believe such things. Mr. MacDougall lists about 400 examples of hoaxes in the fields of government, literature, history, science, public relations, and journalism, and debunks a number of the stories to which you undoubtedly cling, including statements attributed to famous persons, Lincoln's renowned letter to Mrs. Bixby, and countless others. Mr. MacDougall is a lecturer in the Medill school of journalism, Northwestern university.

Millions Believe in Life After Death —But HOW Is It Lived?

A Direct, Detailed, Witnessed Report of Her New Existence as Received from Mrs. Stewart Edward White, Many Months After Her Death

After death, how do we live? Does our spiritual form retain its personal identity? Is it fed, clothed, sheltered? How does it appear? Are we still conscious of, and concerned with, our earthly interests and affections?

Factual answers to these tremendous questions are now given in THE UNOBSTRUCTED UNIVERSE, by the famous writer, Stewart Edward White. He and his wife (previous to her death in April 1939) for many years studied every known fact on the subject. Mrs. White's passing opened up the channel of actual experience with death and the hereafter which has now made this book possible.

STEWART EDWARD WHITE

40 Actual Conversations

In THE UNOBSTRUCTED UNIVERSE Mr White reports (verbatim, as taken down in shorthand by himself and witnesses) 40 conversations with his wife. Never before has there been so rational, calm, and detailed a description of the hereafter. The relation of this life to the next is made clear. And in today's chaotic world, calling for a clearer understanding of life here and in the hereafter, this book is needed as never before.

You May Read It 5 Days

As one of America's oldest publishers, we believe this is one of the most significant books we have ever published. THE UNOBSTRUCTED UNIVERSE may be had at your bookseller's for $2.50. But if no bookstore is nearby, we will send you a copy direct. When postman delivers it, in plain wrapper, deposit with him this amount, plus actual postage. The Revolution IS ON by

M. W. FODOR

Just Published

A book that reveals the real prompter — Revolution — behind the scenes of world-wide convulsion.

"Fodor did an extraordinary job of foresight in his South of Hitler. That gives one pause when he makes statements, and expands them, to prove that Europe is in the throes of revolution, that National Socialism is likely to be the prevailing form of government, though not the final result of revolution. But to me the most interesting parts of his book dealt with his close up view of the Battle of France—his analysis of the conditions that brought defeat, both to the Low Countries and France—and his whole intimate and at the same time objective viewpoint." Virginia Kirkus $2.75

ROTHERMERE, A GIANT OF BRITISH JOURNALISM, DIES

ManWhoMergedAirCorps Succumbs in Bermuda.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Nov. 26 (AP).—Lord Rothermere, 72 years old, who with his brother, the late Lord Northcliffe, was one of Britain's most powerful newspaper owners, died today in King Edward the Seventh Memorial hospital. He arrived here from Montreal Nov. 4 and entered the hospital the same day.

Lord Rothermere.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

Rothermere left England in May on a special war mission. He arrived in Quebec, Canada, and later went to a New York hospital for treatment when his health showed signs of failing. Improving, he went to Bermuda to recuperate.

REVOLUTIONIZED PRESS.

Lord Rothermere with his brother, Lord Northcliffe, revolutionized England's traditional methods of news presentation. He also served in the cabinet, where as air minister in 1917-'18 he successfully merged the royal flying corps and the royal naval air corps into the royal air force.

Born Harold Sidney Harmsworth, the first Viscount Rothermere was credited with having provided the means with which his older brother built up the great newspaper chain which centered around The Daily Mail, once included The London Times, and still has The Daily Mirror and The Evening News, as well as a host of periodicals.

It was Lord Northcliffe who furnished the ideas which made his newspapers so talked about and so much in public demand. It was Lord Rothermere who applied the brakes where needed.

Turned Interests Over to Son.

When Lord Northcliffe died in 1922 Lord Rothermere bought his majority interest in the papers. In 1937 he retired, leaving his interests in the hands of his son, Esmond Cecil Harmsworth.

At the peak of the fortunes of his newspapers it was said they reached 80 per cent of the British reading public.

In addition to the papers, he had tremendous investments in many fields. He always was interested in the United States and a heavy investor in its industries.

In 1893 he married Mary Lillian Share, who died three years ago. They had three sons, two of whom were killed in the world war.

Once Supported British Fascists.

He attracted wide attention in 1927 when he took up the cause of Hungary in his papers and sought revision of the treaty of Trianon. It was claimed that overtures even were made toward making him king of Hungary. He was credited with having a Fascist viewpoint and backed Sir Oswald Mosley's Blackshirts in 1934, holding that national discipline and organization were the spirit of the age. He was widely criticized and abused in England because of this.

Lord Rothermere gave liberally to charity. In the educational field he founded the Alfred Harmsworth memorial fund to provide scholarships for lawyers in honor of his father. He also endowed the Harold Vyvyan chair of American history at Oxford and the Vere Harmsworth chair of naval history at Cambridge in honor of his sons.

Police say Majszak has admitted he is the motorist who fled after his car killed Daniel B. Scully, 3612 South Hamilton avenue, at 35th street and Archer avenue on Nov. 10.

COLLISION KILLS TWO CHICAGOANS IN A SNOWSTORM

3d on Truck Escapes; Autoist Dies.

Three men, two of them Chicagoans, were killed yesterday in a collision between a truck and an automobile during a heavy snowstorm three miles west of Saline, Mich., south of Ann Arbor.

The Chicagoans were Skiff Nelson, 34 years old, 3646 Wrightwood avenue, and Tommy Allen, 27, who were in a truck owned by Lee Brothers' Trucking company, 6319 Vernon avenue. The third man killed was Edwin J. Beaver, 60, of Highland Park, Mich., who was driving the automobile. John Bajda, 21, of 8811 Wrightwood avenue, who was also in the truck, escaped injury.

Dies After Train Hits Truck.

Stanley Szambaris Jr., 31, of 2639 West 65th street, died in Roseland Community hospital last night of injuries suffered earlier in the day when the grocery truck he was driving was struck by a southbound Rock Island train at the 115th street crossing.

William Knals, 65, farmhand living near Higgins and State roads, near Arlington Heights, died in County hospital of injuries suffered on Oct. 28 when he was struck by a hit and run driver near his home.

Miss Mary E. Newman, 71, retired art instructor in the Woodstock public schools, died in Sherman hospital in Elgin of injuries received a week ago when she was struck by an automobile near her home at 450 South Liberty street, Elgin.

Driver Dies of Heart Attack.

Valentine H. Groskurth, 60, of 1128 Ferdinand avenue, Forest Park, collapsed and died after he suffered a heart attack while driving in Natoma avenue at 57th street. His automobile crashed into a tree. A coroner's physician said death resulted from the heart attack.

Ben Johnson, 50, colored, 4808 Wabash avenue, died in County hospital as the result of injuries incurred Monday night when he stepped from a safety island at 48th and State streets and was struck by a truck. The driver was Paul Kreiger, 36, of Wooster, O.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 795 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 577 were killed in Chicago, where 21,529 were injured during the same period.

BLAZE DRIVES 40 INTO STREET; WOMAN RESCUED

Forty residents of a three story stone apartment building at 1431 East 66th place were driven into the street at the dinner hour last night by a fire which started in a defective furnace pipe. One woman was rescued after she was trapped in an apartment on the top floor.

The fire was drawn upwards rapidly by a strong draft. The ascending flames ignited inner walls on all three floors. Mrs. Erma La Gardy, manager of the building, and her husband, James, shouted an alarm thru the building, but smoke prevented Mrs. Alice Golden, 29 years old, occupying a third floor front apartment, from escaping. She ran to a front window and screamed. Fireman James Donahue reached her from a suspension ladder.

ALLAN A. RYAN, WINNER, LOSER OF WEALTH, DIES

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 26 [Special].—Allan A. Ryan, 61, of New York, son of a fabulously wealthy capitalist and himself a financier who made Wall street history 20 years ago, died unexpectedly here today.

The financier's capitalist father, the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, from whom he long had been estranged, cut him off with only a set of pearl shirt studs in disposing by will of a $135,000,000 estate. Allan's two brothers each received a life interest in 30 million dollars.

Even without his father's money, Allan Ryan stirred the financial world. His dizzy Wall street career reached its zenith in 1920 when he cornered the stock of the Stutz Motor Car company, of which he was chairman. He advanced the stock from $100 a share on Feb. 13 to $391 on March 31. Two years later he was bankrupt. He was divorced in 1924 by his first wife, Sarah Tuck Ryan.

COMPLETE PLANS TO FLUSH CANAL FOR SEWAGE TEST

Engineers and chemists of the Chicago Sanitary district yesterday completed plans for handling the near capacity flow of water that will pour thru the Illinois waterway for 10 days starting Dec. 2.

Tests will be made of the movement of sewage in the waterway when the flow is increased up to 10,000 cubic feet a second from the present rate of 1,500 cubic feet a second. Results of the tests will be made part of the record in the water diversion litigation between Illinois and six other lakes states, which now is before the United State Supreme court.

Dr. F. W. Mohlman, chief chemist of the sanitary district, said 72 tests will be made daily along the waterway to determine the effect of the flushing. The Supreme court has granted the sanitary district permission to make the test increase in an effort to move odorous and unhealthful sludge that has settled in the channel since 1938, when the flow was reduced to the present rate.

PARLEY CALLED TO FORM STATE DEFENSE BOARD

Industry, agriculture, labor, commerce, education, and other professions and industries will be represented on the council.

Tea Will Open Notable Show at Arts Club

BY JUDITH CASS.

MEMBERS of the Arts club today will receive cards announcing a tea to open what is certain to be one of the outstanding art exhibitions of the season in Chicago. In reality it is three exhibitions, for it includes the modern paintings by Candido Portinari of Brazil that created such a sensation at the Museum of Modern Art in New York; the works of the contemporary Austrian painter, Maximilian Mopp, and modern sculpture by the Frenchman, Aristide Maillol.

The tea is to be given next Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. Up until recently it had been expected that the colorful Brazilian would be in Chicago for the tea, but there is some doubt now that he will be able to come west at that time. Mopp and Maillol are both in this country, too, but they will not be among the guests next Wednesday. Mopp's large painting, "Symphony Orchestra," which will be in the show, was in the Golden Gate exposition's art show in San Francisco last summer.

Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw, New President, to Receive.

Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw, the new president, will be receiving that afternoon, and Mrs. Henry Field will be making her first appearance as chairman of the reception committee. Mrs. Winterbotham Badger, Mrs. Shaw's sister, is the new house committee chairman, and she and Walter Frazier are planning the decorations of the tea table. Mrs. William B. Hale continues as the membership chairman, Miss Alice Roullier as the exhibition chairman, and Mrs. Richard D. Bokum [Fanny Butcher] as literary chairman. Dr. Frederick D. Stock is the new music committee head.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw on Friday night will have guests at the dinner to be given preceding a dance recital by Carmalita Maracci and her ensemble. She is a South American, too, a Uruguyan, who has created a furore in New York recently.

The Gustavus F. Swifts, Heman Field, the Thomas Hart Fishers [Ruth Page], the Mellen C. Martins, the Hales, the Hubert Burnhams, the Adlai Stevensons, and the Walter Carrs are among those who made reservations for the dinner before the list was closed. The Arts club galleries are open to the public, free of charge, every week day from 9:30 until 5:30 o'clock.

Son Born Monday to Daniel Catton Riches.

The Daniel Catton Riches have a new son, Anthony Catton, born at St. Luke's hospital Monday. He is their fourth child, the others, in sequence, being Michael, who is 12; Stephen, who is 7; and Penelope, who is 3. Mrs. Rich was formerly Bertha TenEyck James.

The first snowstorm of the winter brought out the first news about a winter sports party. Mrs. George D. McLaughlin has planned a luncheon, followed by skating or whatever the weather permits that afternoon, at the Onwentsia club on Sunday, Dec. 15. The greatly fêted Broome sisters, Betty and Caryl, are to be the especial guests.

The Exmoor Country club's ice rink also opens on Dec. 15, if the weather is conducive. Its winter sports program, of which Alfred T. Sihler is chairman, this year includes paddle tennis.

Adriance Caroline Letts Picks Dec. 28 for Wedding.

Miss Adriance Caroline Letts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delano C. Letts of Hubbard Woods, has chosen Dec. 28 as the date for her marriage to David Draper Dayton, son of Mrs. Burt J. Denman of Wilmette. The marriage and reception will take place at the Letts' home. Miss Letts has just returned from a trip east, on which she and Mr. Dayton chose the apartment in New York where they will reside while he finishes his courses at Princeton and while she takes the brides' course at the Ballard school in New York.

The Chicago Orphan asylum is having its first benefit in its history at 4 o'clock this afternoon when it sponsors a performance of "Sambo and the Tigers," by the Chicago Junior League Children's theater.

Originally two performances were planned, one at 2:45 o'clock, but this seemed a bad hour for young children in school and was canceled. However, many tickets have been sold, and an excited audience of children is expected to fill the Chicago Historical society's auditorium.

Mrs. Richard Spencer has played the rôle of Little Black Sambo a dozen times, but her young son, Dickie, will see her in it for the first time today when he escorts little Lee Oliver, daughter of the John Olivers. The stacks of hot pancakes which appear in the final act are made, incidentally, in his mother's kitchen, fresh for each performance, and are devoured by the actors after the curtain is down for the day.

Many Parties Are Being Given for Children.

And the butter into which the four wicked tigers [Mrs. Theodore Scudder, Mrs. William Joyce, Miss Gertrude Smith, and Miss Evelyn Gordon] melt, driven into this edible state by the angry frenzy of their great cupidity, is in reality, somebody's graduation dress dyed yellow.

Many children's parties are being given; Mrs. Marshall Sampsell, whom Mr. and Mrs. Norton Conway of New York are visiting, is having one for their small son, Van. Among her guests will be Mrs. Nathaniel Lane's two small daughters.

Mrs. Charles Connell is taking her young son, Gregg, and little Denise, daughter of the Edmond Sullivans. Mrs. Rollin Chamberlain, former president of the orphanage board, is taking her twin daughters. Others who will bring children are Mrs. Errett Van Nice, Mrs. William A. Ryan, Mrs. John Hurley, Mrs. Billings McArthur, Mrs. Press Hodgkins, Mrs. Charles Shedd, and Mrs. Gordon Loud.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

When we think of truly luxurious bath accessories the exquisite preparations of a famous woman perfumer always come to mind. They have elegance, taste, and sheer beauty that set them apart from all others. Everything she makes has the stamp of perfection. In gift choosing for your most fastidious friends any one of her lovely offerings, from a rather inexpensive pomander ball to perfumes in bottles copied from a 17th century amber chess set, will endow you with the reflected glory of impeccable taste.

The bath sets in glittering gold, silver, or green boxes are beautiful to look at, the contents even more beautiful. One of the maker's greatest achievements is a friction lotion, to be used after the bath, in breath taking fragrances. You can have this in a bath set, plus soap, bath sachet, and bath oil—all in the same scent. Or, if you prefer, you may have toilet water instead of the friction lotion. Her floral perfumes are famous, especially her white lilac, gardenia, and carnation.

The bath oils alone make a wonderful gift. These come in a chest of three drawers, containing 21 vials of different oils—enough for 42 divinely luxurious baths.

Scented lacquer is another unusual preparation. This, in five scents, is used inside dresser drawers, in closets, or anyhere in a bedroom where you wish a fragrance that's lovely and lasting. It's applied in small amounts with a brush and it makes a unique gift as well as a lovely possession. ELEANOR NANGLE.

This Is War of Moral Codes, Britain Avers

Any Englishman "fool enough" to come to America to get the United States into the war should "catch the next boat back," Sir Evelyn Wrench, British publisher and founder of the English Speaking union, declared yesterday.

Sir Evelyn made this statement in heated tones, but mitigated it somewhat with the "Good gracious me," with which he prefaced it in speaking to 150 members of the English Speaking union who plowed thru snow and slush to attend a tea for him and Lady Wrench at the Arts club.

He is here, he told the assemblage, principally feminine, purely in a private capacity. Many, he observed with heat, have asked him if he is here as a propagandist. "Of course," he cried, with a jerk of his aquiline featured head, "I haven't come over to get America into the war."

"What I am interested in," he continued, "is that the whole force of the English speaking peoples should be used to stop the hideous thing that is going on. The question is whether we are organized as efficiently as the totalitarian governments. I don't know. But if we go in for a policy of efficiency, we go in as free men. That is the difference.

"This is not a war of territorial aggression with us. It is a war of warring moral codes. . . . Great Britain is not thinking of herself."

Opera to Bring Back Rollicking Old 'Falstaff'

Sonia Sharnova.

Intent upon proving that opera is not highbrow music but good entertainment, the Chicago Opera company has designated Wednesday night at the Civic Opera house as "business men's night," marked by a spirit of genial informality on both sides of the footlights.

To clinch their point, the managers are bringing back John Charles Thomas from New York next Wednesday Dec 4, to sing again the English version of "Falstaff." Thousands were turned away from the box office last Wednesday at the second performance of Verdi's rollicking opera.

Thomas is singing the rôle of the roistering amorous tippler for the first time this season. He regards the rôle as one of the "most satisfactory" in his répertoire.

Supporting him next Wednesday will be the same cast that appeared with him at the original matinée two weeks ago—Giannini, Sharnova, Mojica, Haskins and Summers. Henry Weber, musical director of the opera company, will conduct.

"Not only does the opera, with its happy melodies and high comedy, fit the Wednesday night spirit at the opera house," Mr. Weber said yesterday, "but it has the added attraction of being sung in the vernacular. No one who hears and sees him will ever forget Thomas as Falstaff. This is a production to lay forever the objection that opera is dull."

Rose Bampton Again Triumphs in 'Giovanni'

TONIGHT AT THE OPERA.

Bizet's "Carmen" will be presented tonight at the Civic Opera house. Marjorie Lawrence will portray the Spanish gypsy heroine, and other leading roles will be sung by Jan Kiepura, noted Polish tenor; Kathryn Witwer, lyric soprano known to W-G-N listeners; and George Czaplicki, celebrated Polish baritone. Paul Breisach will conduct.

Since Wednesday night performances have been designated "business men's opra" this season, patrons are particularly urged to attend in informal clothes. A large block of seats for tonight's opera has been taken by members of the American Legion.

BY CECIL SMITH.

Mozart's "Don Giovanni" provided uninterrupted delight as it was presented in the Civic Opera house last night by the cast which took part in the season's first performance of the opera on Nov. 16. While the action on the stage was uniformly deft and convincing, the most impressive aspect of the performance was its remarkably full realization of the musical values of a work far more intricate and subtle than it sounds on the surface.

Rose Bampton's Donna Anna is an achievement of the most profound beauty. She has captured the essential simplicity and chastity of the Mozart style as completely as any soprano now before the American public. Yet it is not her taste alone which arouses admiration and enthusiasm, for she combines most satisfyingly honest emotional warmth with heroic nobility of utterance.

Her voice, tho perhaps a trifle pale in color at times, commands the large climaxes and the light, trickling scales with equal ease. Visually she is appealing, in the unaffected poise and naturalness of her movements and posture. Her performance is one of the season's notable successes.

Kathryn Witwer's Donna Elvira, while it has neither the depth of feeling nor the intellectual scope of Miss Bampton's art, is more than satisfactory in its vocal fluency and its unfailing appropriateness of action. Lorenzo Alvary restores the peasant Masetto to its proper level as a simple, likable young peasant, removing the rôle from the sterotyped Italian buffo classification into which past performances have unhappily thrust it. Margit Bokor's Zerlina, despite its unarguable vocal deficiencies, is charming and correct in its pictorial aspects.

Ezio Pinza and Virgilio Lazzari played beautifully into each other's hands as the Don and his servant Leporello. Mr. Pinza's singing, for all its tonal richness and musical expertness, does, I confess, come to seem overboisterous and lacking in gentility and suavity. Mr. Lazzari's comic character, in both audible and visual aspects, is as well rounded as his wonderful tragic Archibaldo in "The Love of Three Kings." Mr. Breisach's able conducting gave great pleasure.

Hymn Singing in Lancashire.

A letter to Horace W. O'Connor from a niece in England tells of the harvest hymn that was sung in a little chapel in a Lancashire city when the Nazis came over and began to "bump" the place. Instead of rushing to the nearest shelter the worshipers sang louder to drown out the noise of the bombs and acks-acks. It wasn't until later that they saw the humor of the phrases they were singing, All good things around us are sent from heaven above. . . .

Humor Behind the Opera Footlights.

José Mojica, as Narraboth, had just stabbed himself in the Salome performance the other night. "That's the last of the Mojica," murmured one of the cast.

Balletomane.

One of the balletomanes of the town is a quiet, modest man who runs a chain of filling stations, carries a whistle with him at ballet performances, and gravely blows it in recognition of performances he considers superlative. It is a sound dancers have learned to listen for. Sometimes he doesn't blow it during an entire season. The Ballet Theater has rated repeated blasts on the whistle on three different occasions this season. Once was at Giselle Sunday afternoon, at the end of the first variations of Nana Gollner; once was after Jardin aux Lilas, and the third was after Karen Conrad's grands jetés.

Young Pianist Again Reveals His Artistry

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Henry Jackson is a pianist whom the elements love to torture. At Grant park last summer rain swept in over his instrument, and the orchestra had to fill in with a Herbert medley until things dried off enough for him to continue.

Even last night, altho his sponsors had cautiously—and, as the event proved, wisely—engaged Kimball hall rather than some outdoor place for his recital, snow and rain helped keep Mr. Jackson's audience down to a fraction of what he deserved. Those who braved the knee deep slush to come were rewarded by an illuminating performance of Beethoven's Opus 109 Sonata.

These late sonatas—so quiet, so subjective, so far removed from man's ordinary preoccupations—seem nearly always contemplative rather than communicative. It was all the more remarkable, then, that Mr. Jackson was able to make the sober one in E major comprehensible. He played it with breadth, dignity, and a beautifully luminous tone.

Turning to quite a different type of music, he succeeded in projecting delightfully the perverse, epigrammatic humor of a dance and a gavotte of Prokofieff.

There is no doubt but what this young Illinoisian has a good musical intelligence and 10 superbly disciplined fingers.

This recital was the first of three similar events to be sponsored by the Chicago Woman's Musical club for the benefit of their scholarship fund. Mr. Jackson, by the way, is one of the club's past scholarship winners.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

How to Write a Hollywood Column in One Easy Lesson.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 26.—I was delighted when Zarryl D. Warnock telephoned me at 5 a. m.—he had been sitting up with a sick conference—to tell me that he has just decided to star my friend Iris Dopodomani in a two million dollar spectacle titled "The Eleven Commandments." Dear, darling Iris is the perfect choice for the rôle and I had been hoping she would get it, for she has already proved that she can make a spectacle of herself. I will never forget the time she tried to take off her dress in the La Conga, or was it at the El Capitan?

Marlene Heyhey telephones that I did her an injustice yesterday when I itemed that Marlene has been dieting so strenuously she looks positively ill. "I never looked better in my life," she says, "and I have been eating like a horse and I feel fine. If you must know, I have a tapeworm which the studio has insured for $1,000,000." Well, of course, I must take Marlene's word for it, but I do think it's terrible what some women will do just to have a lousy beautiful figure.

Iris Dopodomani has been dieting so strenuously she looks positively ill.

The title of Zarryl's picture is "The Ten Commandments." I knew it all the time and my leg man didn't have to tell me. I just wanted to see if you knew. Andy Andiamo, the cowboy star, telephones that he and his pretty wife, Minerva Minerva, have just had a bustup. He busted up her pretty face and thought he'd let me know before telephoning a doctor. Why will people do these things? It gives Hollywood a bad name; but Andy was very nice to let me have the story exclusive; it can go so badly with movie stars when they don't tell me these little things first; I'll never forget when two of our big stars—I won't mention their names—ran off to Crazy Water, Tex., to get married and didn't let me know before the others; I have never mentioned them in a nice way since; she has been dieting so strenuously she looks positively ill, and she was such a beautiful girl before she got married.

I am planning a different kind of personal appearance tour. I hope to get Claudette Colbert, Carole Lombard, Clark Gable, Mickey Rooney, Ann Sheridan, Errol Flynn, Greta Garbo, Bing Crosby, and a few others to travel from town to town with me on a bus. They will dance and sing on street corners and people will toss dimes and quarters into my hat. I am sure the studios will let me borrow their people for a couple of months when I point out that it is so important for we in Hollywood not to lose contact with their public.

My birthday is in two weeks, and it isn't far from Christmas. I wonder what I am going to get. . . . Joan Crawford should really ask me about such things.

Clergy to Vote on Episcopal Bishop Again

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Clergymen of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago will attempt for a second time tomorrow to elect a bishop to succeed the late Bishop George Craig Stewart. The election will be held at St. James church at a convention of the diocese which was adjourned from Sept. 25, when voting remained deadlocked on the 17th ballot.

Contrary to the general practice thruout the Episcopal church, the laity of the Chicago diocese do not vote directly on nominees, but have veto power. To this method of voting is attributed the failure of the September election by many Episcopalians. On the other hand, a communication of the Catholic Club, Inc., of the Episcopal diocese, last week condemned any additional power for the laity because of "the ignorance of laymen."

The circular letter admitted, however, that "the day is probably far off when congregationalism can be eliminated" from the Episcopal church, and, "when laymen will not be given power to elect bishops, or to pass on matters of doctrine."

One local rector and two from eastern cities are probable nominees who may be given the largest support in Thursday's early balloting. These are the Rev. Wallace Edmunds Conkling of Germantown, Pa., the Very Rev. Dr. Noble C. Powell of Washington, D. C., and the Rev. Dr. Dudley Scott Stark of St. Chrysostom's church, 1424 North Dearborn parkway.

A recent straw vote of about half the clergy of the diocese tallied greatest strength for the Rev. Mr. Conkling, with Dean Powell the runner up, and Dr. Stark a strong third. No other names figured in the straw vote. In contrast with the Rev. Mr. Conkling's repute as a high or Anglo-Catholic churchman, Dean Powell is known as a low or Virginia churchman. Dr. Stark is described as representing the Connecticut school, neither so-called high nor low.

The Odor of Violets

By Baynard Kendrick

[Copyright: 1940: By Baynard Kendrick.]

SYNOPSIS.

Leaving their house guest, Cheli Scott, Norma Tredwell goes to the city to break up the romance between her philandering ex-husband, Paul Gerente, and her stepdaughter, Barbara. She sees Barbara leaving Paul's apartment and discovers Paul Gerente murdered. Duncan Maclain, a blind detective, receives a visitor, who claims to be Paul Gerente, with instructions in case New York should be plunged into darkness by war, giving the five vital points where sabotage might occur. Maclain refuses to decode the message for his visitor. Worried for fear Barbara might be implicated in the murder, Norma telephones A. Cameron, the man in the apartment below Paul's, to find out whether he or some one in Paul's apartment let her in. Cameron dismisses Hilda, a girl visitor, and investigates Gerente's apartment. Maclain finds Cameron there with the dead man and Cameron glibly confesses to the murder. Far off in California a girl questions her enamored escort about the new bombing sights, and the following week the man and his comrades die in a mysterious submarine accident, with the man remembering the girl and her violet perfume.

INSTALMENT IX.

THE VIOLET CLEW.

Inspector Larry Davis of the New York homicide squad chewed reflectively on a toothpick. Supporting himself on his elbows, with his back against the side of Paul Gerente's grand piano, he kept moving his head in tiny jerks, watching the progress of Schnucke and her master about the living room.

Sunk down in a large easy chair, Sergt. Aloysius Archer was nervously trying to outstare Dreist. He had heard somewhere that dogs would turn away if you looked at them hard enough. It wasn't working out with Dreist. The captain's police dog glared back at him unwaveringly from a point of vantage on the floor.

Under Schnucke's guidance Maclain turned at right angles at the end of a divan and skirted it slowly. In passing he brushed the cushions lightly with his hand. He turned again at the other end and stopped close beside the spot where Gerente's body had lain on the floor.

"Look, captain," Sergt. Archer began pleadingly. "The guy's confessed, hasn't he? We've got his prints on a poker. We're rounding up a gal who saw the whole thing. This egg, Cameron, is already on his way to headquarters. Let's go home. Be a pal and call this leg chewer off me."

"What's your hurry, sergeant?" A slight snip sounded as Inspector Davis broke the toothpick between his fingers. "We've watched him pace off every foot of this two room and bath apartment for an hour, and handle everything from bed to bottles until the edges are worn off. I want to find out what the hell he's looking for!"

Maclain released Schnucke's brace and clasped his hands behind him. "So you've reached the stage of snapping toothpicks, eh, inspector? It's been quite a while since I heard that noise. It's nice to meet you boys again."

Davis said:

"Yeah, it's swell. Sometimes we simply must have tea together—just Archer and you and I. What the hell are you looking for?"

"Sit down, inspector," Maclain urged. "You invariably get sarcastic when you're on your feet too long. I've already found you something, haven't I? What about that secret drawer?"

"With nothing in it," said Archer. "Yet how you found it still beats me."

"I found it, sergeant, because unutilized space in the center of a desk is an inconsistency. Since I'm blind I've had to train my other senses to be sensitive to inconsistencies. As a matter of fact, one brought me here tonight."

"That sounds just ducky, like everything you say, captain—and it still leaves me up in a tree."

"Well, climb a few branches higher and keep your trap shut for a minute." The inspector left his place by the piano and settled himself on the divan. "Just what did bring you here tonight, Capt. Maclain? You're beginning to interest me."

"I'm very glad." The captain smiled. "That's a difficult thing to do. Countless thousands of innocent people are being murdered in Europe every day, Davis. When——"

"What's that got to do with us?" the inspector broke in.

"Too much, unfortunately." The captain's expressive voice was grim. "When murder becomes a commonplace—when the world begins to accept it with a shrug—then, God save us, the homicide squad needs help, inspector, and I do, too."

Dreist growled at the timbre of his master's words. The sergeant shifted his honest bulk in the chair. "How long had you known this fellow, Gerente, captain?"

"I knew him only by hearsay, sergeant. Paul Gerente was working for G-2."

"The intelligence department," Davis muttered. "Hell's broth, Maclain, what are we mixed up in now?"

"Something so deep that I can't even tell the whole of the truth to you. At 10:20 tonight a man, supposedly Paul Gerente, delivered some Braille instructions to me in my office. He lengthened his stride as he crossed from the door to my desk—to make me think he was taller than he was."

"Then he'd heard of your methods before?"

"Exactly, inspector. He'd heard of my methods before. I had no reason then to believe that it wasn't Gerente, taking some extra precautions—or devising a means of testing me. I know now——"

"You're damn right it wasn't Gerente!" Archer exclaimed emphatically. "I know Gerente. I've seen him twenty times on the stage and I don't forget faces. At 10:20——"

"Quite," said Maclain. "We come now to the inconsistencies which put you up an imaginative tree." The captain took a cigaret from his case, fitted it in a holder, and flashed his lighter. Guiding the flame adroitly to the tip by running his thumb along the cigaret, he inhaled deeply and put the lighter away.

"According to Mr. Cameron," he continued, "Paul Gerente was killed at 7:45. He and Cameron were good friends—so good that Gerente had given Cameron a key."

"We found it on him," said Davis. "That's true."

"Or partly true, inspector. Anyhow, he had a key. To go on with the story: Both Cameron and Gerente had been going with a girl—Hilda Lestrade. She came to call on Cameron; they had a few drinks in Cameron's apartment and came upstairs. Here they had some more. Gerente got a bit drunk and high words followed. Gerente came at Cameron with a poker. Cameron wrested it away and struck him down. He fell right where I'm standing now."

The inspector's heavy brows met in a frown. "What's the matter with that?"

"Inconsistencies, Davis. Incongruities. Impossibilities. It's full of them, and I can't even see. Where was Cameron standing when Gerente rushed him with the poker? If Gerente seized the poker from beside the fireplace, then Cameron must have been somewhere out in the room. Remember that, inspector, when you question the girl.

"Did Cameron push Gerente back to in front of the fire before he struck him down? If he did, it was a neat, quiet job—for the struggle hadn't even rumpled Paul Gerente's dressing gown. It won't wash, Davis. Paul Gerente was struck down quietly from behind. Probably by some one who slipped out from the bedroom."

"But Cameron's confessed, Maclain," the inspector reminded him stolidly.

"That makes everything easy, doesn't it? You can handle this any way you want, inspector, but I'm going to tell you a little more."

"I can't stop you. Shoot. Mentally I'm putting it all down."

"Is it consistent that after committing a murder the murderer should wash three highball glasses and put them away again? That's number one. Number two is somebody with wet feet stood for a long time outside of this apartment door in the hall or left their rubbers there."

"Now, how——"

"Dreist sniffed the floor, inspector, while I was waiting outside the door before Cameron let me in. I felt the floor. I think a pair of rubbers had been there, for I doubt if any one could have stood so close to the wall."

"They belonged to the girl," said Archer with a sigh.

"She came upstairs from Cameron's apartment." The captain put more ashes in the tray. "Did she keep her wet rubbers on until she came up here and then suddenly decide to remove them and leave them in the hall?"

"There's something you're holding back, captain." The inspector's voice had an edge. "It isn't like you to take an open and shut killing and twist it into a nasty snarl."

"It's already a nasty snarl," the captain said sharply. "There was something inconsistent about that set of Braille instructions, Inspector Davis. It brought me here tonight, because I'd hardly expect to find it in G-2. There's something inconsistent here—in this room and the bedroom and traces of it in Paul Gerente's secret drawer."

"If there's anything in that drawer," said Archer, "it certainly doesn't meet the eye."

"Nor ever will, sergeant," said Duncan Maclain. "I'm talking about an odor of violets!"

Cosmetic Gift Gets Welcome Christmas Day

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We are not sure that we are in full accord with the movement of getting Christmas gifts on the way weeks ahead of the big holiday itself. However, we do know that it eases the work of the postal people, who, as fellow workers, ought to earn our coöperation. But we're a victim of undisciplined curiosity, we fear, and so the big morning sometimes finds us without the punch of secrets behind untouched wrappings. But that is our weakness which we hope isn't often duplicated.

Having delivered ourselves of that for no good reason we proceed to suggest that never, never in the history of beauty products has there awaited the Christmas shopper so varied, so lovely, so frankly beguiling an array from which to choose the perfect gift than lines the cosmetic shelves this year.

Whether you deliver your packages early or not so early, at least plan your gifts now. And plan the ever-welcome gift to any woman, every woman, a choice cosmetic item.

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving again in some parts of the country! But since Illinois' Thanksgiving day was observed last week, almost the only repeat turkey dinners will be held in homes where vacationing college students would otherwise miss this annual feast.

A roast of veal is a suitable dinner choice if it isn't to be turkey again. The shoulder is an economical cut for roasting. An arm cut of the shoulder, weighing three or four pounds, makes a grand roast. If the dealer bones and rolls your shoulder roast, carving will be facilitated.

Veal is a lean meat and it is well to cover it with strips of bacon during roasting. Roast it uncovered on a rack at a constant temperature of 300 degrees. When the meat thermometer reaches 170 degrees, the meat is done. Any gauge of cooking other than the meat thermometer is mere guesswork. Every kitchen should be equipped with this little guarantee of good roast meat. Without a thermometer the most accurate guess is 25 minutes to the pound for veal with the bone in, 40-45 minutes to the pound for a rolled, boneless shoulder.

Salt and pepper the meat whenever it is convenient, at the beginning, middle, or toward the end of cooking. Salt doesn't penetrate the surface of the meat very far, anyway, so it won't matter if you forget the seasonings until the roast is nearly done.

Brussels sprouts are delicious when they aren't overcooked. When they are, they have a strong, unappetizing flavor and a characterless mushiness of texture. The little cabbages should be boiled in salted water, without a cover, for just long enough to be pierceable with a fork. There should be a little crispness left in them, and their green color won't have faded appreciably if they are cooked to this point and no longer. From the cooking pan into the waiting hot white sauce, and the sprouts are ready to be eaten.

Hot Plum Roll.
[Serves six.]

2 cups sifted flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter
¾ cup milk
2 cups seeded, drained canned plums

Sift dry ingredients together and cut in butter. Add milk gradually to make a soft dough. Roll out to a fourth inch in thickness and cover with plums. Roll up jellyroll fashion and press edges together. Cut into two inch slices and place, cut side down, in greased baking pan. Bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees, for 25 to 30 minutes, basting several times with the plum juice. Serve hot with hard sauce.

Christian F. Seabrook, president of the Chicago Industrial Nurses' association, announced yesterday that the association will hold a card party tonight in the Morrison hotel.

Boutonnieres in Crochet

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

To belong to the luxury class which permits a fresh boutonniere every day is bliss, but to be able to crochet dainty floral pieces which, in every way, approach the beauty of the natural flower, except in scent, is a talent which should not be overlooked. Crocheting a bunch of red poppies to be worn with a dark suit is a simple matter, and the instructions are easy to follow. The crisp white carnation may be approximated with the use of fine white mercerized crochet cotton, delicately scented with any popular carnation cologne.

For instructions in crocheting the carnation and poppies, No. 241, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th Avenue, New York City.

Numerology By Evelyn Holmes

Nov. 27, 1940.

Universal day—Don't hope for all fun on this day. Serious thoughts will work out best.

December—All those who have been having a seven-year [which includes those born on this date] will probably be relieved that a more or less difficult period is nearly over. December, being a one-month, for them may bring changes, new conditions to meet, and a different attitude toward some old problems. You should feel the swifter pace which will start off the new year for you. If you followed the suggestions in your personal chart—to rest, study, go slow and refresh your inner self, you should be ready now for anything which comes with new courage and a better understanding of yourself.

Year ahead—A definitely more active year coming with greater opportunities to expand your influence.

President Praises Radio Industry for News Dissemination

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—Asserting that the radio industry had done "its job well" in the field of news dissemination, President Roosevelt expressed belief tonight that democracy would "not tolerate any attempts at domination or control by government of the free and open avenues of public information."

Mr. Roosevelt's views were set forth in a letter of felicitation to a dinner celebrating the 20th anniversary of radio. The dinner was attended by some 500 leaders of the broadcasting industry, government officials, and others.

Wendell Willkie also praised the "fairness and high sense of responsibility of those in control of our radio facilities." He added that a "free radio, along with a free press, constitutes the cornerstone of a system of free men."

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

As I acknowledged yesterday, most of the questions in the recent examination that dealt with play [in contradistinction to the bidding] brought a large proportion of correct answers. Question 19, however, proved too hard a nut to crack for 70 per cent of the contestants. This question was:

You are West, declarer at a contract of seven spades. Your hand and dummy are as follows:

West [you].	East [dummy].
♠K J 10 9 8	♠A Q 6
♥6	♥A 9 5 2
♦K 5 3	♦A J 7
♣A Q J 10	♣K 8 3

North opens the heart king. What is your play at the second trick, and what is your plan for the entire hand?

In my official answer I pointed out that a "dummy reversal" line of play had by all odds the best chance of success, this particularly in view of the fact that declarer could determine very early in the play whether or not trumps were going to break 3-2; if a 4-1 break developed, that he could easily shift to the plan of drawing adverse trumps, eventually taking the diamond finesse. Thus the eminently correct plan was to ruff a heart immediately after winning with the ace, then to lay down one high trump from the West hand before cashing a high trump in dummy. This precise order of plays was vital for two separate but strongly related reasons: [a] To retain the requisite entries in dummy and [b] to discover at the fourth trick whether a trump break could be counted on. Contestants who chose to lead one spade honor from dummy before ruffing a heart would find that they were one entry short in dummy—that is, they would be unable to return after ruffing all the hearts in order to draw the last outstanding trump.

To my great astonishment, many examinees objected to the official answer on the ground that it did not guard against a 5-0 break! True, but scarcely pertinent! To guard against such a trump break, it would be necessary to abandon any thought of ruffing out dummy's hearts, and this in turn would force declarer to take the diamond finesse. This finesse has precisely an even chance, whereas the 5-0 trump break occurs only four times in a hundred cases. It seems reasonable to me to conclude that a player can afford to ignore a 4 per cent risk in order to avoid a 50 per cent risk.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 club	1 diamond	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

A player should not risk more than a two trick set when vulnerable. South's horrible overcall risked a three or four trick set.

West opened the king of clubs and East played the discouraging deuce. West switched to the deuce of spades, dummy ducked, and East won with the jack. East returned a low trump and West won with the king. West then led another low spade and South was faced with a guess. He did not credit West with a repeated underlead of the ace of spades and therefore ducked from dummy once more. East won with the queen of spades and returned the suit.

The defenders subsequently won a club trick, another trump trick, and the ace of hearts. In all, they gathered in eight tricks for a 500 point penalty. They were well pleased with the result, since they had no play for a game at any contract of their own.

Tuesday Night Crowd Record Is Set at Opera

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

"O, boy, if only this were the first week instead of the fourth of the opera season," sighed the smartly turned out red uniformed page boy at the Civic Opera house last night. "You see," he went on "it takes about this long for the operagoers to get warmed up. It'll be like this the rest of the season, but it should be like this from the start, shouldn't it?"

We agreed that it should, and that he was right for each winter it does seem to take Chicago a few weeks to learn the way to the opera house on the bank of the river. All of which means that last night's was by far the largest of any Tuesday night audience so far this season. There were so few unoccupied seats that they were unnoticeable.

Being of the old school, we've taken a little time to become accustomed to the idea of going to the opera in daytime clothes, but we cannot help but admit that those dressed that way usually seem to be having a better time than those who are in formal garb. So, dress as you like but go to the opera, is our advice!

One of the most distinguished boxes was that of Mrs. Charles D. Butterworth of Moline and Chicago, who was entertaining Mrs. Butterworth's nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deere Wiman, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker, the Silas H. Strawns, Mrs. Walter Cummings and Gerald Cudahy.

The Herbert E. Bradleys, the Frederick A. Prestons, the James R. Offields, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bernays, the Jason F. Whitneys, the Nicholas Starroselskys, Daniel Catton Rich, the Charles S. Davises, and George Bates and his lovely young wife were among those who upheld the tradition that grand opera and full evening clothes go together.

OUTLINE 3 POINT PLAN TO AMEND STATE TAX LAW

'ounty Officials Seek to Spur Collections.

The legislative committee of the Cook county board yesterday outlined a three point program for amending state tax laws which is designed to put teeth in tax collection efforts, streamline county bookkeeping, and save more than $100,000 in county advertising expense involved in tax litigation.

The committee took these steps:

1. Directed William Tuohy, assistant state's attorney, to draw up an amendment to the law on tax sales giving a tax buyer the right to clear title to a tax delinquent property after four years if the original owner has not reimbursed him. The amendment would replace the present system under which the tax buyer gets only a "cloud" on the title and the owner is allowed to let delinquent taxes pile up indefinitely while he retains possession of the property.

Land Lot Ledger Proposed.

2. Instructed Lee J. Howard, county auditor, to submit a plan for adoption of the modern land lot ledger system as the official tax bookkeeping record of the county treasurer. Adoption of such a plan would require an amendment by the legislature. The land lot system would replace the present antiquated warrant books set up by law in the early days before tax records and collecting became a large and complicated problem.

3. Asked Arthur Sullivan, attorney for the county treasurer, to work out an amendment to eliminate part of the county's advertising expense involved in so-called tax sales. The law now requires the county to advertise for sale all delinquent properties and also those properties whose owners actually have paid taxes in full, but under protest. Properties of the protesting taxpayers are never put up for tax sales, but the advertising expense on them runs from $100,000 to $150,000 a year. This advertising would be eliminated by the proposed law.

George Miller, chairman of the board's legislative committee, said the three amendments, if approved by the committee, will be presented to the county board. If advocated by the board, they will be submitted to the state assembly, which meets in January.

Tax Sale Judgments Urged.

The proposed tax sale amendment would give a buyer at a tax sale the right to get a judgment for the unpaid taxes against the delinquent property owner two years after the sale. If the judgment were not paid in two more years, the buyer could foreclose on the property. Under present laws the tax buyer has no right to foreclose. The amendment was advocated by George O. Fairweather of the Chicago Association of Commerce's committee on delinquent taxes, and Robert Cushman, prominent tax attorney.

Adoption of the land lot system has been advocated for several years by County Treasurer John Toman, but has never been approved by the state assembly. The present system includes a set of warrant books for each year, so that the tax payment record on a given property for a period of years can be found only by going thru many sets of warrant books. With the land lot ledgers, the complete record of one property is contained on a single card and can be determined at a glance. This innovation would assist the treasurer in keeping tab on delinquent taxpayers and forcing them to pay up, according to Toman.

REQUEST 27 NEW JOBHOLDERS IN COUNTY OFFICES

New requests made yesterday to add 27 employés to the 1941 pay rolls of county fee offices brought to 94 the net total of new pay rollers requested. The added requests were made at the second hearing of the Circuit court judges' committee on help. The committee will make its recommendations to the county board before Friday in time for preparation of the new budget.

Judge Frank Bicek of the Juvenile court asked for 23 new employés in keeping with a proposed reorganization of the court as recommended by efficiency experts. Frank Lyman, clerk of the Probate court, proposed the hiring of four new employés to collect unpaid court costs.

At a previous hearing last week Treasurer John Toman asked for 42 new tax collectors, Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien requested 26 new policemen, and Coroner A. L. Brodie asked for one additional employé. Permission to drop two persons was asked by John E. Conroy, clerk of the Circuit court.

MADE IN U.S.
EASTMAN KODAK CO.

IN A Dutch prison in Java over thirty years ago, a young medical officer noticed that prisoners eating polished rice were suffering. Then he made the discovery that the trouble was caused not by something present in the rice, but by something absent—something hidden in its silvery skin. Something we now call a vitamin.

Scientists have traced a dozen evils to missing vitamins—from beriberi to night blindness. They know that some foods are rich in vitamins. And some are not. But you never saw a picture of a vitamin, did you?

A similar hidden ingredient is found in advertising. For years, advertisers have known that some magazines sell goods, and some don't. They make surveys, count subscribers, count pages, photograph readers, but none of these is the answer.

They know the vital ingredient that makes the difference, even if they can't photograph it. It's the invisible but important confidence readers have in a magazine. That certain quality that makes them believe more in one magazine, and less in another.

There are no photographs to show why, in this year of 1940, advertisers are putting almost twice as much money in The Saturday Evening Post as in any other magazine. The Post sells more copies than any other weekly, but that's not the answer. It's something bigger—call it the "reader confidence vitamin" if you like.

Maybe somebody will take a picture of it someday. But it's not necessary. Advertisers know it's there, and they know how to use it. That's plenty to know.

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

The weather man, whose mail from football fans has been very light this autumn, will get some letters this morning. The first missive to reach his desk will be from Mayor Kelly, who will urge the weather man to get away from the storm levers and start bearing down for the game Saturday afternoon between Fenger and Leo, the prep champions, who meet in Soldiers' field for the city title.

Mayor Kelly and other officials of Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit fund, sponsor of the interleague series since 1934, hope for, of course, a crisp, autumnal afternoon like three years ago when Bill De Correvont and his Austin teammates, and Johnny Galvin and his Leo associates played before 115,000 in the lake front arena. The weather man has not been able to locate those choice levers since that time, conditions having been far from ideal for the last two games, altho a crowd of 80,000 was in attendance for each contest.

70,000 Tickets Sold.

Barnet Hodes, secretary of the benefit fund, said yesterday that 70,000 tickets have been sold and that the till is holding approximately $80,000. Hodes said indications are that the $100,000 goal will be reached. The proceeds will be used to purchase clothing and shoes for 75,000 underprivileged children in Chicago.

Coach Whitey Cronin and his Leo players, after tossing a few snowballs, began their serious work of studying Fenger's weight charts and scoring records yesterday afternoon. Cronin, who has watched the Public School league representatives in two games this season, gazed at figures which showed Fenger's line averaging 191 pounds. Then he considered his own line, which averages 169 and has only one 200 pounder, Capt. Skip Carroll, right tackle.

Carroll's leg was injured in Sunday's Catholic league battle with De Paul, but Coach Cronin said he would be available for the Fenger game. Bob Quinn, regular right end, who also was hurt in the De Paul contest, will not play against the public school champions. His place will be taken by Joseph Kunka, who weighs 158 pounds and is 5 feet, 10 inches tall.

Small Backs, but Mighty.

There is cause to swoon when Coach Cronin compares his little backs with Fenger's giants, but he is not alarmed. The small ball carriers have met big tackles before and come thru successfully. The quartet includes Henry [Babe] Baranowski, 152 pound quarter back, hero of the victory over De Paul; Bob Richter, 145 pound right half back; Tom McDonald, 158 pound left half, and Bob Kelly, 168 pound full back.

Players weighing 145 pounds seldom prove efficient enough to become good blockers, but Richter, the only senior in the Leo back field, has crashed over big linemen all season long, to open holes for his team mates. One of Richter's best performances was two weeks ago, when he spilled Mount Carmel's great tackle, Sigmund Czarobski, and enabled Baranowski to get away for a 30 yard run.

Leo's Line Is Sturdy.

The Leo line also has enjoyed considerable success despite weight handicaps. Only three touchdowns have been scored against the Catholic league champions in 10 games this season and they were made on passes. Morton of Cicero scored against Leo while absorbing a 25 to 7 defeat early in the season. De La Salle was the second team to score on a pass and tied Leo, 6 to 6. The third was accomplished last Sunday when De Paul's Bill Freewalt shot a short pass to John Smith, who ran fifty-four yards to score.

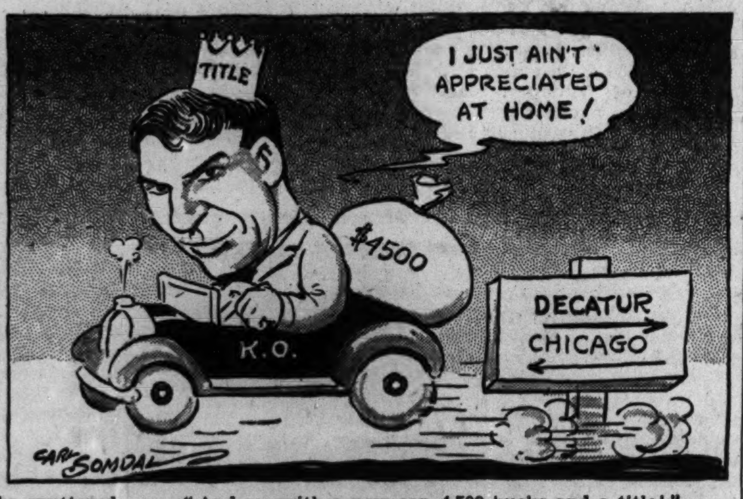
In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

IT made a nice paragraph, but Jimmy Wilson does not have the bag he stole in the 1940 world series. . . . He doesn't even have an autographed baseball in his Philadelphia home. . . . The most consistent player in the National Football league is Danny Fortmann, left guard of the Bears, who never has had a bad game in all his years of service. . . . He averages about 55 minutes of work a game. . . . Ken Overlin, middleweight boxing champion, doesn't think much of the girls in Decatur, Ill., his home town. . . . On his first visit to his native town after winning the title he spent an hour on the telephone vainly seeking a date. . . . "Can you imagine that?"



he sputtered. . . . "And me with a new car, 4,500 bucks and a title!" . . . Quest, the yacht which used to carry newspapers to the late William Wrigley Jr., when he was on Catalina Island with his Cubs, was sold the other day for $2,000. . . . It cost the elder Wrigley $45,000. . . . Capt. William H. Baumer Jr., who handles sports publicity at the United States Military academy, has had two books published recently entitled "21 to 35," which concerns the draft and army training, and "How to Be an Army Officer." . . . The reason the Chicago Blackhawks recalled Defenseman Dave MacKay, late of the University of Alberta, instead of the more colorful Defenseman Johnny Mariucci, late of the University of Minnesota, is because Alberta plays the Canadian style of hockey and Minnesota plays the United States collegiate brand. . . . We don't know what it is, but there's a vast difference, tho both styles require ice. . . . Fans in Peoria will see some of the best basketball teams in the land this winter. . . . Bradley Tech's schedule includes leading quintets from both coasts as well as several midwest headliners. . . . Cracker Schalk is the only major league catcher who has made a putout at all four bases in a major league competition. . . .

R. Otto Probst of South Bend, whose library includes a complete file of the Australian Golfer, found the following in the issue of Oct. 6, 1927: "Two golf and tennis players were comparing the merits of the two sports." Said the golfer: "If there is a human side to tennis, tell me a single funny story. I can tell you a hundred good golf jokes." . . . Lou Little keeps a scout busy checking weaknesses in the play of his Columbia Lions. . . . Ollie Bejma, former White Sox second baseman now with St. Paul, believes Phil Rizzuto, Kansas City shortstop, is a cinch to take Frank Crosetti's job with the Yankees next year. . . . He says Rizzuto helped to make Gerald Priddy look good at second base. . . . The Audubon Country club of Louisville has decided to cancel the dues of any member called into military service. . . . Tom Hickey, 80 year old president emeritus of the American association, is one of the fashion plates of the sports realm. . . . Jim Gallagher's 76 year old father, Bill, of Lorain, O., has been gravely ill, but rallied happily when he got word Jim had been appointed general manager of the Cubs. . . . Cotton Price, the Detroit Lions' forward passing expert, was not even mentioned when the National league club owners were making their draft selections. . . . He was quarter back for the Texas Aggie eleven which climaxed an undefeated season with a 14 to 13 victory over Tulane in the 1940 Sugar bowl game.

The Bare Facts.

The results of last week's football forecasts were:

	W.	L.	T.
West	12	3	1
East	8	5	0
South	10	2	0
	33	11	1

The season's record is 446 right, 141 wrong, and 35 ties for a percentage of .760.

Tribune Picks 21 Out of 24 Winners in Grid Forecasts

There were 24 games played between Big Nine conference teams in the 1940 football schedule. Arch Ward, who in his Wake of the News predicts the outcomes of the nation's major contests, forecast the Big Nine winner correctly 21 times. He was on the wrong side only three times. Ward picked Michigan to whip Minnesota by a point and the Wolverines lost by a point. He predicted Purdue would whip Indiana by a touchdown and it lost by a field goal in the last seven seconds. He forecast a 7 to 0 victory for Indiana over Wisconsin and the Badgers won, 27 to 10.

Syl Apps, Toronto center, started the scoring on Nick Metz's rebound. While the Rangers were trying to get that goal back, Gus Marker scored on a play with Pete Langelle and Hank Goldup. Then Gordie Drillon raced from end to end to slide a shot under Goalie Davie Kerr.

The Rangers got one goal back when Bryan Hextall scored in the second period and after Drillon scored again in the third, the Rangers' closing rush brought but a score by Alf Pike. The lineup:

Two Montreal goals were unassisted and the clincher was supplied by Jack Portland, a former Bruin, during the first minute of the third period when he made a rink length solo dash and, after skirting around Defenseman Jack Shewchuk, beat Goalie Frank Brimsek with a blistering close up shot.

Most Valuable—So Say Their Teammates

Dave Rankin, end, voted by his Purdue teammates last night as their most valuable player of 1940. A committee will select the Big Nine's most valuable after all nine nominations are made, the winner to receive the Chicago Tribune's annual silver trophy.

Michigan's football team designated Tom Harmon, star half back, as the most valuable Wolverine.

George Bernhardt, full back, was the choice of his Illinois teammates to compete for the Tribune award.

Snow Brings Out the Bears' Tennis Shoes

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Homer Cole and Rennie Wykowski, co-bosses of the Bears' clubhouse, were the busiest men on the north side yesterday as preparations were begun for the annual homecoming game with the Cardinals in Wrigley field Sunday.

At the break of dawn, Cole discovered snow on his windowsill and hurried to the park, where Wykowski already had everything torn out of the equipment room. Together they finally uncovered 33 pairs of old tennis shoes.

Tennis shoes are an odd item of football equipment, but since 1934 they have been standard paraphernalia for the Bears. That was the year in which the New York Giants taught Coach George Halas something about fashions in footwear and made off with a championship while the Bears were learning.

They May Be Important.

The sneakers will be dusted off, vulcanized here and there where disuse and rodents have ruined the tread, and kept in readiness for Sunday's engagement. If the blizzard does not abate, the Bears will go about the important business of winning the western division championship in rubber soled slippers.

A heavy blanket of snow and the blizzard did not interrupt practice in either camp yesterday. The Bears drilled for an hour, loosening up after Sunday's 47 to 25 conquest of the Rams. The squad reported in excellent shape with the exception of Danny Fortmann, who was favoring a sprained ankle. The injury is not serious, however, and Fortmann will be ready for Sunday's game, altho it is possible he will not see much action. The husky intern has been one of the outstanding factors in the Bears' success thus far and Coach Halas may not care to risk a recurrence of the injury with the championship game ahead. Fortmann probably has made more tackles than any other man in the league this year and it would not be very encouraging to Bear adherents to see their favorites start the title game without him.

Cards Please Conzelman.

Out on the south side, the snow was just as deep, the blizzard just as severe and the Cardinals just as fiery in a short drill. John Shirk, rookie end, was the only casualty in the Brooklyn game, and his bruised arm is not expected to keep him out of Sunday's final.

Coach Jimmy Conzelman was very proud of his youngsters despite their 14 to 9 defeat at the hands of the Dodgers. Their running game was bet-

ILLINOIS NAMES TUREK CAPTAIN OF 1941 ELEVEN

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 26 [Special].—Joe Turek, guard, was elected captain of the University of Illinois football team today for next year. Turek, who lives in Chicago, attended St. Bede's academy at Peru, Ill. He is a student in the college of liberal arts and sciences and a member of Theta Delta Chi social fraternity.

Emphasizing the importance of sanity in the administration of intercollegiate sport, Arch Ward, sports editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, guest speaker at the Champaign Rotary club's annual dinner to the Illinois squad tonight, warned that intercollegiate athletics must be restored to an amateur basis quickly if they are to be preserved.

"Unless a sane policy is generally adopted, other institutions will be dropping football," Ward said.

Other speakers were Coach Bob Zuppke, Director W. S. Wilson, Ralph Fletcher, freshman coach, and Ray Eliot, assistant varsity coach, who introduced the 25 varsity letter winners.

Eight sophomores were included in the 25 varsity letter winners.

Cross country letters were awarded Park Brown and Arthur Wood of Glencoe.

NAME WESTFALL CAPTAIN.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 26 [Special].—Full Back Bob Westfall, whose home town is Ann Arbor, today was elected captain of the Michigan football team for 1941 to succeed Forest Evashevski. Westfall thereby becomes the first local boy to captain the Wolverines since Johnny Maulbetsch held that honor in 1916.

SMITH LEADS GOPHERS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 26 [Special].—Bruce Smith, of Faribault, junior left half back and star ground gainer of the Big Nine championship Minnesota football team, today was elected captain of the 1941 squad at the torch passing ceremony before the student body.

A right half back last year, Smith was shifted to left half this year and immediately became a star.

Thirty five players and the student manager were given letters by President Guy Stanton Ford.

PURDUE NAMES CO-CAPTAINS.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 26 [Special].—Purdue's football squad, which missed a berth in the first division of the Western conference by the margin of 38 seconds and 7 points in three games, was paid a tribute tonight by 700 fans at the Kiwanis club's annual banquet.

Tom Melton of Lowell, Ind., and Jim Miller of Massillon, O., both guards, were named co-captains of the 1941 eleven.

Ellis C. Vanderpyl, radio executive of Cleveland, O., and a former football and track star at Yale, was the principal speaker. The Rev. J. B. Gleason, president of the Kiwanis club, was toastmaster.

Coach Mal Elward announced the award of 37 major letters and 29 minor letters to members of the Boilermaker squad.

Schmidt Says Ouster Story Is Not True

Columbus, O., Nov. 26 (AP).—The Ohio State Journal asserted tonight that Football Coach Francis A. Schmidt would not be reëmployed at Ohio State university, but Schmidt termed it a "cock and bull story."

University officials stated the report was without foundation. The Journal quoted an "unimpeachable source."

Schmidt, attending an alumni banquet in Cleveland, declined further comment.

Athletic Director L. W. St. John asserted there "is no foundation whatsoever for the story." J. L. Morrill, chairman of the athletic board and vice president of Ohio State, remarked that "positively no action of any kind has been taken."

Worst Season in 10 Years.

Herbert S. Atkinson, chairman of the university board of trustees and the trustees' representative on the 10 member athletic board, said he had not been consulted and knew of nothing that has taken place that would support any assumption a change is to be made.

Schmidt's 1940 team was crushed 40 to 0 by Michigan Saturday to conclude the worst Buckeye season in 10 years.

The Journal's story said that Schmidt's departure will be made in the most formal manner, and thru the regular procedure. He is employed on a year to year basis.

Won Four, Lost Four.

"When it is conveniently possible for all members of the Ohio State athletic board to be present, the first official action will be taken," the Journal said. It added that no meeting is expected to be held before Dec. 7.

Schmidt's 1940 won and lost record is not altogether responsible for the forthcoming action, the Journal said. Ohio State lost four of its eight games this year.

Schmidt came to Ohio State from Texas Christian in 1934.

ZIVIC FINISHES RONNIE BEAUDIN IN THIRD ROUND

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 26 (AP).—Fritzie Zivic, welterweight champion, scored a technical knockout over Ronnie [Frenchy] Beaudin, Toronto, Ont., after 2 minutes and 18 seconds of the third round in their scheduled 10 round, non-title bout in Buffalo's new memorial auditorium tonight. Zivic weighed 149 pounds, Beaudin 140½.

The champion carried the fight all the way, punishing Beaudin with vicious lefts to the head and rights to the body. Altho still on his feet, Beaudin showed the effects of the titleholder's vicious attack. His nose was bleeding freely, and he had several cuts about the head. There were no knockdowns.

MICHIGAN PICKS TOM HARMON, PURDUE RANKIN

Bernhardt Is Choice at Illinois.

Big 9 Honor Roll

THE list of most valuable nominations for The Chicago Tribune's silver trophy emblematic of the outstanding football player of the year in the Western conference was increased to four yesterday when three candidates were named by their teammates. A committee of 21 will select the conference's most valuable player after each of the nine teams has picked its man. Nominations to date follow:

Michigan—Tom Harmon, half back.

Illinois—George Bernhardt, full back.

Purdue—Dave Rankin, end.

Minnesota—Bob Paffrath, half back.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 26 [Special].—Tom Harmon, Michigan's all-American half back, was voted his team's most valuable player today and thus for the second successive year became a candidate for the Chicago Tribune's silver football trophy.

From Fielding H. Yost down to the greenest Michigan freshman, Wolverine fans already have given Harmon a prominent place in football's hall of fame. As a sophomore in 1938, the Gary, Ind., boy broke into large type headlines. In his junior year his sensational play won him unanimous All-American honors and second place among the nation's ground gainers. But it required this season's records to fully emphasize his value to the strong Michigan team.

A Self-Taught Punter.

The Wolverines this year ran up a total of 196 points, of which 153 were directly attributed to Harmon's running and passing. Altho he did very little punting his first two years, Tom saw the need for a kicker as early as last spring when Paul Kromer was forced out of practice with a bad knee. He asked Coach Fritz Crisler to send him a ball and shoes so that he could practice punting during the summer, and this fall he produced the most consistent pressure-punting seen at Michigan since the days of John Regeczi.

While handling these triple-threat duties, Harmon was the target of every team he faced. He was hit hard on gridirons from coast to coast, but never stayed down. Tom missed only 46 minutes of play in eight games, playing 60 minutes against Pennsylvania, Minnesota, and Northwestern. He missed 38 seconds against Ohio State.

Breaks Grange's Record.

Even tho three of Michigan's important Big Nine games were played in the rain and mud, Harmon equaled his impressive 1939 record for total yards gained by rushing and passing. He totaled 1,356 yards each year, according to unofficial figures.

Even the old Galloping Ghost, Red Grange, found this versatile 195 pound Indianan erasing scoring records of 15 years' standing. Last Saturday's finale at Ohio State gave Harmon his chance and he crossed the goal line three times to account for 33 touchdowns during his career, which bettered Grange's mark by two.

In three years Harmon scored 237 points, of which 117 were made this season. He threw 16 touchdown passes, averaged 5.4 yards per try as he ran for 2,134 yards, and completed 101 passes out of 233 attempts for 1,399 yards.

Greatest Since Heston—Yost.

The quoting of statistics could go on at great length, but they cannot tell the whole story. Ask Yost what he thinks of Tom's value as a football player. Yost, who has watched them come and go for half a century, today had this to say:

"Tommy is the greatest back I have seen in football since Willie Heston, bar none. He will go down in history as one of the game's all-time greats, not only because he did everything exceptionally well, but because he never dodged a tough spot and was at his best in an emergency.

"His selection as this team's most valuable player is high tribute, indeed, since no Michigan team in my memory ever had three such fine backs at one time as Harmon, Forest Evashevski, and Bob Westfall. I consider this year's team a truly great one."

The Michigan coaching staff has always been the first to point out that Harmon's defensive ability and hard blocking must not be overlooked when evaluating his talents.

STEVE MAMAKOS SEEKS SOOSE OR TONY ZALE BOUT

Negotiations were opened yesterday for a middleweight bout between Steve Mamakos and Champion Tony Zale or Billy Soose in Chicago Stadium next month following Mamakos' 10 round defeat of Milt Aron in the Coliseum on Monday. Irving Schoenwald, promoter of the Aron-Mamakos encounter, conferred with Mat Twomey about a fight with Jimmy Bivins or Nate Bolden, but Steve's manager said he was not interested in anything except a Zale or Soose match.

If the proposed engagement is closed for the Stadium the date probably would be Dec. 20. It would be held under the auspices of Bill Rand. The latter has reached the conclusion that Mike Jacobs, New York promoter, who made a deal to offer a series of shows in the Stadium this winter, is not going thru with it.

Schoenwald said the Coliseum show, which drew a net gate of $10,021, realized a profit of $1,500. Aron received $2,000 for his services. Mamakos collected a $1,000 guarantee. The Chicagoan, who received one of the worst beatings of his career, may not box again until next February. Jack Begun, Aron's manager, said the lad needed a rest, which will be taken in Florida within the next 10 days.

Promoter Alex Veck also is said to be seeking a Mamakos-Zale bout for the Coliseum Jan. 8 for the Greek War Relief fund. Altho he was granted the date by the Illinois boxing commission, Charles Hall, manager of the Coliseum, said the arena was not available because a wrestling card is scheduled on that night. He also explained that Schoenwald has an option on the old Wabash avenue arena. Yesterday Schoenwald said he would not waive his rights.

Nick Castiglione, west side lightweight, was paid $400 for his 10 round victory over Jimmy Tygh of Philadelphia, who received the same amount. Lem Franklin, Cleveland heavyweight, pocketed $400 for a five round knockout of Eddie Blunt of Corona, N. Y., who also got $400. Pat Foley, Worcester, Mass., 135 pounder, collected $500 for a match with Billy Marquart of Winnipeg, Man. Marquart scored a one round knockout, one of the most spectacular seen this year.

* * *

Because he injured his left hand against Tygh, Castiglione may cancel a scheduled 10 round headliner against Willie Joyce in Hammond Civic center Dec. 9. . . . Pete Lello, Gary lightweight, who was knocked out by Lew Jenkins, yesterday was matched to meet Morris Parker of Newark, N. J., in an eight round event in Newark next Monday . . . Buddy Baer, Sacramento, Cal., heavyweight, has been signed to oppose Babe Hunt in Odessa, Tex., Dec. 13.

THIS BOOK WILL SOLVE PROBLEMS ON DOG FEEDING

BY BOB BECKER.

The Tribune's new handbook on how to feed puppies and grown dogs entitled "Feeding the Dog" went on sale this week. This 91 page, illustrated book is being sold at The Tribune Public Service office, at 1 South Dearborn street and in the Tribune Tower. The cost per copy is 25 cents over the counter, or 30 cents by mail. Mail orders should be addressed to the Public Service office at 1 South Dearborn street.

In addition to information on the correct feeding routines for 35 different breeds, the book also contains practical tips on the general care of the puppy. Many nationally known breeders and kennels coöperated with this department in assembling the material.

The feeding routines give complete diets for puppies at the ages of 8 weeks, 12 weeks, 4 months, 6 months, and 1 year, giving the average dog owner a detailed guide on this important subject. Feeding routines for breeds of all sizes and representing all the different groups of purebred dogs are discussed.

Subjects affecting the general care of the puppy which are discussed in this book are distemper, bathing the puppy, grooming, fleas and ticks, and skin troubles.

"Feeding The Dog" goes on sale when Chicago is about to pay tribute to purebred dogs, for next Saturday and Sunday thousands will attend the Western Specialty dog show in the Coliseum which features 24 breeds.

HAWKS STRESS MARKSMANSHIP FOR WING GAME

Marksmanship nas become the most important item in the Blackhawks' practice as Acting Manager Johnny Gottselig prepares the squad in the Chicago Arena for its invasion of Detroit Friday night.

Altho the workouts the next days will last only an hour, from 1 to 2 o'clock, Gottselig plans to have the forwards concentrate almost wholly on target practice. It was inaccurate shooting that kept the Hawks from a lot of goal making against Toronto Sunday, when concerted rushes took them and the puck right to the goal mouth numerous times.

C. Y. O. NOVICE, OPEN FIGHTERS REACH FINALS

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Thirty-two boxers—16 in each of the open and novice classes—stand on the threshold of Catholic Youth organization amateur boxing championships. They battled their way to the finals, to be held in the Coliseum next Wednesday, without suffering a defeat during three weeks of fighting. This select group, the survivors of an original field of 980, was completed in the last of a series of semi-final contests in C. Y. O. center last night.

There were 19 exciting fights on last night's card, six each in the open and novice divisions, and seven in the beginners' ranks. Two of the most interesting involved Isaiah Wells of Holy Family, defending middleweight champion, against Tod Coy of St. Joseph's parish in Bradley, Ill., and Eddie O'Connell, St. Nicholas of Tolentine lightweight, against Art Brady of St. Patrick's in Kankakee.

O'Connell Needs Three Rounds.

Wells stopped his opponent in the first round with a left and right to the body, but O'Connell had a more difficult job on his hands to score a three round victory over Brady. The Kankakee representative, who had knocked out the competent Frank Bausone on Monday, annoyed Eddie no little with several unintentional low blows. However, Eddie was a clear winner, landing a fusilade of rights which dropped his antagonist for no count in the first, doubled him up in the second, and caused him to hold on in the third.

By his conquest Wells will draw Harry Stephens of St. Peter in next week's championship round. Stephens, 1939 Kenosha Golden Gloves sectional 160 pound winner, advanced by drawing a bye last night. Other boys to win their way to the Coliseum tournament without fighting included George Henrich, St. Edward, and Carmen Caputo, St. Mary of Mount Carmel, who will meet for the novice light heavyweight title.

Beginners Awarded Titles.

The eight winners in the beginners bracket were awarded championships. These hard fighting but inexperienced youngsters now will be eligible for competition in the novice division next year. They follow:

112 POUNDS—Roque Guso, St. Mary [Joliet].
118 POUNDS—Edward Kudla, St. Bruno.
126 POUNDS—Dan Hickey, St. Ethelreda.
135 POUNDS—Lawrence Lewil, St. Joseph.
147 POUNDS—Cleophus Johnson, Corpus Christi.
160 POUNDS—Don Wirth, St. Patrick's [Joliet].
175 POUNDS—Mike Sarno, St. Valentine.
HEAVYWEIGHT—Jesse Chavez, St. Jude.

Last night's qualifiers for the finals follow:

OPEN CLASS.

118 POUNDS—Fred Dawson, Corpus Christi, and Henry Nichols, Holy Name.
135 POUNDS—Eddie O'Connell, St. Nicholas of Tolentine, and O. D. Thomas, Holy Family.
160 POUNDS—Isaiah Wells, Holy Family, and Harry Stephens, St. Peter.
HEAVYWEIGHTS—James Stiff, Our Lady Help of Christians, and Dave Brown, Corpus Christi.

NOVICE CLASS.

112 POUNDS—William Killham, St. Mary's Training school, Des Plaines, Ill., and Don Gallardio, St. Rose of Lima.
126 POUNDS—Charles Carey, St. Peter Canisius, and Louis Dresh, St. Anselm.
147 POUNDS—Joseph Dugo, Our Lady of Pompeii, and James Jordan, St. Mary.
175 POUNDS—George Henrich, St. Edward, and Carmen Caputo, St. Mary of Mount Carmel.

Midwestern Players Could Form Own All-Star Quintet

BY WILFRID SMITH.

No matter whether the College All-Star basketball players or the Harlem Globe Trotters, professional champions, win Friday evening in the Chicago Stadium, the game will emphasize again the position of the midwest in this sport. Ten of the 15 college men who are training daily under the supervision of Dutch Lonborg, Northwestern university coach, are midwesterners.

On the Globe Trotters, who won their professional title here last spring, are several outstanding players who attended Chicago high schools and since have shuffled back and forth between Chicago semi-professional teams and those of other cities. For that matter, of course, because of their schedule, the Globe Trotters may be considered truly national. Certainly no player of preeminent ability would be denied a tryout with the squad because of the section in which he originated.

Vaughn Leads Forwards.

Probably the greatest forward in the list on the college squad is Ralph Vaughn, who starred at the University of Southern California. Chicagoans saw him in action a year ago when the Trojans played an overtime game in the Coliseum against De Paul's great quintet. Stan Szukala, of that De Paul team, also is a member of the All-Stars.

Vaughn's home is in Frankfort, Ind., where he won all-state honors in high school. On this same holiday season trip Southern California continued to Purdue and Notre Dame. From these universities Rex Ellis, Irish center, and Fred Beretta, Boilermaker guard, have been chosen for All-Star designation. By adding Marv Huffman, of Indiana; Erwin Prasse, of Iowa and a native Chicagoan; and Bill Hapac, of Illinois, Coach Lonborg could send a better than average team against the Trotters without assistance outside of the states of Indiana and Illinois. For extra measure Michigan's center, Jim Rae, whose home is Toledo, O., could be included.

Move To Stadium.

The All-Stars practiced in Evanston for the last time last night and now will move to the Stadium. The Globe Trotters also will be allotted practice time on the Stadium court. The Chicago Bruins, who will appear in a preliminary game Friday evening against the Oshkosh stars of the National Basketball league, are drilling daily in the Crane college gymnasium.

Until Monday evening Coach Lonborg had emphasized defense, believing that his squad will have greater difficulty stopping the Globe Trotters than in scoring against them. In particular, the collegians must concentrate on Sonny Boswell, an all-professional forward. He set a record of 18 field goals in one of the regular season games last winter.

Use College Rules.

College rules will govern play Friday night with the exception that five personal fouls instead of four will disqualify a man. The intercollegiate rule is four. The three second pivot rule and ten second rule for advancing the ball into enemy territory will be used. J. J. Lipp and Bill Finn have been named timers. Personnel of the college squad follows:

Forwards: Chet Jaworski, Rhode Island; Jim McNatt, Oklahoma; Ralph Vaughn, Southern California; Ralph Giannini, Santa Clara; Bill Hapac, Illinois; Bill McDonald, Marquette.

Centers: Jim Rae, Michigan; Rex Ellis, Notre Dame; Ed Sadowski, Seton Hall; Bob Calihan, Detroit; Bob Carpenter, East Texas.

Guards: Erwin Prasse, Iowa; Stan Szukala, De Paul; Fred Beretta, Purdue; Marv Huffman, Indiana.

It's Snowing—Bears' Tennis Shoes Are Out

ter than at any time this year, except possibly in their 21 to 7 triumph over the Bears, he said, and their defense was up to the Cardinal par. The Giants got by the middle of the field only twice all afternoon.

Finally Loses Pass.

Unfortunately they scored on both occasions. More unfortunately for the Cardinals, however, was the last play of the game when Alton Coppage, a rookie end, stood on the 1 yard line and fought a pass for what Conzelman swears was nearly an hour. The ball was true to its mark, but slipped out of his hands. Coppage made a grab for it at the knees and appeared to have it, but it got away again and with it went the ball game.

Hugh McCullough at left half, Ki Aldrich at center, Milt Popovich at full back, and Joe Kuharich at guard were just about as good Sunday as any players Conzelman has seen this year. He hopes for more of the same from these gents this week, snow or no snow.

Johnny Drake, Cleveland's full back, and Green Bay's Don Hutson are tied for the league's individual scoring lead with one game apiece to play.

Both reached the 50 point total Sunday while the erstwhile pace setter, Dick Todd, Washington back, was being held scoreless by New York.

CHICAGO TRACKS PLAN ANOTHER LARGE PROGRAM

Chicago can look forward in 1941 to the richest summer race meetings in its turf history. Purses and awards of approximately $950,000 will be distributed to horsemen by Arlington and Washington Parks during the 66 day coördinated racing schedules of these two leading Chicago tracks.

That announcement was made yesterday by the respective presidents of the two associations, John D. Allen of Arlington and Walter L. Gregory of Washington Park. It followed closely the allotment of dates by the Illinois racing commission to Chicago tracks in which Arlington obtained 34 days [June 23-July 31] and Washington Park 32 days [Aug. 1-Sept. 6].

Capt. Walter Matuszczak, Cornell quarter back, previously had accepted a bid.

Besides the three new Cornell additions, the Blue and Gray association announced acceptances from Tom Riggs, Illinois captain and tackle, and James Caspiglia, a 200 pound Georgetown back.

Chicago Gets World Billiard Tournament

The nation's leading three cushion billiardists will line up again in Chicago this winter for a tournament, which in length will exceed the last one captured by Willie Hoppe, who won 20 consecutive matches for a world record. Hoppe is expected to defend his title.

The National Billiard association announced yesterday that the tournament will be held in Bensinger's arena, 131 South Wabash avenue, from Jan. 13 to Feb. 6. It will carry a $20,000 prize list, and will be under the joint direction of the billiard association and Norman Bensinger.

Each to Play 15 Matches.

Invitations have been sent to 20 players and from these 16 will be selected. Competition will be over a round robin schedule, each player meeting each of his 15 opponents once.

Big 9 Players Name 3 More Most Valuable

an eleven that fared none too well was even more remarkable because almost without exception the opposition put two and three blockers on him in attempting to round his end. He usually was doubly covered on passes.

He Carried the Ball, Too.

At times Rankin provided the Boilermakers with a fifth back by picking up invaluable yardage in tough spots on an end around play. He carried the ball from scrimmage nine times during the season for a net gain of thirty-six yards.

Defensively, Rankin was quick to sense and anticipate plays and frequently broke up runs before they fairly got underway. He was hard to knock off his feet as he brushed aside blockers and tackled the ball carrier.

Rankin is 21 years old and is a senior in the school of physical education. At present he does not intend to play professional football.

IT'S BERNHARDT AT ILLINOIS

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 26 [Special].—George Bernhardt, 200 pound senior, who has been a favorite with Coach Bob Zuppke and his assistants ever since his collegiate gridiron career began, was elected most valuable player by his teammates today to compete for the Chicago Tribune silver football trophy.

Bernie, as his fellow players call him, played two seasons at guard before he was transferred to full back this year.

"Bernhardt was the most consistent player Illinois had," Zuppke said tonight. "He caught passes, carried the ball and played a great defensive game. Even with a broken hand he made amazing catches against Michigan and last Saturday caught a pass with one hand and scored on Iowa. He is a great boy with a fine coöperative spirit."

Starred at Riverside High.

Many believe Bernie would have been a sure bet for all-conference honors at guard if team necessities had not placed him in the back field. Last year Bernhardt played left guard, Capt. Mel Brewer's position, which deprived him of a starting rôle, but he saw practically as much action as Brewer.

In high school at Riverside, a Chicago suburb, Bernhardt competed in football, basketball and track. Bernhardt and Don Elting, a teammate on the Illinois varsity, led Riverside to Suburban league championships in 1935 and 1936.

Bernhardt is enrolled in the school of physical education and hopes to coach after graduation, altho he might play professional football.

SKATERS MEET TONIGHT.

The first meeting of the Northwest Skating club will be held tonight at 4501 North Clarendon avenue. Coach Bill Beck announced that uniforms and registration numbers will be given out.

CREDITORS LOSE APPEAL IN BANK LIABILITY CASE

Court Supports Cause of Stockholders.

The second branch of the Appellate court yesterday affirmed a decision of the Circuit court which dismissed a suit brought by a group of creditors of the First Englewood State bank of Chicago against a number of stockholders of the National Republic Bancorporation to collect stockholders' double liability.

Judge Friend.

An opinion written by Judge Hugo M. Friend held that the creditors had "no valid reason, after a lapse of two years, to create a new liability" on stockholders of the Bancorporation. The plaintiffs contended that the stockholders were partners in the corporation, thus making them liable for payment of a judgment returned against the corporation.

Corporation Held Liable.

On Dec. 28, 1934, Bancorporation was held liable for $189,000 as holder of 1,890 shares of stock in the bank which had been closed in June, 1932. Bancorporation had been adjudicated a bankrupt on May 16, 1933.

Unable to collect the judgment against the corporation, the creditors filed suit in 1937 against 1,250 shareholders of Bancorporation. They contended the shareholders were virtually partners in the corporation which allegedly had obtained possession and control of the First Englewood State bank for the purpose of evading Illinois laws banning chain banking. The case was dismissed in the Circuit court last year.

Rules on "New Evidence."

Attorney John C. De Wolfe, for the plaintiffs, argued that the suit was justified on the grounds of newly found evidence. The court upheld the contention of Attorney Frank Michels that such evidence was available before the first action was brought.

The Appellate court did not pass on whether Bancorporation was engaged in branch banking, but based its opinion on the jurisdictional question. Judges Kickam Scanlon and John J. Sullivan concurred.

Attorney De Wolfe said he planned to appeal the Englewood case to the state Supreme court. Four similar suits have been brought against the National Republic Bancorporation stockholders in connection with other closed banks.

STEADY GROWTH.

A friend of mine who keeps informed on investment matters suggested Abbott Laboratories as a good common stock investment. He said you would be able to furnish me with details about the company.—F. W.

Answer: Consistent growth since 1931 has raised the operations of Abbott Laboratories, North Chicago, Ill., to the highest level in its history. Current earnings are reported ahead of those for 1939, which was the company's peak year for sales and net income.

Net income in the first nine months this year was $1,987,042, equal to $2.57 a common share after provision for preferred dividends. This was a gain over net income of $1,756,578 or $2.51 a common share in the corresponding months of 1939. Third quarter earnings this year were the highest on record.

The company has operated profitably since 1900. Comparison of financial results in recent years follow:

	Net income.	*Earned per com. share.	Dividends per com. share.
1935	$1,116,234	$5.59	$3.00
1936	1,415,276	2.21	3.70
1937	1,612,360	2.50	2.10
1938	1,648,326	2.43	1.70
1939	2,048,094	2.61	2.05

The regular quarterly dividend of 40 cents and an extra of 10 cents a share were paid on the common stock in each of the first three quarters this year. An extra dividend of 25 cents and the regular quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share on the common stock will be paid Dec. 23 on shares of record Dec. 5.

Regular payments on the preferred stock are being made. The company has outstanding 755,204 shares of no par common stock and 12,922 shares of 4½ per cent cumulative preferred stock, both listed on the New York and Chicago stock exchanges.

Abbott Laboratories manufactures approximately 1,200 pharmaceutical, biological, chemical, and vitamin products and specializes in antiseptics, anesthetics, and hypnotics.

OPERATING RATIO.

The other day I read that Norfolk and Western has an unusually low operating ratio. What does that mean and how does the ratio compare with that for the rest of the railroad industry?—H. D.

Answer: The operating ratio of a railroad is computed by dividing total operating expenses by total operating revenues. The percentage obtained is the relationship between the two items. The operating ratio of the Norfolk and Western railroad in 1939 was 54.9 per cent, which means its total operating expenses consumed 54.9 per cent of its total operating revenues that year. The combined operating ratio of the class I railroads of the United States last year was 73.05 per cent.

COTTON

Buying of nearby deliveries of cotton attributed to mills and shorts gave the market a relatively firm undertone yesterday. Pressure was in evidence on the distant months, with some changing from December to the deferred positions by speculative interests. Deliveries on December contracts in New York were 1,000 bales. Closing sales on futures were .03 cent higher to .11 cent a pound lower.

Weakness in October cotton was attributed more to lack of support than aggressive selling.

There are 2,022,000 bales of 1940 cotton pledged as security for government loans, including completions to Nov. 23, it was officially announced.

Cash cotton closed .02 to .05 cent higher, with New York, 10.34 cents; New Orleans, 9.93 cents; Galveston, 9.84 cents, and Houston at 9.79 cents a pound future. Futures prices follow:

MISSOURI TAKES OVER CENTRAL STATES LIFE CO.

Impairment of Capital Is Admitted.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 26 (AP).—A court order turning over to the Missouri state insurance department the management of the Central States Life Insurance company, which has about $60,000,000 of insurance in force, was issued here today.

It followed the filing of a petition for a receiver by the state superintendent of insurance, Ray B. Lucas, alleging the company is insolvent and further transaction of business will be hazardous to policyholders, creditors, and the public. The company has home offices in St. Louis.

[Central States was not licensed to do business in Illinois. The company had relatively few policyholders in Chicago or the rest of the state.]

No Action on Dissolution.

Circuit Judge Joseph J. Ward also granted Lucas his plea for a restraining order to prevent the company from continuing business but did not act on the superintendent's request for a decree of dissolution.

In its answer admitting insolvency and impairment of its capital stock fund the company said it was uninformed as to the extent of the insolvency and asked the court to determine the amount.

Counsel for the insurance department said there were three possible courses open—rehabilitation of the company by the department, reinsurance of its business, or liquidation.

Blame Realty Financing.

Central States was not recently mismanaged, Lucas said, but had put too much money in real estate years ago before the present management took charge.

The insurance company's largest asset is the 29-story Park Plaza hotel in St. Louis' fashionable west end residential district. It was taken over under foreclosure in Febraury, 1937, and carried on the Central States' books at $3,600,000.

Financial statement of the company as of last Dec. 31 listed assets at $19,980,131. Of this amount $6,771,978, more than one-third, was in real estate and $5,482,097 in mortgage loans.

CREDITORS LOSE APPEAL IN BANK LIABILITY CASE

Court Supports Cause of Stockholders.

Judge Friend.

The second branch of the Appellate court yesterday affirmed a decision of the Circuit court which dismissed a suit brought by a group of creditors of the First Englewood State bank of Chicago against a number of stockholders of the National Republic Bancorporation to collect stockholders' double liability.

An opinion written by Judge Hugo M. Friend held that the creditors had "no valid reason, after a lapse of two years, to create a new liability" on stockholders of the Bancorporation. The plaintiffs contended that the stockholders were partners in the corporation, thus making them liable for payment of a judgment returned against the corporation.

Corporation Held Liable.

On Dec. 28, 1934, Bancorporation was held liable for $189,000 as holder of 1,890 shares of stock in the bank which had been closed in June, 1932. Bancorporation had been adjudicated a bankrupt on May 16, 1933.

Unable to collect the judgment against the corporation, the creditors filed suit in 1937 against 1,250 shareholders of Bancorporation. They contended the shareholders were virtually partners in the corporation which allegedly had obtained possession and control of the First Englewood State bank for the purpose of evading Illinois laws banning chain banking. The case was dismissed in the Circuit court last year.

Rules on "New Evidence."

Attorney John C. De Wolfe, for the plaintiffs, argued that the suit was justified on the grounds of newly found evidence. The court upheld the contention of Attorney Frank Michels that such evidence was available before the first action was brought.

The Appellate court did not pass on whether Bancorporation was engaged in branch banking, but based its opinion on the jurisdictional question. Judges Kickam Scanlon and John J. Sullivan concurred.

Attorney De Wolfe said he planned to appeal the Englewood case to the state Supreme court. Four similar suits have been brought against the National Republic Bancorporation stockholders in connection with other closed banks.

STEADY GROWTH.

A friend of mine who keeps informed on investment matters suggested Abbott Laboratories as a good common stock investment. He said you would be able to furnish me with details about the company.—F. W.

Answer: Consistent growth since 1931 has raised the operations of Abbott Laboratories, North Chicago, Ill., to the highest level in its history. Current earnings are reported ahead of those for 1939, which was the company's peak year for sales and net income.

Net income in the first nine months this year was $1,987,042, equal to $2.57 a common share after provision for preferred dividends. This was a gain over net income of $1,756,578 or $2.51 a common share in the corresponding months of 1939. Third quarter earnings this year were the highest on record.

The company has operated profitably since 1900. Comparison of financial results in recent years follow:

	Net income	*Earned per com. share.	Dividends per com. share.
1935	$1,116,234	$5.59	$3.00
1936	1,415,276	2.21	2.00
1937	1,612,360	2.50	3.70
1938	1,648,326	2.43	2.10
1939	2,048,094	2.61	1.70

The regular quarterly dividend of 40 cents and an extra of 10 cents a share were paid on the common stock in each of the first three quarters this year. An extra dividend of 25 cents and the regular quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share on the common stock will be paid Dec. 23 on shares of record Dec. 5.

Regular payments on the preferred stock are being made. The company has outstanding 755,204 shares of no par common stock and 12,922 shares of 4½ per cent cumulative preferred stock, both listed on the New York and Chicago stock exchanges.

Abbott Laboratories manufactures approximately 1,200 pharmaceutical, biological, chemical, and vitamin products and specializes in antiseptics, anesthetics, and hypnotics.

OPERATING RATIO.

The other day I read that Norfolk and Western has an unusually low operating ratio. What does that mean and how does the ratio compare with that for the rest of the railroad industry?—H. D.

Answer: The operating ratio of a railroad is computed by dividing total operating expenses by total operating revenues. The percentage obtained is the relationship between the two items. The operating ratio of the Norfolk and Western railroad in 1939 was 54.9 per cent, which means its total operating expenses consumed 54.9 per cent of its total operating revenues that year. The combined operating ratio of the class I railroads of the United States last year was 73.05 per cent.

COTTON

Buying of nearby deliveries of cotton attributed to mills and shorts gave the market a relatively firm undertone yesterday. Pressure was in evidence on the distant months, with some changing from December to the deferred positions by speculative interests. Deliveries on December contracts in New York were 1,000 bales. Closing sales on futures were .03 cent higher to .11 cent a pound lower.

Weakness in October cotton was attributed more to lack of support than aggressive selling.

There are 2,022,000 bales of 1940 cotton pledged as security for government loans, including completions to Nov. 23, it was officially announced.

Cash cotton closed .02 to .05 cent higher, with New York, 10.34 cents; New Orleans, 9.93 cents; Galveston, 9.84 cents, and Houston at 9.79 cents a pound future. Futures prices follow:

MISSOURI TAKES OVER CENTRAL STATES LIFE CO.

Impairment of Capital Is Admitted.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 26 (AP).—A court order turning over to the Missouri state insurance department the management of the Central States Life Insurance company, which has about $60,000,000 of insurance in force, was issued here today.

It followed the filing of a petition for a receiver by the state superintendent of insurance, Ray B. Lucas, alleging the company is insolvent and further transaction of business will be hazardous to policyholders, creditors, and the public. The company has home offices in St. Louis.

[Central States was not licensed to do business in Illinois. The company had relatively few policyholders in Chicago or the rest of the state.]

No Action on Dissolution.

Circuit Judge Joseph J. Ward also granted Lucas his plea for a restraining order to prevent the company from continuing business but did not act on the superintendent's request for a decree of dissolution.

In its answer admitting insolvency and impairment of its capital stock fund the company said it was uninformed as to the extent of the insolvency and asked the court to determine the amount.

Counsel for the insurance department said there were three possible courses open—rehabilitation of the company by the department, reinsurance of its business, or liquidation.

Blame Realty Financing.

Central States was not recently mismanaged, Lucas said, but had put too much money in real estate years ago before the present management took charge.

The insurance company's largest asset is the 29-story Park Plaza hotel in St. Louis' fashionable west end residential district. It was taken over under foreclosure in Febraury, 1937, and carried on the Central States' books at $3,600,000.

Financial statement of the company as of last Dec. 31 listed assets at $19,980,131. Of this amount $6,771,978, more than one-third, was in real estate and $5,482,097 in mortgage loans.

7 COMPANIES VOTE EXTRAS TO SHAREHOLDERS

Eighth Firm to Pay Special Dividend.

Directors of seven companies voted extra dividends yesterday and an eighth announced a special distribution to shareholders. Larger payments were authorized by other companies.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad board declared a dividend of $2 on common stock, the first distribution since the same amount was paid last year. Of the 1,708,391 shares of common stock outstanding, the Great Northern railway and the Northern Pacific each own 830,179 shares.

Link-Belt company, Chicago, authorized $1 extra on common stock in addition to regular quarterly payments on common and preferred. The payments raise common distributions for 1940 to $2 a share, from $1.50 paid in 1939.

Shell Union Pays 50 Cents.

Shell Union Oil corporation directors voted 50 cents on the common, doubling the midyear disbursement. This brought 1940 payments to 75 cents a share, compared with 50 cents in 1939.

"The common dividend follows the policy adopted a few years ago of declaring an interim dividend in mid year and a final payment in December when the year's results can be gauged more closely," the company explained. "This reflects the improved earnings position this year compared with 1939."

National City Lines, Chicago, will pay an extra of 25 cents on its common. The company has investments in securities of motor bus companies.

$5 for Norfolk and Western.

Norfolk and Western railroad directors voted an extra dividend of $5 on common stock, bringing 1940 payments to $15 a share, the same as in 1939.

American Smelting and Refining company, one of the largest nonferrous metal enterprises in the world, will pay a special dividend of 75 cents on common stock, bringing payments in 1940 to date to $2.75 a share. The company paid $3 a share last year.

National Lead company voted an extra dividend of 37½ cents and a regular quarterly payment of 12½ cents a share on common stock.

Pennsylvania Glass Sand corporation, largest in the country in the production of silica and materials for the manufacture of glass, voted to distribute $1 on common stock. This is the first payment of the year and compares with 75 cents paid in 1939.

Union Carbide Pays More.

Union Carbide and Carbon corporation will pay 75 cents a share on Jan. 1. The company paid 50 cents a share in the first quarter of 1940 and 60 cents in the other periods.

Directors of the South Bend Lathe Works voted an extra of $1.50, bringing 1940 disbursements to $3.40 a share, compared with $1.75 paid in 1939. Birtman Electric company voted an extra of 50 cents on common and Canadian Celanese corporation an extra of 40 cents.

United States Steel corporation directors at their monthly meeting yesterday took no action on further common dividends for this year. An announcement issued after the session said, "routine business was transacted." The board had voted three dividends of $1 a share this year, but some quarters had expected another payment in view of the corporation's large earnings.

SOAP PRODUCER APPROVES BONUS OF HALF MILLION

Directors of the Procter & Gamble company yesterday authorized a bonus equal to 3 per cent of the annual wages or salaries of employés enrolled prior to July 1, and whose wages do not exceed $3,000 a year.

The bonus, which is exclusive of the company's profit sharing plan, affects 12,000 employés in the United States and Canada, including a large number of Chicago factory and office personnel. Unofficial estimates placed the bonus at $500,000.

The William J. Stange company, 2536 West Monroe street, seasoning and food coloring manufacturer, will pay a bonus approximating three weeks' salary to each of 78 employés with six months or more service, the company announced.

Fish Company Sells Big Properties; Blames Ickes

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 26 (AP).—Alaska Pacific Salmon company reported tonight it had sold four big properties, including canneries and fish traps, to P. E. Harris of Seattle, veteran Alaskan cannery operator. The deal was reported to involve between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 cash. G. W. Skinner, president of the Alaska Pacific, said the sale was prompted by the fishing regulations imposed "by Interior Secretary Harold Ickes and there is no reason to expect the regulations will be lightened."

Payments for World War Rail Losses Pass Senate

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—The senate passed today, and sent back to the house for action on amendments, legislation which would authorize payment of $1,191,905 to short line railroads for losses incurred under federal control of the railroads in the world war period. As passed by the senate $150,000 would be the maximum allowed under any claim.

Republic Steel Votes 40c on Common Stock

Tom M. Girdler.

Directors of the Republic Steel corporation yesterday declared a dividend of 40 cents a share on common stock, the first payment on this class of stock in 10 years. In announcing the payment, Tom M. Girdler, chairman, said that Republic directors had authorized the construction of another electric furnace at Canton, O., with a capacity of 60,000 to 70,000 tons a year. This will be the fifth electric furnace to be built by the company since the European war created an incresed demand for electric steel. The cost of the furnace was not disclosed.

Republic had not paid a common dividend since the $1.24 a share distribution in 1930, shortly after the corporation was formed.

Pave Way for Dividend.

Directors recently paved the way for the common dividend by authorizing the payment of $18 a share accumulations on the company's 6 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock and by setting aside $6,300,000 for the retirement of half of the outstanding 119,597 shares of this preferred issue.

Girdler expressed the opinion the country's steelmaking capacity was sufficient to take care of defense requirements and meet the usual industrial demands as well.

Operations Over 95 Per Cent.

"There would be nothing to worry about," he said, "if everything in this country was in as good shape as steel to handle the United States and British defense needs."

The corporation reported its operations were above 95 per cent of capacity.

The statement stressed the fact that future common stock dividends would depend upon future business conditions.

Northern Pacific Orders 14 High Speed Locomotives

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 26 (AP).—Purchase of 14 large steam locomotives for high speed transcontinental freight and passenger service was announced today by C. E. Denney, president of the Northern Pacific railway. Cost of the engines and six diesel-electric switching units to be ordered later is approximately $3,000,000, he said.

Jones Explains Loan Offer on Defense Work

P. D. Houston.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, said today the Reconstruction Finance corporation would "extend proper credit at appropriate rates to any reputable manufacturers who have defense contracts if such credit cannot readily be had from banks." He made the statement in a letter to P. D. Houston, president of the American Bankers' association.

Houston, meanwhile, discussed defense financing with the legislative committee of the bankers' association, and the committee announced it would prepare an informatory bulletin advising banks of the opportunities and problems of participating in the defense program. The committee is headed by J. Harvie Wilkinson Jr., vice president of the State Planters Bank and Trust company, Richmond, Va.

"Participate with Banks."

Jones wrote that in accordance with established policy, the RFC "will be glad to participate with banks" in making loans. The federal lending agency would make such loans itself when funds could not be obtained from banks, he explained.

The loan chief said that a letter he wrote on Nov. 18 to the secretaries of war and navy had been misconstrued by some bankers and some of the press.

"There is nothing in my letter that can be properly misinterpreted," he said. "I stated clearly that 'where there is a definite undertaking on the part of the war or navy department, in a manner mutually acceptable, for reimbursement over a period of five years, the RFC, either directly or thru banks, will arrange or adjust such financing at an interest rate of 1½ per cent per annum on payments made within the period.'"

View on Interest Rate.

Jones said the RFC would be willing to provide banks with a take-out agreement for some part of the loan. He added that 1½ per cent interest was a high rate for a government guaranteed obligation with an average maturity of 2½ years, "and if the war and navy contracts are not good, banks should not rely upon them as a basis of credit whatever the interest rate."

"Necessarily," he said, "a very large part of industrial financing for defense will be for working capital and to submanufacturers who will not have a war or navy undertaking to reimburse the cost of the plant. These loans should, whever possible, be made by banks and should bear interest rates appropriate to the credit factors of the individual case. The RFC will consider such factors, but in no case will charge more than 4 per cent."

Houston announced the appointment of a banker in each federal reserve district to help banks understand the defense program and its financing problems. The Chicago representative is Mark A. Brown of the Harris Trust & Savings bank.

Santa Fe Gets 10 Million Loan at Record Low Rate

New York, Nov. 26 (AP).—Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company today sold $10,000,000 of equipment trust certificates to a group headed by Harriman and Ripley company, at an interest cost to the road of 1.15 per cent to maturity, a new low record for that type of obligation. The certificates were reoffered at prices to yield 0.20 to 1.50 per cent.

NEW CONTROLS BOOST NORTH WESTERN'S TOP SPEEDS ON OMAHA RUN

The Chicago and North Western railway announced yesterday that it has revised its automatic train control system to improve service between Chicago and Omaha, Neb.

L. L. White, chief operating officer said the revision will permit raising the maximum speed of freight trains from 50 to 63 miles an hour and the top speed of steam powered passenger trains from 73 to 83 miles. The maximum for Diesel-electric streamliners will remain at 90 miles.

White said about 470 miles of track between Elmhurst and Council Bluffs, Ia., are involved in the change, which has been approved by the interstate commerce commission. Train control is achieved thru instruments placed in the locomotives that automatically slow down the speed should it exceed the authorized limit.

RAILROADS FIGHT FEDERAL MOTOR TRUCK CONTROL

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—The nation's railroads voiced opposition today to federal regulations of sizes and weights of motor vehicles in interstate commerce.

In a brief filed with the Interstate Commerce commission, the Association of American Railroads and the American Short Line Railroad association contended that federal regulations would "increase the capacity of trucks for the purpose of promoting further duplication of transportation service."

They cited numerous court decisions to support their contention that the federal government had no power to supersede a state's control over its roads.

The motor carrier act directed the ICC to investigate and report on the need for federal regulation, but the railroad associations termed federal control "most unwise and uneconomic."

Denies British Discussed Return to Gold Standard

LONDON, Nov. 26 (AP).—Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, told the house of commons today no proposal that Britain should return to the gold standard had been made in a discussion between a British treasury official and Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of the treasury of the United States.

CHICAGO FIRM GETS BIG AWARD AT CAMP GRANT

10 Millions Federal Orders Placed.

In new governmental orders totaling more than $10,000,000 the war department yesterday announced the award of a $3,808,725 contract for the construction of a replacement center at Camp Grant, Ill.

The contract was let to the John Griffiths & Son Construction company of Chicago on a cost plus fixed fee basis. Holabird & Root, Chicago, were retained as architects and engineers.

Officials of the construction company said the contract called for the construction of 370 buildings, including barracks, a mess hall, nurses' quarters, officers' quarters, and a hospital.

Tire Orders Placed.

At the same time the treasury announced contracts totaling approximately $1,000,000 to 18 manufacturers to supply all the tire and tube replacements that the government will need for its automobiles and trucks in the first quarter of 1941. Among the manufacturers receiving orders was the Waber company of Chicago. Estimates of the value of contracts to the various companies were not available.

The Rock Island arsenal awarded contracts totaling $5,970,120. Included in these were contracts to the steel products division of the Firestone company, Akron, O., for machine gun belt links for .50 caliber machine guns at $8.41 a thousand, and the Jackes Evans Manufacturing company of St. Louis, Mo., for machine gun belt links for .30 caliber guns at $4.35 per thousand. Other contracts for this product brought the total to $4,769,340, and $1,200,780 in orders was let for machine gun mounts.

Buys Kansas City Plant.

The war department disclosed its purchase of the National Bellas Hess plant at Kansas City, Mo., to house a new quartermaster depot serving troops in nearby states. Officials said that the purchasing office maintained by the quartermaster corps in the medical depot at St. Louis will be moved to the new depot.

The United States Housing authority approved a $1,812,300 contract for the construction of 600 defense dwelling units in Bremerton, Wash., and the Public Buildings administration received a low bid of $2,589,420 for the erection of a federal office building at Arlington, Va.

Included in contracts awarded by the navy department was a $537,280 order to the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, Milwaukee, Wis., for shafts and couplings equipment.

Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., in April will begin operations on a $8,750,000 ammunition and shell parts contract, it was announced in Toledo, O. Joseph W. Frazer, president, confirmed reports from Washington, D. C., that the government will lease $1,600,000 worth of machinery to enable the company to fulfill this contract.

Dr. Kemmerer Defends Gold Standard as Best for World

Prof. Kemmerer.

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 26 [Special].—The increase in America's store of gold is not so alarming as it appears on the surface, Edwin W. Kemmerer, professor of international finance, Princeton university, said tonight. He addressed the fifth University of Illinois conference on banking.

Kemmerer asserted gold continues the best basis for national and world money and that its replacement by any other type of controled currency is confronted with psychological, political, and international barriers.

"It is significant in this gold situation that the value of gold as expressed in its purchasing power in the United States during the last half-dozen years has been higher than at any other equivalent period since our records began 140 years ago," he said. "Our so-called '59 cent dollar' today buys about 25 per cent more goods at wholesale than did our old dollar in prosperous 1926.

Faces Fatal Weaknesses.

"During recent years proposals in this country for permanent substitutes for the gold standard have included plans for paper currencies, managed by some authority in Washington, which would attempt to manipulate the value of the monetary unit so as to maintain a stable purchasing power according to some officially prepared index number of commodity prices. Fatal weaknesses of such a proposal are psychological and political.

"The future lies not in the substitution of managed paper money standards for the historic gold standard, but in coöperation among the nations to restore the gold standard and make it a better standard.

Gold Demand Is Strong.

"The fact that gold maintains such a high value in terms of goods, in the face of an enormous increase in its rate of production and in spite of the almost complete discontinuance of the gold standard thruout the world is evidence of a powerful demand for gold. The value of gold, like the value of every other commodity, is the result of the interaction of the forces of demand and supply.

"Modern 'Alice in Wonderland' economic policies may often obscure this fundamental law, but they have not repealed it. Gold continues to be the most universally desired of all commodities, and the most highly exchangeable commodity in the world."

Charles R. Reardon of Joliet, president of the Illinois Bankers' association, said that with the nation spending billions for armament "it is going to take a great deal of good, clear thinking to finance our defense program in such a way as to avoid dangerous inflation."

BLAME FEDERAL RIVER WORK FOR WATER SHORTAGE

Council Bluffs, Ia., Nov. 26 [Special].—Government river improvement work was blamed today by Hugh P. Finerty, former mayor and member of the water board, for the threatened water shortage here 10 days ago. Emergency pumps and pipes were installed after the river's fall to an all-time November low mark forced the regular pumps to lift water to a height greater than that for which they were designed. One day the pumps failed altogether and the city was dependent solely upon its reserve supply.

The threat was made more acute by government engineers' action in swinging the channel toward the Nebraska shore, it was said. A sand bar formed in front of the intakes, creating a pool. The pumping lowered the level of this pool faster than water could back in from the main channel.

Army engineers said the problem resulted from inherent instability of the channel rather than government work.

Court Orders Container Trust Trial to Proceed

Toledo, O., Nov. 26 [Special].—Judge Frank L. Kloeb of federal district court this afternoon ordered the government to be ready to begin its antitrust suit against major glass container manufacturers at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Attorneys for the government and defendants told the court an impasse had been reached over the question of "free and unlimited" licensing under the proposed "institute plan."

BANK TO CLOSE CHINA BRANCH BECAUSE OF WAR CURTAILED TRADE

New York, Nov. 26 (AP).—The National City bank announced today its 38 year old branch in Hankow, northern China, would be shut down Dec. 12 because of sharp curtailment of Chinese trade with the United States since start of the far eastern war.

The branch was formerly active in financing Chinese exports, principally tung oil. The oil, a valuable ingredient in the United States manufacture of paints and varnishes, is piling up in the interior of China for fear shipments might fall into Japanese hands.

Bank officials said there was no intention to close other branches at Canton, Hongkong, Tientsin, and Peiping.

LAUNDRIES' 1940 BUSINESS PLACED AT 32 MILLIONS

The 1940 business of Chicago's laundry industry will total approximately $32,000,000, John Toomey, executive secretary of the Chicago Laundry Owners association, estimated yesterday. He said this would be an increase of one per cent over the 1939 business, and a gain of $6,000,000 for the last five years.

The increase in business was attributed to new and specialized machinery and new methods for cleaning all types of fabrics.

The total supply bill for the commercial laundries will amount to about $3,200,000 for the year, Toomey said.

EXPORTS REACH 343 MILLIONS IN OCTOBER SPURT

335 Planes Shipped Great Britain.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—Airplane and other war material shipments boosted United States merchandise exports from $295,000,000 in September to $343,000,000 in October. The September total was one of the smallest in a year, but department of commerce figures today showed last month's exports restored trade to about the average since the war began.

Imports increased from $195,000,000 in September to $207,000,000 last month.

Exports for the first 10 months of 1940 totaled $3,374,010,000 and imports $2,148,630,000, creating an export balance of $1,225,380,000—one of the largest margins in many years. In the 10 months of last year, exports were $2,516,678,000 and imports $1,835,816,000—an export balance of $680,862,000.

Aircraft Exports Spurt.

October exports of aircraft and parts, most of which went to the British empire, were valued at $31,400,000 and included 335 planes and 648 engines, while September aeronautical exports amounted to $22,900,000 and included 284 planes and 441 engines.

Foreign shipments of automobiles, trucks, and parts increased from $15,700,000 in September to $22,500,000 in October; exports of industrial machinery rose from $36,900,000 to $43,600,000, and copper and brass from $7,400,000 to $13,600,000.

Smaller increases were made in shipments of crude petroleum, gasoline and other motor fuel, lubricating oil, tires and other rubber products, electrical machinery, and firearms and ammunition. One of the few items to decrease was iron and steel semi-manufactures.

A commerce department statement noted that, altho exports of agricultural products increased from $22,000,000 in September to $33,000,000 in October, the rise was less than usual.

Ratio Falls to 10 Per Cent.

At this time of year, the statement said, agricultural shipments formerly accounted for 30 per cent of all exports, but now amounted only to 10 per cent. Cotton and corn shared in the larger agricultural shipments.

Altho a geographical analysis of October exports will not be available for several days, officials indicated that about half of all the exports went to the British empire.

Among commodities contributing to the increase in merchandise imports were raw silk, unmanufactured wool, raw cotton, unmanufactured jute, coffee, whisky, cotton and wool manufactures, rubber, tin, nickel, and manganese. Silk imports, which totaled 6,152,000 pounds, worth $15,700,000, in October, were the largest in any month for a year.

Comparisons of exports and imports of principal agricultural products, giving figures for October, 1940, September, 1940, October, 1939, the

STOCK LEADERS MOSTLY LOWER; TRADE HEAVIER

Air Line Shares Slump; Specialties Gain.

New York, Nov. 26 (AP).—Some rallying power was present in today's stock market but it passed up most leaders. As in the preceding session, prices were at the best in the forenoon as steels and assorted industrial favorites edged forward fractions to a point or so.

The list suffered a brief relapse after midday and recoveries thereafter were negligible so far as pivotal issues were concerned. A number of specialties managed to end with modest advances but declines of fractions to 2 points predominated.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 44.5. Volume picked up to 593,170 shares from 521,260 the day before.

Air Line Stocks Fall.

Air transportation company stocks such as American Airlines, Eastern Air Lines, and United Air Lines dropped 1 to 2½ points in the final hour when it was learned the war department had appealed to the priorities board to suspend construction of passenger carrying planes because of interference with war craft building.

Business news remained favorable, altho uninspiring for many shares. Republic Steel directors, for instance, declared a dividend of 40 cents a share on the common, first payment on the junior stock since, 1939, but the issue closed unchanged at 22⅝. Norfolk and Western voted a $5 extra on the common which put the year's disbursements on this stock at $15, the same as paid in 1939. The shares rose 2¾ points at 225 on a single sale.

Chicago Stocks.

Losses overbalanced gains in securities traded on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Turnover was 19,000 shares.

Consumers company preferred and Peter Fox Brewing sold at new 1940 highs. Largest interest was in Commonwealth Edison, 1,750 shares changing hands with the market closing ⅛ point lower.

Sales of a membership on the exchange has been arranged at $1,500, unchanged from the preceding sale.

New York Bonds.

New York, Nov. 26 (AP).—United States government and high priced corporate bonds today rose to new highs for recent years as other groups turned irregular.

United States governments were up 1-32 to 11-32 of a point. Foreign dollar loans ended mostly on the offside.

Bank Stocks.

Northern Trust shares advanced 2 points yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. First National was 2 points lower and Continental Illinois eased half a point.

WEATHER HELPS UPWARD TREND IN GRAIN PRICES

Unfavorable weather conditions in the central west which may delay the movement of cash corn and soy beans to terminal markets exerted an influence on futures yesterday. Corn closed with gains of ¼ to ⅞ cent, the latter on December. Soy beans advanced ¾ to 1¼ cents with commission houses persistent buyers.

Early in the session wheat was down about 1 cent on local selling and scattered liquidation, but the market rallied and closed ⅜ cent higher to ⅛ cent lower. July wheat showed the weakness.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Prime 1,371 pound steers sold at $14.90 yesterday, the highest price since December, 1937, and the second highest November top in 11 years. Top grades a year ago sold at $11.50.

Despite the heavy run of hogs, the market recovered after a 5 to 10 cents break, and closed about steady with the average of Monday. Top loads brought $6.20, off 5 cents. The average at $6.10 was steady.

Lambs were bought at steady to 15 cents higher prices. The $9.70 top was highest since November 12.

Hog receipts, 37,000; shipments, 800.

Cattle receipts, 11,000; shipments, 3,000.

DECEMBER ZINC CONTRACTS RISE ½ CENT A POUND

Most of Other Staples Turn Downward.

December zinc contracts advanced nearly ½ cent a pound yesterday as many other important commodity futures moved downward. Hides and rubber, which showed strength Monday, suffered sharp losses as did wool tops. Sugar and Santos coffee resisted the lower trend.

The closing price range on zinc was unchanged to 0.45 cent a pound higher with December rising from 8.55 to 8.80. Sales totaled 420,000 pounds. In an easy market copper declined 0.02 to 0.10 cent a pound to 10.95 cents in December futures, the first time the contract has fallen below 11 cents in several weeks.

Lead Futures Lower.

Lead futures lost 0.07 cent a pound at 5.35 cents in December. Tin was irregular. Cash metals were steady.

Hides, in which much buying interest has centered recently, sagged 0.18 to 0.31 cent a pound to 12.52 cents bid in December deliveries. The cash price was unchanged at 14 cents. Rubber was 0.13 to 0.31 cent a pound lower, December futures closing at 20.47 cents. The cash quotation declined from 21.13 to 20.87 cents.
